Seeing Spatial Form:

Seeing Spatial Form Michael R. M. Jenkin, Laurence R. Harris, 2005-10-27 The world is divided into objects things that are distinct from their backgrounds and that can move or be moved Objects are food and prey and threats as well as neutral items and it is critical to be able to see them How the form of an object is distinguished is one of the most basic yet least understood topics of research in vision perception The object defining system needs to operate in the real world where objects and viewers move and where the scene is cluttered rarely offering a clear unobscured view of any object How are we able to see and define objects using the complex pattern of light falling on the retina An object becomes visible if it differs sufficiently from its surroundings in its luminance color texture motion or depth Although the processes that use these different cues are quite distinct research has shown that they share some organizational principles This book Seeing Spatial Form is dedicated to David Martin Regan who has made so many contributions to our understanding of how we see objects Its chapters bring together ideas from some of the world's leading researchers in form vision to explain what we know about distinguishing form The book includes a CD ROM which contains additional demonstrations and color images that considerably enhance the chapter contents Seeing Spatial Form will be an invaluable resource for student and professional researchers in vision science cognitive psychology and neuroscience

Seeing Spatial Form Michael Jenkin, Laurence R. Harris, 2006 Accompanying CD ROM contains color imagery and video clips associated with various chapters and the York Vision Conference itself Page v Seeing Space Robert A. Crone, 2003-01-01 Spatial vision is a subject in which philosophy psychology ophthalmology neurophysiology and pathology meet It is the unique contribution of this book that gives a survey of the whole subject in historical perspective The author a former professor of ophthalmology at the University of Amsterdam is an authority in the field of binocular vision Diplopia 1973 and colour vision History of Color 1999 Seeing Space is written for ophthalmologists optometrists orthoptists and other practitioners of visual science but also for psychologists and anybody interested in the philosophy and science of perception The book contains three parts Part I contains chapters on objective and subjective space and on non visual space perception Part II begins with a short survey of the visual system As eye movements are of crucial importance in the perception of space the evolution of the eye and the eye movements is described There are chapters on the perception of direction stereoscopic depth and movement A sensorimotor theory of space perception is elaborated Part III is dedicated to the perception of objects There are chapters on the perception of contours surfaces dimensionality and size including the moon illusion Finally the problem of the relation between mind and matter is raised but not solved

Semiparallel Submanifolds in Space Forms Ülo Lumiste, 2009-03-02 Quite simply this book offers the most comprehensive survey to date of the theory of semiparallel submanifolds It begins with the necessary background material detailing symmetric and semisymmetric Riemannian manifolds smooth manifolds in space forms and parallel submanifolds The book then introduces semiparallel submanifolds and gives some characterizations for their class as well as several subclasses The coverage moves on to discuss the concept of main symmetric orbit and presents all known results concerning umbilic like main symmetric orbits With more than 40 published papers under his belt on the subject Lumiste provides readers with the most authoritative treatment

Reading Images and Seeing Words Alan

English, Rosalind Silvester, 2004 Focussing on both traditional and modern media theatre fiction poetry graphic art cinema the essays of Reading Images and Seeing Words show how it is according to signifying codes rhetoric poetics metaphor that meaning and knowledge are produced Not the least value of this collection is the insight it gives into the multiple models of word image interaction and the rich ambiguity of the tautological and oxymoronic relations they embody BOOK JACKET

Seeing More Samantha Matherne, Gardner Cowles Associate Professor of the Humanities Samantha

Matherne, 2024-07-19 There is a long standing tradition in philosophy that defines imagination as engaging with things that are not real or present as a kind of fantasy Immanuel Kant offered an original theory of imagination as something that shapes our encounters with what is real present and pervades our lives This book brings this theory of imagining to light

Symmetry as a Developmental Principle in Nature and Art Werner Hahn, 1998 Looking beyond the boundaries of various disciplines the author demonstrates that symmetry is a fascinating phenomenon which provides endless stimulation and challenges He explains that it is possible to readapt art to the sciences and vice versa by means of an evolutionary concept of symmetry Many pictorial examples are included to enable the reader to fully understand the issues discussed Based on the artistic evidence that the author has collected he proposes that the new ars evolutoria can function as an example for the sciences The book is divided into three distinct parts each one focusing on a special issue In Part I the phenomenon of symmetry including its discovery and meaning is reviewed The author looks closely at how Vitruvius Polyclitus Democritus Plato Aristotle Plotinus Augustine Alberti Leonardo da Vinci and Durer viewed symmetry This is followed by an explanation on how the concept of symmetry developed The author further discusses symmetry as it appears in art and science as well as in the modern age Later he expounds the view of symmetry as an evolutionary concept which can lead to a new unity of science In Part II he covers the points of contact between the form developing process in nature and art He deals with biological questions in particular evolution The collection of new and precise data on perception and knowledge with regard to the postulated reality of symmetry leads to further development of the evolutionary theory of symmetry in Part III The author traces the enormous treasure of observations made in nature and culture back to a few underlying structural principles He demonstrates symmetry as a far reaching leading structuring causal element of evolution as the idea lying behind nature and culture Numerous controllable reproducible double mirror experiments on a new stereoscopic vision verify a symmetrization theory of perception

The Oxford Handbook of Synesthesia Julia Simner, Edward M.

Hubbard, 2018-10-23 Synesthesia is a fascinating phenomenon which has captured the imagination of scientists and artists alike This title brings together a broad body of knowledge about this condition into one definitive state of the art handbook

Chinese Spatial Strategies Jianfei Zhu, 2004 How do the Chinese design a space What are the similarities and differences between spaces designed for palaces and cities How were the extension of the Great Wall the reopening of the Grand Canal and the building of Beijing interrelated By closely examining the buildings of Imperial Beijing 1420 1911 this book seeks to answer these questions by exploring whether there is a generic approach to spatial disposition in the Chinese tradition Chinese Spatial Strategies considers spatial design on many levels and in different aspects including The geo political design of a map of Asia The layout of the city as a representation of imperial ideology The city as a social realm of interrelations between the central authority and local urban society The Forbidden City as an apparatus of power A comparison between European visual compositions and the aesthetic composition of Beijing Drawing upon recent work in social theory the author provides a spatial and political analysis of the Forbidden City and a realistic account of Imperial Beijing This book challenges the convention of formal description of Chinese cities and will appeal to all those with an interest in Chinese buildings and architecture
