Cries of Joy, Songs of Sorrow Marc L. Moskowitz, 2009-11-24 Since the mid 1990s Taiwan s unique brand of Mandopop Mandarin Chinese language pop music has dictated the musical tastes of the mainland and the rest of Chinese speaking Asia Cries of Joy Songs of Sorrow explores Mandopop s surprisingly complex cultural implications in Taiwan and the PRC where it has established new gender roles created a vocabulary to express individualism and introduced transnational culture to a country that had closed its doors to the world for twenty years In his early chapters Marc L Moskowitz provides the historical background necessary to understand the contemporary Mandopop scene beginning with the birth of Chinese popular music in the East Asian jazz Mecca of 1920s Shanghai A brief overview of alternative musical genres in the PRC such as Beijing rock and revolutionary opera is included The section concludes with a look at the manner in which Taiwan s musical ethos has influenced the mainland s music industry and how Mandopop has brought Western music and cultural values to the PRC This leads to a discussion of Taiwan pop s exceptional hybridity beginning with foreign influences during the colonial period under the Dutch and Japanese and continuing with the country s political cultural and economic alliance with the U S Moskowitz addresses the resulting wealth of transnational musical influences from the rest of East Asia and the U S and Taiwan pop s appeal to audiences in both the PRC and Taiwan In doing so he explores how Mandopop s songs of sorrow with their ubiquitous themes of loneliness and isolation engage a range of emotional expression that resonates strongly in the PRC Later chapters examine the construction of male and female identities in Mandopop and look at the widespread condemnation of the genre by critics Drawing on analyses and data from earlier chapters including interviews with dozens of performers song writers and lay people in Taipei and Shanghai Moskowitz attempts to answer the question Why if the music is as bad as some assert is it so central to the lives of the largest population in the world To answer he highlights Mandopop s important contribution as a poetic lament that simultaneously embraces and protests modern life Cries of Joy Songs of Sorrow is a highly readable introduction to an important but understudied East Asian phenomenon It will find a ready audience among scholars and students of Chinese and Taiwanese popular culture as well as musicologists studying transnational music flows and non Western popular music

Water, Knowledge and the Environment in Asia Ravi Baghel,Lea

Stepan,Joseph K.W. Hill,2017-03-31 The dramatic transformation of our planet by human actions has been heralded as the coming of the new epoch of the Anthropocene Human relations with water raise some of the most urgent questions in this regard The starting point of this book is that these changes should not be seen as the result of monolithic actions of an undifferentiated humanity but as emerging from diverse ways of relating to water in a variety of settings and knowledge systems With its large population and rapid demographic and socioeconomic change Asia provides an ideal context for examining how varied forms of knowledge pertaining to water encounter and intermingle with one another While it is difficult to carry out comprehensive research on water knowledge in Asia due to its linguistic political and cultural fragmentation the topic nevertheless has relevance across boundaries By using a carefully chosen selection of case studies in a variety of locations and across diverse disciplines the book demonstrates commonalities and differences in everyday water practices around Asia while challenging both romantic presumptions and Eurocentrism Examples presented include class differences in water use in the megacity of Delhi India the impact of radiation on water practices in Fukushima Japan the role of the King in hydraulic practices in Thailand and ritual irrigation in Bali Indonesia Government and Politics in

In Touring China Yajun Mo explores how early twentieth century Chinese sightseers described the destinations that they visited and how their travel accounts gave Chinese readers a means to imagine their vast country The roots of China s tourism market stretch back over a hundred years when railroad and steamship networks expanded into the coastal regions Tourism related businesses and publications flourished in urban centers while scientific exploration investigative journalism and wartime travel propelled many Chinese from the eastern seaboard to its peripheries Mo considers not only accounts of overseas travel and voyages across borderlands but also trips within China On the one hand via travel and travel writing the unity of China s coastal regions inland provinces and western frontiers was experienced and reinforced On the other travel literature revealed a persistent tension between the aspiration for national unity and the anxiety that China might fall apart Touring China tells a fascinating story about the physical and intellectual routes people took on various journeys against the backdrop of the transition from Chinese empire to nation state Escape from Blood

Pond Hell, 2011-12-01 These translations of The Precious Scroll of the Three Lives of Mulian and Woman Huang Recites the Diamond Sutra are late nineteenth century examples of baojuan literally precious scrolls a Chinese folk genre featuring alternating verse and prose that was used by monks to illustrate religious precepts for lay listeners They represent only two of numerous versions composed in a variety of genres of these legends which were once popular all over China While the seeds of the Mulian legend in which a man rescues his mother from hell can be found in Indian Buddhist texts the story of Woman Huang who seeks her own salvation appears to be indigenous to China With their graphic portrayals of the underworld dramatization of Buddhist beliefs about death salvation and rebirth and frank discussion of women s responsibility for sin these texts provide detailed and powerful descriptions of popular religious beliefs and practices in late imperial China especially as they relate to women Dynamics of Religion in Southeast Asia Volker

