Ray,2015-10-15

Interracial sex mattered to the British colonial state in West Africa In Crossing the Color Line Carina E Ray goes beyond this fact to reveal how Ghanaians shaped and defined these powerfully charged relations The interplay between African and European perspectives and practices argues Ray transformed these relationships into key sites for consolidating colonial rule and for contesting its hierarchies of power With rigorous methodology and innovative analyses Ray brings Ghana and Britain into a single analytic frame to show how intimate relations between black men and white women in the metropole became deeply entangled with those between black women and white men in the colony in ways that were profoundly consequential Based on rich archival evidence and original interviews the book moves across different registers shifting from the micropolitics of individual disciplinary cases brought against colonial officers who kept local women to transatlantic networks of family empire and anticolonial resistance In this way Ray cuts to the heart of how interracial sex became a source of colonial anxiety and nationalist agitation during the first half of the twentieth century Mother Jones Magazine, 1994-01

Mother Jones is an award winning national magazine widely respected for its groundbreaking investigative reporting and coverage of sustainability and environmental issues How Real Is Race? Carol C. Mukhopadhyay, Yolanda T. Moses, Rosemary Henze, 2025-02-24

Anthropologists have long argued that the old 19th century racial paradigm of four or five races i e Black White Asian Malay and Native American is not scientifically valid In a biological sense there are no such things as races Contemporary humans are and have always been one species with roots in Africa There are no subspecies of humans Yet this idea seems to contradict the experiences of many people in the United States and other countries where racial classification is used daily by individuals and institutions Race still matters whether in wealth accumulation educational achievement health the legal system or in personal safety How can race not be real when we experience its effects every day Mukhopadhyay Moses and Henze systematically deconstruct the myth of race as biology and address the reality of race as a cultural invention drawing on both biocultural and cross cultural perspectives In so doing they shed light on the intricate dynamic interplay among race culture and biology

Part I The Fallacy of Race as Biology unravels chapter by chapter the myth that races are biologically valid divisions of humanity Part II Culture Creates Race explores in detail the concept of race as a social construction Part III Racial and Hot Button Issues takes everyday realities and uses them as a starting point for uncovering the way racial ideologies work in these settings Ready to Answer Rev.
