Viking Migration and Settlement in East Anglia David Boulton, 2023-09-28 This book shows how analysis of Scandinavian influenced place names in their landscape contexts can provide crucial new evidence of differing processes of Viking migration and settlement in East Anglia between the late ninth and eleventh centuries The place names of East Anglia have until now received little attention in the academic study of Viking settlement Similarly the question of a possible migration of settlers from Scandinavia during the Viking period was for many years dismissed by historians and archaeologists until the recent discovery by metal detectorists of abundant Scandinavian metalwork and jewellery in many parts of East Anglia David Boulton has synthesised these two previously neglected elements to offer new insights into the processes of Viking settlement This book provides the first comprehensive analysis of Scandinavian influenced place names in East Anglia It examines their different categories linguistically and explores the landscape and archaeological contexts of the settlements associated with them with the aid of GIS generated maps Dr Boulton shows how the process of Viking settlement was influenced by changes in rural society and agriculture which were then already occurring in East Anglia such as the late Anglo Saxon expansion of arable farming and the associated recolonisation of the inland clay plateau These developments resulted in patterns of place name formation which differ significantly from some of the previously accepted orthodox interpretations of how Scandinavian influenced place names especially those containing the b and thorp elements and the Grimston hybrids came into being in the Danelaw In view of these discrepancies David Boulton proposes an innovative hypothetical model for the formation of the Scandinavian influenced place names in East Anglia which explores differing patterns and phases of Viking settlement in the region and the possible pathways of migration that preceded them Nautical Training Ships Phil Carradice,2009-11-15 The fascinating history of Britain s nautical training ships and the decline of what was once the largest merchant fleet in the world Shotley Peninsula Sylvia Laverton,2001 A history of Shotley Peninsula Before the Mast Colin Lambird,

The Black Death, 1346-1353 Ole Jørgen Benedictow,2004 Benedictow s findings relating to the mortality caused by the Black Death are based on the study and synthesis of all available demographic studies Published over the past forty years most of them in widely dispersed local journals and local histories this cumulative evidence astounding in its implications has gone largely unnoticed This book makes it indisputably clear that the true mortality rate was far higher than has been previously thought BOOK JACKET Napoleonic Britain David Buttery,2023-09-30 This is the first guide to sites in the British Isles connected to the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic wars to be published Stately homes memorials statues dockyards fortifications tombs churches hospitals and museums associated with the wars are all described in vivid detail There are hundreds of such sites with many of them being closely linked to military heroes like Wellington and Nelson and the forces they commanded Highpoints include not only St Paul s Cathedral Nelson s Column and Apsley House in London but more obscure monuments and buildings outside the capital like Edinburgh Castle HMS Victory in Portsmouth Dockyard the Western Heights Fortifications in Dover Fishguard invasion site in Wales Castlebar battlefield in Ireland and Martello towers along the English coastline Many minor sites of great interest are listed too David Buttery s guidebook gives the reader a fascinating insight into this long period of conflict between the British and the French and into the buildings statues and memorials that commemorate it Marking Place Jonathan Last,2022-01-11 Much archaeological work is concerned with identifying gaps in our knowledge and developing strategies for addressing them we perhaps spend less time thinking about how research should proceed when we already know relatively speaking quite a lot The program of dating causewayed enclosures in southern Britain that was published in 2011 as Gathering Time Oxbow Books gave us a new more precise chronology for many individual sites as well as for enclosures as a whole and as a consequence a far better sense of their significance and place in the story of the British Early Neolithic Arguably causewayed enclosures are now the best understood type of Neolithic monument Yet work continues and in the last few years new discoveries have been made older excavations published and further work undertaken on well known sites Viewing this research within the new framework for these monuments allows us to assess where our understanding of enclosures has got to and where the focus of future research should lie This volume originates from a Neolithic Studies Group meeting held in November 2019 which aimed firstly to showcase and explore the wide range of current work on causewayed enclosures and related sites and secondly to assess what we still want to know about these sites in light of the monumental achievement of Gathering Time The papers collected here comprise reports on recent development led fieldwork academic research and community projects and the volume concludes with a reflection by the authors of Gathering Time

The English Heretic Collection Andy Sharp, 2020-10-13 From its inaugural Black Plaque in honour of Witchfinder General director Michael Reeves this unique collection follows a veridical trajectory to the frontiers of belief Reeves film becomes a conspiratorial cauldron drawing in a host of tragic players in the end game of the Sixties The Cornwall of Du Maurier's The Birds is ploughed to reveal the hidden psychic codes of our Blitz spirit In a powerfully relevant occult rendering of a bruised Island the myth of Churchill is dissected and re-animalised New maps of hell are drawn by colliding the forensic vision of JG Ballard and Lovecraftian magic Actors witches and psychopaths maraud across a nightmare terrain of murderous henges and abandoned military bases conflating creative research into a surreal documentary history as hallucination Geography becomes an alchemical alembic a vale of soul making distilled by the lysergic psychobiology of Stanislav Grof the alcoholic lyricism of Malcolm Lowry and the convulsive travelogues of the Marquis de Sade If history is revealed as paranoid ritual how do we escape its time traps to wild new imaginative geographies The English Heretic collection is a darkly comical urgently lyrical mental escape hatch from the hells of our own making

Framing Animals as Epidemic Villains Christos Lynteris, 2019-10-11 This book takes a historical and anthropological approach to understanding how non human hosts and vectors of diseases are understood at a time when emerging infectious diseases are one of the central concerns of global health The volume critically examines the ways in which animals have come to be framed as epidemic villains since the turn of the nineteenth century Providing epistemological and social histories of non human epidemic blame as well as ethnographic perspectives on its recent manifestations the essays explore this cornerstone of modern epidemiology and public health alongside its continuing importance in today's world Covering diverse regions the book argues that framing animals as spreaders and reservoirs of infectious diseases from plague to rabies to Ebola is an integral aspect not only to scientific breakthroughs but also to the ideological and biopolitical apparatus of modern medicine As the first book to consider the impact of the image of non human disease hosts and vectors on medicine and public health it offers a major contribution to our understanding of human animal interaction under the shadow of global epidemic threat
