Orphan Warriors Pamela Kyle Crossley, 2021-02-09 In the mid 1600s Manchu bannermen spearheaded the military force that conquered China and founded the Qing Empire which endured until 1912 By the end of the Taiping War in 1864 however the descendants of these conquering people were coming to terms with a loss of legal definition an ever steeper decline in living standards and a sense of abandonment by the Qing court Focusing on three generations of a Manchu family from 1750 to the 1930s Orphan Warriors is the first attempt to understand the social and cultural life of the bannermen within the context of the decay of the Qing regime The book reveals that the Manchus were not sinicized but that they were growing in consciousness of their separate ethnicity in response to changes in their own position and in Chinese attitudes toward them Pamela Kyle Crossley's treatment of the Suwan Guwalgiya family of Hangzhou is hinged upon Jinliang 1878 1962 who was viewed at various times as a progressive reformer a promising scholar a bureaucratic hack a traitor and a relic The author sees reflected in the ambiguities of his persona much of the plight of other Manchus as they were transformed from a conquering caste to an ethnic minority Throughout Crossley explores the relationships between cultural decline and cultural survival polity and identity ethnicity and the disintegration of empires all of which frame much of our understanding of the origins of the modern world

The Rise and Fall of an Officer Corps Eric Setzekorn, 2018-08-30 The People's Republic of China is the only large country in the world that does not have a national military its military answers only to a political party the Chinese Communist Party For a brief period in the mid twentieth century China had the makings of a professional apolitical military force The Rise and Fall of an Officer

Corps tells the story of that moment in the military history of modern China how it came to be why it ultimately failed and what it meant for China at home and abroad Between 1942 and 1955 a cadre of highly trained nationalistic and cosmopolitan Chinese officers created a professional depoliticized military a force that could effectively represent the aspirations of China as a world power Drawing on multiple archival sources and Chinese military journals author Eric Setzekorn charts the development of this new army as a critical cultural and political force with extensive connections to foreign powers During this period military officers were the primary actors in an intergovernmental partnership between the United States and the Republic of China The partnership gave officers access to educational opportunities and technological transfers that were central to their professional ideals Setzekorn s account of the career of General Sun Li jen an American educated Chinese army officer illustrates the rise of this new sense of professionalism as well as its decline after 1953 Setzekorn then traces the failure of the army building project to a renewed politicization of military forces marked by a purge of key military leaders in 1955 by Chiang Kai shek and his Koumintang KMT party By focusing on this important chapter in Chinese military history Setzekorn s work also highlights broader patterns of military transformation during the pivotal period from World War II through the early Cold War His work is critical to understanding the rise of China as a military and world power
