Orient In Chaucer And Medieval Romance:

The Orient in Chaucer and Medieval Romance Carol Falvo Heffernan, 2003 A study of romance and the Orient in Chaucer and in anonymous popular metrical romances The idea of the Orient is a major motif in Chaucer and medieval romance and this new study reveals much about its use and significance setting the literature in its historical context and thereby offering fresh new readings of a number of texts The author begins by looking at Chaucer's and Gower's treatment of the legend of Constance as told by the Man of Law demonstrating that Chaucer's addition of a pattern of mercantile details highlights the commercial context of the eastern Mediterranean in which the heroine is placed she goes on to show how Chaucer's portraits of Cleopatra and Dido from the Legend of Good Women read against parallel texts especially in Boccaccio reveal them to be loci of medieval orientalism She then examines Chaucer's inventive handling of details taken from Eastern sources and analogues in the Squire's Tale showing how he shapes them into the western form of interlace The author concludes by looking at two romances Floris and Blancheflur and Le Bone Florence of Rome she argues that elements in Floris of sibling incest are legitimised into a quest for the beloved and demonstrates that Le Bone Florence be related to analogous oriental tales about heroic women who remain steadfast in virtue against persecution and adversity Professor CAROL F HEFFERNAN teaches in the Department of English Rutgers University Chaucer's Squire's Tale, Franklin's Tale, and Physician's Tale Kenneth Bleeth, 2018-11-19 The latest volume in the Chaucer Bibliographies series meticulously assembled by Kenneth Bleeth is the most comprehensive record of scholarship on Chaucer's Squire's Tale Franklin's Tale and Physician's Tale considering the relationship between Gower's texts and the physical ways in which they were first manifested German Literature on the Middle East Nina Berman, 2011 An investigation of Germany and the Middle East through literary sources in the context of social economic and political practices Mandeville's Travails Francis Tobienne Jr., 2016-06-20 This book offers a critical methodology for analyzing travel literature The subject of travel literature as well as travel literatures have not always been regarded with respect or given much critical attention In order to amend this lack of positive reception Francis Tobienne Jr analyzes the late medieval text Mandeville's Travels specifically the Cotton MS This text though not overly popular currently was among the most popular pieces of literature for well beyond its fourteenth century inception in some three hundred manuscripts divided into three groups as well as early printed editions further this text offers a way in which to approach other pieces of travel literature To facilitate this critical process Tobienne proposes a seven part method 1 Identify and Define the Problem 2 Make Observations 3 Look for Regularities 4 Wonder Why Regularities Exist 5 Propose a Hypothesis 6 Use an Experiment and 7 Have Reproducible Results Of note Mandeville's Travels is both the impetus behind this seven part method as well as the object of study Thus Tobienne showcases how each element of the seven part method is at play in the text even as he argues for the text's importance within medieval studies Also included in this examination is the application of this seven part method to medieval and post period pieces of literature The book culminates in an argument for the canonization and importance of Mandeville's Travels in and beyond medieval studies Saracens and the Making of English Identity Siobhain Bly Calkin, 2013-11-05 This book explores the ways in which discourses of religious racial and national identity blur and engage each other in the medieval West Specifically the book studies depictions of Muslims in England during the 1330s and argues that these depictions although historically inaccurate served to enhance and advance assertions of English national identity at this time The book examines Saracen characters in a manuscript renowned for the variety of its texts and discusses hagiographic legends elaborations of chronicle entries and popular romances about Charlemagne Arthur and various English knights In these texts Saracens engage issues such as the demarcation of communal borders the place of gender norms and religion in communities self definitions and the roles of violence and history in assertions of group identity Texts involving Saracens thus serve both to assert an English identity and to explore the challenges involved in making such an assertion in the early fourteenth century when the English language was regaining its cultural prestige when the English people were increasingly at odds with their French cousins and when English Welsh and Scottish sovereignty were pressing matters Guy of Warwick Alison Wiggins, Rosalind Field, 2007 Guy of Warwick is England's other Arthur Elevated to the status of national hero his legend occupied a central place in the nation's cultural heritage from the Middle Ages to the modern period Guy of Warwick Icon and Ancestor spans the Guy tradition from its beginnings in Anglo Norman and Middle English romance right through to the plays and prints of the early modern period and Spenser's Faerie Queene including the visual tradition in manuscript illustration and material culture as well as the intersection of the legend with local and national history This volume addresses important questions regarding the continuities and remaking of romance material and the relation between life and literature Topics discussed are sensitive to current critical concerns and include translation reception magnate ambition East West relations the construction of Englishness and national identity and the literary value of popular romance ALISON WIGGINS is Lecturer in English Language at the University of Glasgow BR ROSALIND FIELD is Reader in Medieval Literature at Royal Holloway University of London CONTRIBUTORS JUDITH WEISS MARIANNE AILES IVANA DJORDJEVIC ROSALIND FIELD ALISON WIGGINS A S G EDWARDS ROBERT ALLEN ROUSE DAVID GRIFFITH MARTHA W DRIVER SIAN ECHARD ANDREW KING HELEN COOPER

Alexander the Great from Britain to Southeast Asia Su Fang Ng, 2019-04-04 No figure has had a more global impact than Alexander the Great whose legends have encircled the globe and been translated into a dizzying multitude of languages from Indo European and Semitic to Turkic and Austronesian Alexander the Great from Britain to Southeast Asia examines parallel traditions of the Alexander Romance in Britain and Southeast Asia demonstrating how rival Alexanders one Christian the other Islamic became central figures in their respective literatures In the early modern age of exploration both Britain and Southeast Asia turned to literary imitations of Alexander to imagine their own empires and international relations defining themselves as peripheries against the Ottoman Empire s imperial center this shared classical inheritance became part of an intensifying cross cultural engagement in the encounter between the two allowing a revealing examination of their cultural convergences and imperial rivalries and a remapping of the global literary networks of the early modern world Rather than absolute alterity or strangeness the narrative of these parallel traditions is one of contact familiarity and proximity unexpected affinity and intimate strangers

Medieval Romance and Material Culture Nicholas Perkins, 2015 Studies of how the physical manifests itself in medieval romance and medieval romances as objects themselves Medieval romance narratives glitter with the material objects that were valued and exchanged in late medieval society lovers rings and warriors swords holy relics and desirable or corrupted bodies Romance however is also a genre in which such objects make meaning on numerous levels and not always in predictable ways These new essays examine from diverse perspectives how romances respond to material culture but also show how romance as a genre helps to constitute and transmit that culture Focusing on romances circulating in Britain and Ireland between the twelfth and sixteenth centuries individual chapters address such questions as the relationship between objects and protagonists in romance narrative the materiality of male and female bodies the interaction between visual and verbal representations of romance poetic form and manuscript textuality and how a nineteenth century edition of medieval romances provoked artists to homage and satire
