Spaces of Surveillance Susan Flynn, Antonia Mackay, 2017-08-22 In a world of ubiquitous surveillance watching and being watched are the salient features of the lives depicted in many of our cultural productions This collection examines surveillance as it is portrayed in art literature film and popular culture and makes the connection between our sense of self and what is seen In our post panoptical world which purports to proffer freedom of movement technology notes our movements and habits at every turn Surveillance seeps out from businesses and power structures to blur the lines of security and confidentiality This unsettling loss of privacy plays out in contemporary narratives where the selves we create are troubled by surveillance This collection will appeal to scholars of media and cultural studies contemporary literature film and art and American studies

Configuring the Networked Self Julie E. Cohen, 2012-01-24 The legal and technical rules governing flows of information are out of balance argues Julie E Cohen in this original analysis of information law and policy Flows of cultural and technical information are overly restricted while flows of personal information often are not restricted at all The author investigates the institutional forces shaping the emerging information society and the contradictions between those forces and the ways that people use information and information technologies in their everyday lives She then proposes legal principles to ensure that people have ample room for cultural and material participation as well as greater control over the boundary conditions that govern flows of information to from and about them

Spaces of Governmentality Martina Tazzioli, 2014-11-24 Much work has been done on the causes and characteristics of the Arab Spring but relatively little research has examined the political and spatial consequences that have developed following the uprisings This book engages with the ways in which spaces in Southern Europe and Northern Africa have been negotiated and transformed by migrants in the wake of the uprisings showing that their struggles are a continuation of their political movement Drawing on an innovative countermapping approach based on radical cartography Martina Tazzioli illustrates the spatial upheavals caused by migration in the Mediterranean and the transformations created by migration controls applied by European nations With critical insight on the application of Foucault's concept of governmentality to migration studies exploration of a reconfigured theory of autonomy of migration and discussion of the politics of invisibility that underpins migration this book sheds new light on the enduring struggles that follow the Arab Spring

Opening the Black Box Gavin Smith, 2014-10-03 Closed Circuit Television CCTV cameras are a prominent if increasingly familiar feature of urbanism They symbolize the faith that spatial authorities place in technical interventions for the treatment of social problems CCTV was principally introduced to sterilize municipalities to govern conducts and to protect properties Vast expenditure has been committed to these technologies without a clear sense of how precisely they influence things CCTV cameras might appear inanimate but Opening the Black Box shows them to be vital mediums within relational circulations of supervision The book principally excavates the social relations entwining the everyday application of CCTV It takes the reader on a journey from living beneath the camera to working behind the lens Attention focuses on the labour exerted by camera operators as they source and process distanced spectacles These workers are paid to scan monitor screens in search of disorderly vistas visualizing stimuli according to its perceived riskiness and or allurement But the projection of this gaze can draw an unsettling reflection It can mean enduring behavioural extremities as an impotent witness It can also entail making spontaneous decisions that determine the course of justice Opening the Black Box therefore contemplates the seductive and traumatic dimensions of monitoring telemediated riskscape through the prism of camera circuitry It probes the positioning of camera operators as vicarious custodians of a precarious social order and engages their subjective experiences It reveals the work of watching to be an ambiguous practice as much about managing external disturbances on the street as managing internal disruptions in the self

