Origins Of Christianity:

The History of the Origins of Christianity Ernest Renan,1890 The Origins of Christianity Schuyler Brown,1993-06-24

The life and death of Jesus of Nazareth and the beginnings of the movement which venerated him are of profound religious significance to Christian believers today However these events are also part of our common history and have had enormous influence on the development of Western civilization They are therefore legitimate subjects of historical enquiry The historical introduction to the New Testament investigates the foundation of the new religious movement in the life of Jesus the experiences which acted as a catalyst on missionary activity after his death the factors which led to a separation of the movement from Judaism and the development of the ecclesiastical structure through which Christianity has influenced subsequent secular and religious history

THE WAY to CHRISTIANITY John Larke,2014 The earliest Christians wrote their own history to justify their faith and claim a direct line of authoritative teachings based on the words of Jesus As a result a good deal of what they compiled was belief rewritten as though it was history Remarkably after almost two millennia it is possible to recover the authentic origins of Christianity based exclusively on the historical sources rather than belief This shows that the beginnings of Christianity lie in two quite disparate religious groups one of which was exclusively Jewish whilst the other was predominantly gentile The spiritual leadership of the Jewish sect which became known as The Way was provided by a succession of holy men from the same extended family which included Jesus The central prophesy of The Way was the imminent arrival of the Kingdom of God When with God's help the Jewish Nation would overcome Roman occupation and permanently rid itself of foreign domination The kingdom of God was exclusively Jewish and the Gentile world played no part in it After the death of Paul of Tarsus his followers lost their Jewish inheritance and began to see Jesus in ways that were profoundly heretical within Judaism yet wholly acceptable within the Pagan world In particular they claimed that Jesus was the divine Son of God rather than a Son of God in a Jewish sense where a deeply religious Jewish man who did the will of God could be regarded as a true Son of God

Rebecca I. Denova, 2021 The phrase the Quest for the Historical Jesus has become popular through hundreds of new books If you subscribe to cable you will find documentaries on History Discovery Smithsonian and National Geographic Channels New archaeological discoveries often make headlines especially those in the Galilee and deconstructionist histories are often designed to shock For many lay Christians a new fascination with the study of Jesus is confusing We have the gospels the letters of Paul and the rest of the New Testament that told the story And these stories are re enacted in the liturgy at Christmas and Easter Priests and ministers are trained in Seminaries to elucidate the meaning of the texts updating them for modern Christians Why does any of this need revision And what is meant by the historical Jesus Is he different from the Jesus of the New Testament The simple answer is yes if we mean that the Jesus who was an apocalyptic prophet in the first century is different from the Christ of the churches divine and eventually the second member of The Trinity co equal with god 325 CE Centuries of later Christian theology and traditions are constantly read back into the gospels where they are historically out of place For example Jesus was not the founder of Christianity all our evidence demonstrates that he and his early followers were not interested in starting a new religion Jesus was not the first Christian A History of the Christian Tradition
