Ormolu The Work Of Matthew Boulton:

Ormolu: the Work of Matthew Boulton Nicholas Goodison, 1974 An Exhibition of Ormolu Hotspur Limited (London), Matthew Boulton, Nicholas Goodison, 1974 Matthew Boulton Nicholas Goodison, 2002 Nicholas Goodison revisits his earlier exhaustive study of Boulton's ormolu ornaments and his Luxury in the Eighteenth Century M. Berg, E. Eger, 2016-01-11 Luxury in the 18th Century explores the political economic moral and intellectual effects of the production and consumption of luxury goods and provides a broadly based account from a variety of perspectives addressing key themes of economic debate material culture the principles of art and taste luxury as female vice and the exotic Matthew Boulton , Matthew Boulton H. W. Dickinson, 1937 This 1939 work gives deserved recognition to the achievements of the engineer and businessman Matthew Boulton Boulton's importance has generally been overshadowed by that of his partner James Watt but he was a significant figure in his own right particularly in relation to the Soho Foundry and his production of coins and medals He belonged to a network of highly significant men of the period including Josiah Wedgwood Erasmus Darwin and Benjamin Franklin and was a founding member of the Lunar Society of Birmingham An engineer by profession H W Dickinson researched widely and published highly readable works on the history of the steam engine Watt and Trevithick also reissued in this series He succeeds in producing a work which appeals to the scientist the historian and the general reader without feeling obliged to over simplify the technical details The Soho Manufactory, Mint and Foundry, West Midlands George Demidowicz, 2022-01-15 This volume provides a comprehensive analysis of the ground breaking historic industrial complex created to the west of Birmingham in the eighteenth century and associated with Matthew Boulton James Watt and William Murdoch The Soho Manufactory 1761 1863 and Soho Mint 1788 1850s were both situated in the historic parish of Handsworth now in the city of Birmingham and the Soho Foundry 1795 1895 lay in the historic township of Smethwick now within Sandwell Metropolitan Borough Together they played a key role in the Industrial Revolution achieving many world firsts the first working Watt steam engine the first steam engine powered mint and the first purpose built steam engine manufactory the Soho Foundry to name but a few Existing literature focuses largely on the biography of the people primarily Boulton and Watt or the products they manufactured The place the Soho complex has attracted very little attention This volume is the first to concentrate on the buildings themselves analysing not only their physical origins development and eventual decline but also the water and steam power systems adopted An interdisciplinary approach has been employed combining archival research in the magnificent Soho collection at the Library of Birmingham with the results of archaeological excavations The volume is profusely illustrated with archival material most published for the first time and contains a large number of reconstruction plans and drawings by the author How Capitalism Destroyed Itself William Kingston, 2017-03-31 Capitalism has been sustained by inherited moral values that are now all but exhausted A unique combination of a new belief in individualism and a long tradition of property rights had traditionally ensured that self interested action also produced public benefit. However these rights including the laws underwriting economic and financial innovation and parliamentary democracy were gradually captured and shaped by those who could benefit most from them. This fascinating book shows that the outcome is a reduced ability to generate real wealth combined with exceptional inequality as well as a worldwide breach of the vital trust between voters and their representatives. Capitalism's injuries are both self-inflicted and fatal.

The Decorative Arts in England, 1660-1780 Herbert Hall Mulliner, 1923

The 17th and 18th Centuries Frank N. Magill, 2013-09-13 Each volume of the Dictionary of World Biography contains 250 entries on the lives of the individuals who shaped their times and left their mark on world history. This is not a who's who. Instead each entry provides an in-depth essay on the life and career of the individual concerned. Essays commence with a quick reference section that provides basic facts on the individual's life and achievements. The extended biography places the life and works of the individual within an historical context and the summary at the end of each essay provides a synopsis of the individual's place in history. All entries conclude with a fully annotated bibliography.

'By the Banks of the Neva' Anthony Cross, 1997 This book offers a unique and fascinating investigation into the lives and careers of the British in eighteenth century Russia and more specifically into the development of a vibrant British community in St Petersburg during the city's first century of existence as the new capital of an ever-expanding Russian empire. Based on an extremely wide use of primary sources particularly archival from Britain and Russia the book concentrates on the activities of the British within various fields such as commerce the navy the medical profession science and technology and the arts and ends with a broad survey of travellers and of travel accounts many of them completely unknown. Also included are many attractive and unusual illustrations which help demonstrate the variety and character of Russia's British community.

The First Industrialists François Crouzet, 2008-10-30 This book is focused on the social and occupational origins of the founders of modern British industry: what kind of families did they come from? What was their occupation before they set up as industrialists? In discussing these and other issues this study makes an important contribution to the problem of social mobility during the Industrial Revolution.