The Builders Association Shannon Jackson, Marianne Weems, 2015-10-09 A lavishly illustrated history and critical appraisal of The Builders Association an award winning intermedia performance company with detailed accounts of its major productions This book begins with the building of a house and the building of a company while building the house It expands to look at the ideas found in various rooms some of which expanded into virtual space while they still were grounded in the lives of the artists in the house from the preface by Marianne Weems The Builders Association an award winning intermedia performance company founded in 1994 develops its work in extended collaborations with artists and designers working through performance video architecture sound and text to integrate live performance with other media Its work is not only cross media but cross genre fiction and nonfiction unorthodox retellings of classic tales and multimedia stagings of contemporary events This book offers a generously illustrated history and critical appraisal of The Builders Association written by Shannon Jackson a leading theater scholar and Marianne Weems the founder and artistic director of the company It also includes critical meditations from such artists and scholars as Elizabeth Diller Pico Iyer Saskia Sassen Kate Valk and many others Technological wizardry in the theater has a long history going back to the deus ex machina of ancient Greek drama The Builders Association makes its technological dependence visible putting backstage technologies center stage and presenting architectural assemblies of screens and bodies Jackson and Weems explore a series of major productions from MASTER BUILDER Ibsen by way of Gordon Matta Clark to SUPERVISION an exploration of dataveillance to HOUSE DIVIDED the foreclosure crisis juxtaposed with the Joads of Steinbeck s The Grapes of Wrath Each work is described through a series of steps including R D Operating Systems Storyboard and Rehearsal Assembly The Builders Association not only traces the evolution of an intermedial aesthetic practice but also tells a story about how a group makes the risky decision to

Ceremony and Ritual in Parliament Shirin M. Rai, 2013-10-18 Ceremony and Ritual in Parliament breaks new ground in the study of legislatures It combines mainstream historical and social science approaches with cultural theory to consider how parliamentary ritual is constructed through ceremony space and socialisation The focus is on the marginalised groups especially women and members of ethnic minorities who seek inclusion as representatives in democratic legislatures This book assesses aspects of the role that ceremony and ritual in legislatures play especially but not exclusively in their gendered and racialised dimensions Within this broad frame it considers the impact of space identity ritual and or ceremony on the institutional form of parliament how power is shaped within it how the behaviour of members is facilitated constrained and shaped how power and rituals interact to and how they impinge upon the relationships between representative institutions and citizens Contributions are theoretical and empirical comparative or single country studies of national or sub national legislatures They have interdisciplinary historical or postcolonial perspectives that contribute to this emerging field in the study of parliaments This book was previously published as a special issue of the Journal of Legislative Studies Surveillance, Capital and Resistance Michael McCahill, Rachel Finn, 2014-03-21 Surveillance Capital and Resistance is a major contribution to current debates on the subjective experience of surveillance Based on a large research project undertaken in a Northern City in the UK and focusing mainly on the use of surveillance in the context of policing and security the book explores how a diverse range of social groups school children political protesters offenders unemployed people migrants and police officers experience and respond to being monitored by new surveillance technologies such as CCTV surveillance cameras and computers The book interweaves surveillance theory with the work of Pierre Bourdieu to argue that the distribution of various forms of capital economic social cultural and symbolic in any given field operate as a range of goods or resources that structure the dynamics of surveillance practices and power relations including the ability to contest surveillance The term surveillance capital is introduced to refer to the tacit knowledge and everyday forms of cultural know how that allow surveillance subjects to contest surveillance in a variety of local and specific settings The book is essential reading for anyone that might be interested in how people experience and respond to the new surveillance measures currently used in the crime control field It will be key reading for students and academics interested in surveillance studies childhood studies media studies criminal justice and migration studies Surveillance Studies David Lyon, 2007-07-30 The study of surveillance is more relevant than ever before This is the most accessible and up to date introduction to the topic available written by one of the pioneers of Surveillance Studies Surveillance, Race, Culture Susan Flynn, Antonia Mackay, 2018-07-31 This collection of essays engages with a wide range of disciplines including art performance film and literature to examine the myriad effects of contemporary surveillance on our cultural psyche The volume expertly articulates the manner in which cultural productions have been complicit in watching seeing and purporting to know race In our increasingly mediated world our sense of community is becoming progressively virtual and surveillant technologies impact upon subjectivity resulting in multiple forms of artistic and cultural expression As such art film and literature provide a lens for the reflection of sociocultural concerns In Surveillance Race Culture Flynn and Mackay skilfully draw together a diverse range of contributions to investigate the fundamental question of exactly how surveillant technologies have informed our notions of race identity and belonging

