Protecting the Arctic Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environmental Audit Committee, 2012-09-20 This report calls for a halt on Arctic oil drilling until a pan Arctic oil spill response standard is in place a stricter financial liability regime for oil and gas operations is introduced that requires companies to prove that they can meet the costs of cleaning up an oil and gas industry group is set up to peer review companies spill response plans and operating practices reporting publicly further independent research and testing on oil spill response techniques in Arctic conditions is conducted including an assessment of their environmental side effects an internationally recognised environmental sanctuary is established in at least part of the Arctic Drilling is only currently feasible in the Arctic during a short summer window and if a blow out occurred just before the dark Arctic winter returned it may not be possible to cap it until the following summer potentially leaving oil spewing out under the ice for six months or more with devastating consequences for wildlife This report also warns that a collapse in summer Arctic sea ice increased methane emissions from thawing permafrost melting of the

Greenland ice sheet and changes to the thermo haline circulation could all have disastrous consequences for the world pushing up sea levels and transforming weather patterns Temperature rises in the Arctic are already affecting the UK s weather The report points out that there are already more proven fossil fuel reserves in the world than can be burnt safely and calls on the Government to rethink its approach to combating climate change by tackling the supply of fossil fuels as well as demand

Searching for Justice After the Holocaust Michael J. Bazylar, Kathryn Lee Boyd, Kristen Nelson (Lawyer), Rajika Shah, 2019 The Nazis and their state sponsored cohorts stole mercilessly from the Jews of Europe In the aftermath of the Holocaust returning survivors had to navigate a frequently unclear path to recover their property from governments and neighbors who had failed to protect them and who often had been complicit in their persecution This book is about the less publicized area of post Holocaust restitution involving immovable real property confiscated from European Jews and others during World War II

Another Look at Governments' Balance Sheets Ms. Elva Bova, Mr. Robert Dippelsman, Ms. Kara C Rideout, Ms. Andrea Schaechter, 2013-05-02 When discussing debt reduction strategies little attention has been given to the role of governments nonfinancial assets This is in part because data are scarce Drawing on various data sources this paper looks at the size composition and management of state owned nonfinancial assets across 32 economies with particular focus on the advanced G 20 economies We find that reported nonfinancial assets comprise mostly structures such as roads and buildings and when valued land These assets have increased over time mostly due to higher property and commodity prices and are in large part owned by subnational governments Many countries have launched reforms with a view to streamlining public administrations but receipts and savings have been rather small so far Governments tend to consider relatively small sets of assets to be disposable though preferences could change in the future A potential source for future revenues could be greater reliance on user charges such as road tolls In most cases a first step for more effective asset management has to be the expansion and improvement of data compilation
