Review Of The Hivnet 012 Perinatal Hiv Prevention Study:

Review of the HIVNET 012 Perinatal HIV Prevention Study Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Committee on Reviewing the HIVNET 012 Perinatal HIV Prevention Study, 2005-09-05 Mother to child transmission of HIV 1 afflicts hundreds of thousands of children every year especially in parts of the world such as sub Saharan Africa where HIV infection is prevalent and resources are limited This tragic reality has spurred researchers to search for an effective safe and inexpensive treatment that could reduce the risk of perinatal HIV transmission The HIVNET 012 trial was designed to provide preliminary information on the comparative safety and efficacy of two relatively simple and inexpensive short courses of oral antiretroviral treatment likely to be feasible in resource limited settings The resulting report identified some problems with procedures and documentation but concluded that these issues did not compromise the results of the study However these issues have led to public scrutiny and continued controversy Review of the HIVNET 012 Perinatal HIV Prevention Study critically and objectively evaluates the study s design and conduct and assesses the impact of the initial procedural issues on the validity of the overall findings and conclusions of the trial Review of the HIVNET 012 Perinatal HIV Prevention Study National Academies. Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, 2005 Nevirapine and the Quest to End Pediatric AIDS Rebecca J. Anderson, 2014-01-23 In 1999 investigators announced that a single dose of nevirapine a new antiviral drug could stop the spread of the AIDS virus from infected mothers to their newborn babies It was a discovery that changed the face of AIDS globally but it came at a high price after years of scientific research political conflict social unrest and the loss of many thousands of lives This book is the historical account of pediatric AIDS from the first reported cases in the early 1980s to the first effective treatments in the 1990s and then to the prevention of HIV infections altogether It also includes the firsthand accounts and experiences of children infected with HIV their families and the physicians who treated them as well as the scientists who sought to understand the virus discovered nevirapine s unique properties and worked tirelessly to get it to the patients who needed it

Methodological Challenges in Biomedical HIV Prevention Trials Institute of Medicine, Board on Global Health, Committee on the Methodological Challenges in HIV Prevention Trials, 2008-06-13 The number of people infected with HIV or living with AIDS is increasing at unprecedented rates as various scientists organizations and institutions search for innovative solutions to combating and preventing the disease At the request of the Bill Melinda Gates Foundation Methodological Challenges in Biomedical HIV Prevention Trials addresses methodological challenges in late stage nonvaccine biomedical HIV prevention trials with a specific focus on microbicide and pre exposure prophylaxis trials This book recommends a number of ways to improve the design monitoring and analysis of late stage clinical trials that evaluate nonvaccine biomedical interventions The objectives include identifying a beneficial method of intervention enhancing quantification of the impact properly assessing the effects of using such an intervention and reducing biases that can lead to false positive trial results According to Methodological Challenges in Biomedical HIV Prevention Trials the need to identify a range of effective practical and affordable preventive strategies is critical Although a large number of promising new HIV prevention strategies and products are currently being tested in late stage clinical trials these trials face a myriad of methodological challenges that slow the pace of research and limit the ability to identify and fully evaluate effective biomedical interventions

Preventing HIV Infection Among Injecting Drug Users in High-Risk Countries Institute of Medicine, Board on Global Health, Committee on the Prevention of HIV Infection Among Injecting Drug Users in High-Risk Countries, 2006-12-20 Drug dependence is a complex chronic relapsing condition that is often accompanied by severe health psychological economic legal and social consequences Injecting drug users are particularly vulnerable to HIV and other bloodborne infections such as hepatitis C as a result of sharing contaminated injecting equipment All drug dependent individuals including injecting drug users IDUs may be at increased risk of HIV infection because of high risk sexual behaviors There are an estimated 13.2 million injecting drug users IDUs world wide 78 percent of whom live in developing or transitional countries The sharing of contaminated injecting equipment has become a major driving force of the global AIDS epidemic and is the primary mode of HIV transmission in many countries In some cases epidemics initially fueled by the sharing of contaminated injecting equipment are spreading through sexual transmission from IDUs to non injecting populations and through perinatal transmission to newborns Reversing the rise of HIV infections among IDUs has thus become an urgent global public health challenge one that remains largely unmet In response to this challenge the Institute of Medicine convened a public workshop in Geneva in December 2005 to gather information from experts on IDU driven HIV epidemics in the most affected regions of the world with an emphasis on countries throughout Eastern Europe the Commonwealth of Independent States and significant parts of Asia Experts from other regions also provided information on their experiences in preventing HIV infection among IDUs This report provides a summary of the workshop discussions Preventing HIV Infection among Injecting Drug Users in High Risk Countries describes the evidence on the intermediate outcomes of drug related risk and sex related risk prior to examining the impact on HIV transmission This report focuses on programs that are designed to prevent the transmission of HIV among injecting drug users These programs range from efforts to curtail non medical drug use to those that encourage reduction in high risk behavior among drug users Although the report focuses on HIV prevention for IDUs in high risk countries the Committee considered evidence from countries around the world The findings and recommendations of this report are also applicable to countries where injecting drug use is not the primary driver but in which injection drug use is nevertheless associated with significant HIV transmission The Republic of Therapy Vinh-Kim Nguyen,2010-11-01 The story of the global response to the HIV epidemic told from the perspective of community organizers activists and people living with HIV in West Africa between 1994 and 2000 The Fourth Wave Jennifer Klot,Vinh-Kim Nguyen,2011-01-01 AIDS Clinical Review 2000/2001 Paul A.