Technologies of InSecurity Katja Franko Aas, Helene Oppen Gundhus, Heidi Mork Lomell, 2008-08-21 Technologies of InSecurity examines how general social and political concerns about terrorism crime migration and globalization are translated into concrete practices of securitisation of everyday life Who are we afraid of in a globalizing world How are issues of safety and security constructed and addressed by various local actors and embodied in a variety of surveillance systems Examining how various forms of contemporary insecurity are translated into and reduced to issues of surveillance and social control this book explores a variety of practical and cultural aspects of technological control as well as the discourses about safety and security surrounding them In security is a politically and socially constructed phenomenon with a variety of meanings and modalities And exploring the inherent duality and dialectics between our striving for security and the simultaneous production of insecurity Technologies of InSecurity considers how mundane objects and activities are becoming bearers of risks which need to be neutralised As ordinary arenas such as the workplace the city centre the football stadium the airport and the internet are imbued with various notions of risk and danger and subject to changing public attitudes and sensibilities the critical deconstruction of the nexus between everyday surveillance and in security pursued here provides important new insights about how broader political issues are translated into concrete and local practices of social control and exclusion

Surveillance and Terror in Post-9/11 British and American Television Darcie Rives-East, 2019-07-18 This interdisciplinary study examines how state surveillance has preoccupied British and American television series in the twenty years since 9 11 Surveillance and Terror in Post 9 11 British and American Television illuminates how the U S and U K bound by an historical cultural and television partnership have broadcast numerous programs centred on three state surveillance apparatuses tasked with protecting us from terrorism and criminal activity the prison the police and the national intelligence agency Drawing from a range of case studies such as Sherlock Orange is the New Black and The Night Manager this book discusses how television allows viewers writers and producers to articulate fears about an increased erosion of privacy and civil liberties following 9 11 while simultaneously expressing a desire for a preventative mechanism that can stop such events occurring in the future However these concerns and desires are not new encompassing surveillance narratives both past and present this book demonstrates how television today builds on earlier narratives about panoptic power to construct our present understanding of government surveillance

CCTV Inga Kroener, 2016-04-08 Central state and non covert surveillance began in earnest at the start of the twentieth century By the start of the twenty first century the UK was one of the most surveilled societies on earth This groundbreaking volume by Inga Kroener analyses the particular combination of factors that have created this surveillance state Kroener argues against the inevitability of the rise of CCTV that is so often found in this literature to map out the early history of CCTV tracing its development from a tool for education safety and transport during the 1950s to one of politics in the 1970s and 1980s to eventually become a tool of surveillance during the 1990s Within this analysis the complex role of the public in allowing the widespread and rapid dissemination of

CCTV is discussed and the representation of CCTV in the media is also studied This volume will be of interest to all scholars working in the fields of surveillance studies science technology and society departments and social historians more generally

Surveillance and Democracy Kevin D. Haggerty, Minas Samatas, 2010-07-12 This collection represents the first sustained attempt to grapple with the complex and often paradoxical relationships between surveillance and democracy Is surveillance a barrier to democratic processes or might it be a necessary component of democracy How has the legacy of post 9 11 surveillance developments shaped democratic processes As surveillance measures are increasingly justified in terms of national security is there the prospect that a shadow security state will emerge How might new surveillance measures alter the conceptions of citizens and citizenship which are at the heart of democracy How might new communication and surveillance systems extend or limit the prospects for meaningful public activism Surveillance has become central to human organizational and epistemological endeavours and is a cornerstone of governmental practices in assorted institutional realms This social transformation towards expanded intensified and integrated surveillance has produced many consequences It has also given rise to an increased anxiety about the implications of surveillance for democratic processes thus raising a series of questions about what surveillance means and might mean for civil liberties political processes public discourse state coercion and public consent that the leading surveillance scholars gathered here address
