Consular Reports United States. Bureau of Foreign Commerce,1896 Cannabis Robert Clarke,Mark Merlin,2016-06-28 Cannabis Evolution and Ethnobotany is a comprehensive interdisciplinary exploration of the natural origins and early evolution of this famous plant highlighting its historic role in the development of human societies Cannabis has long been prized for the strong and durable fiber in its stalks its edible and oil rich seeds and the psychoactive and medicinal compounds produced by its female flowers The culturally valuable and often irreplaceable goods derived from cannabis deeply influenced the commercial medical ritual and religious practices of cultures throughout the ages and human desire for these commodities directed the evolution of the plant toward its contemporary varieties As interest in cannabis grows and public debate over its many uses rises this book will help us understand why humanity continues to rely on this plant and adapts it to suit our needs Textiles for Residential and Commercial Interiors Amy Willbanks,Nancy Oxford,Dana Miller,2014-09-25 Devoted entirely to textiles for interiors Textiles for Residential and Commercial Interiors 4th Edition focuses on the most current fiber and fabric information including new fiber technology and nanofibers the role of the interior designer in selecting textiles and the environmental impact of textiles The book includes in depth coverage of household and institutional textiles in addition to commercial and residential textiles for upholstered furniture windows walls and floor coverings Full color line drawings and photographs illustrate fibers yarns fabrics manufacturing equipment coloring finishings and end products Textiles for Residential and Commercial Interiors provides students with all of the technical information aesthetic fundamentals and practical knowledge they need to select textiles for every type of residential and commercial interior Textiles for Residential and Commercial Interiors 3rd Edition Amy Wilbanks,Nancy Oxford,Dana Miller,Sharon Coleman,2009-10-29 If you are serious about textiles and the built environment this Third Edition is the one source to survey every aspect of textiles for residential and commercial interiors from fiber to manufacturer from its application to upholstered furniture windows walls and floor coverings Commissioner of Patents Annual Report United States. Patent Office,1864 Paper ,1922 Reports by the Juries on the Subjects in the Thirty Classes Into which the Exhibition was Divided ,1852 Tariff Information Surveys on the Articles in Paragraph 1-of the Tariff Act of 1913 ... and Related Articles in Other Paragraphs United States Tariff Commission,1921 The Material Culture of English Rural Households c. 1250-1600 Ben Jervis,Chris Briggs,Alice Forward,Tomasz Gromelski,Matthew Tompkins,2023-09-20 This book presents a synthesis and analysis of the possessions of non elite rural households in medieval England Drawing on the results of the Leverhulme Trust funded project Living Standards and Material Culture in English Rural Households 1300 1600 it represents the first national scale interdisciplinary analysis of non elite consumption in the later Middle Ages The research is situated within debates around rising living standards in the period following the Black Death the commercialisation of the English economy and the timing of a revolution in consumer behaviour Its novelty derives from its focus on non elite rural households Whilst there has been considerable work on the possessions of the great households and those living in larger towns researchers have struggled to identify appropriate sources for understanding the possessions of those living in the countryside even though they account for the majority of England's population at this time This book will address the gap in understanding The study combines 3 sources of data to address 2 questions what goods did medieval households own and what influenced their consumption habits The first is archaeological evidence comprising 14 706 objects recovered from archaeological excavations The book synthesises this data much of which is unpublished and therefore inaccessible to researchers The second dataset derives from lists of the seized goods of felons outlaws and suicides collated by the Escheator a royal official in the 14th and 15th centuries The work of the Escheator is not well understood but these lists relating to some of the poorest people in medieval society for whom traditional sources such as wills and probate inventories do not exist provide new insights into the living standards of rural households The lists typically detail and value the possessions of a household meaning that it is possible to present a quantitative analysis of non elite consumption for the first time The final dataset draws on equivalent lists generated by the Coroner for the 16th century An interdisciplinary approach is essential as many objects identified archaeologically do not occur in the written records and goods such as textiles do not survive in the ground Drawing these sources together therefore allows the presentation of a more comprehensive analysis of the possessions of medieval households The introduction lays out the research context in a manner accessible to historians and archaeologists who may not be familiar with work in each other's disciplines This is followed by a brief summary of the research methodology and the sources underpinning the research The next 5 chapters focus on addressing the question of what medieval households owned discussing the evidence for kitchen equipment tableware furniture clothing and personal items The following 3 chapters discuss household economy considering the evidence for the production of goods variation in consumption between town and country and variation in accordance with wealth firstly through the consideration of these themes at the national scale and secondly through a regional case study focussed on Wiltshire which has particularly rich archaeological and documentary sources The volume closes with a concluding chapter which places the research back into its wider context
