Anti-Management Theories of Organization Lex Donaldson, 1995-03-16 This book offers a critique of recent developments in the study of organizational structure in the USA There has been a profusion of new paradigms offered in the USA and this has fragmented the field Many of these paradigms share an anti management quality painting managers in an increasingly negative light This book examines five major contemporary US organizational theories population ecology institutional resource dependence agency and transaction cost economics Each of these theories and their attendant research is critically examined and severe problems are identified in either theoretical coherence or empirical validity Lex Donaldson argues that it is possible to reintegrate the field by taking structural contingency theory as the core theory and adding on to it selective propositions from the newer paradigms He also offers suggestions for needed reforms in the US academic cultural and institutional system Research Method in the Postmodern James Scheurich, 2014-01-02 In recent years research in the social sciences has been dominated by the debate on the merits of qualitative method versus quantitative methodology Until recently the debate appeared to have been won by those promoting the qualitative approach but then postmodern theory appeared on the scene challenging all our preconceptions about research method This book goes one step further than those working at the philosophical level showing the implications of postmodernism for practice

Mawhinney, 2015-12-22 This is an assessment of the reluctance of American education institutions to undergo change and reform at a time when it is considered necessary The lack of public confidence in educational institutions is discussed along with the subsequent consequences The Politics of Education and the New Institutionalism Robert L. Crowson, William Lowe Boyd, Hanne B. Mawhinney, 1996 This is an assessment of the reluctance of American education institutions to undergo change and reform at a time when it is considered necessary The lack of public confidence in educational institutions is discussed along with the subsequent consequences Managing Institutions Ying Wang, 2013-12-12 Minban schools have established their position in China s education system This book applies the theories of new institutionalism to the minban school as an organization and as a party in relationships with other institutions It explores the features of the evolving institutional environment of education and the strategies that minban schools have adopted to manage the institutions in this environment There are four types of minban schools the international minban school the privately funded minban school the publicly affiliated minban school and the converted minban school A qualitative research methodology in the form of a multiple case study was used for the analysis Eight minban secondary schools in Taiyuan and Shenzhen were chosen to represent the various types of minban schools The study shows that the re emergence of free market principles the decentralization of government and the accompanying segmentation of power and authority bureaucratic and consumerist expectations of teachers and the commodification of education have engendered an increasingly fragmented institutional environment which allowed minban schools to thrive The book reveals that the institutional environment is multi faceted and ambiguous during China s controlled decentralization organizations and institutions have shaped each other Minban schools adopt various strategies to cope with institutional pressure This study provides a systematic understanding of the operation of minban schools by locating the schools in a differential order which determines their choice of strategy international schools choose isolation privately funded schools avoidance affiliated schools advocacy and converted schools capitalization It also illustrates how the bureaucracy functions in China s local governments The various case studies confirm that the government still maintains substantial control over minban schools through the power granted by the bureaucratic structure which allows them to direct the institutional environment by introducing new regulations and forms of governance Macrofoundations Christopher W. J. Steele, Timothy R. Hannigan, Vern L.