Gottowik, 2025-10-01 Modernity is surrounded by an almost magic aura that casts a spell over people all over the world To connect with modernity various ways and means are used among them magic practices and religious ideas Dynamics of Religion in Southeast Asia Magic and Modernity deals with the magic in and of modernity and asks about its current significance for the dynamics of religion in Southeast Asia Drawing on recent ethnographic research in this area the contributors to this wide ranging volume demonstrate how religious concepts contribute to meeting the challenges of modernity Against this background religion and modernity are no longer perceived as in contradiction rather it is argued that a revision of the western notion of religion is required to understand the complexity of multiple modernities in a globalised world Dynamics of Religion in Southeast Asia Magic and Modernity is part of the series Global Asia in close collaboration with the International Institute for Asian Studies IIAS Taiwan Cinema Kuei-fen Chiu, Ming-yeh Rawnsley, Gary Rawnsley, 2017-07-14 Chinese glossary Selected names and terms Selected Chinese filmography Bibliography Index

Colonial Project, National Game Andrew D. Morris, 2011 Morris successfully weaves the intricacies of baseball's history into a compelling narrative while giving us a keen analysis of its larger significance It is rare to find someone who can pull that off This is an absorbing and distinguished addition to sports history to Taiwanese history and to studies of colonialism and its aftermath William Kelly Yale University Colonial Project National Game offers an engaging and penetrating analysis of the culture of baseball in Taiwan in both its local and global conditions Morris weaves details into a compelling narrative that is as much about the game on the field as the game being played out in the arenas of ethnicity nationalism and geopolitics Morris's study is a model of sophistication and lucidity He demonstrates that through a perceptive reading of the mundane world of curve balls and player contracts we can better understand the ideological substructure of the social Joseph R Allen University of Minnesota Twin Cities Governing Death, Making Persons Huwy-min Lucia Liu, 2023-01-15

Governing Death Making Persons tells the story of how economic reforms and changes in the management of death in China have affected the governance of persons The Chinese Communist Party has sought to channel the funeral industry and death rituals into vehicles for reshaping people into modern citizens and subjects Since the Reform and Opening period and the marketization of state funeral parlors the Party has promoted personalized funerals in the hope of promoting a market oriented and individualistic ethos However things have not gone as planned Huwy min Lucia Liu writes about the funerals she witnessed and the life stories of two kinds of funeral workers state workers who are quasi government officials and semilegal private funeral brokers She shows that end of life commemoration in urban China today is characterized by the resilience of social conventions and not a shift toward market economy individualization Rather than seeing a rise of individualism and the decline of a socialist self Liu sees the durability of socialist religious communal and relational ideas of self woven together through creative ritual framings in spite of their contradictions Internet Video Culture in China

Rendering the Regional Edward M. Gunn, 2006-01-01 For centuries the sub national languages of China have been a fundamental feature in daily life and popular culture while a standardized form of Mandarin has been adopted as the language of the state including education Suppressed during powerful movements to establish a modern national culture these local languages or dialects have nevertheless survived and their resurgence in the media and literature has caused tensions to surface Concerns for education law and commerce have all promoted a standard national language yet at the same time as local societies have undergone massive transformations the need to re imagine communities has repeatedly challenged the adequacy of a single language to represent them Moreover local languages have been presented in dramatically different and conflicted roles as symbols of the failure to assimilate to a cultural mainstream which in turn may be parodied as contingent and inadequate or asserting the identity of a community as a site of its own cultural production and not merely as a venue for transmitting a national culture Acknowledging local language as authentic may also reveal cultural hegemonies within regions and contested versions of communities This ground breaking study surveys in detail the sweep of local languages in television radio film and print culture of late twentieth century mainland China especially Beijing Shanghai Chongqing and Chengdu Hong Kong and Taiwan Focusing on these regions the analysis contrasts and compares these distinct communities to each other and to the ways in which they mediate culture as a national institution It draws on a wide range of critical cultural and media studies and explores how varied genres

Haunted Modernities Anru Lee, 2023-07-31 In 1973 twenty five young women drowned in a ferry accident on their way to work in factories in Taiwan's Kaohsiung Export Processing Zone Their remains were recovered and interred collectively in what came to be called the Twenty five Maiden Ladies Tomb Without a husband's ancestral hall where they would have been laid to rest the spirits of these unmarried women were considered homeless and possibly vengeful and so the Maiden Ladies Tomb was viewed as a place to be avoided especially by young men traveling alone fearful of encountering a female ghost searching for a husband Over the years numerous plans were made to revamp the tomb site finally in 2008 at the urging of local feminist communities the Kaohsiung City government renovated the Twenty five Maiden Ladies Tomb and renamed it the Memorial Park for Women Laborers Haunted Modernities interrogates the nature of shared expressions of history sentiments and memory as it investigates the role of these women and other female workers in the shifting public narrative during and after the Maiden Ladies Tomb renovation By exploring the ways in which the deceased young women were perceived to haunt the living and the diverse renovations recommended the book illuminates how women workers in Taiwan have been conceptualized in the last several decades In their proposals to renovate the tomb the interested parties forged specific accounts of history transforming the collective burial site according to varying definitions of heritage as Taiwan shifted to a postindustrial economy where factory jobs were no longer the main source of employment Their plans engaged with acts of remembering communal and individual to create new ways of understanding the present The Twenty five Maiden Ladies Tomb as a heritage site elucidates how history and memory are not simply about the past but part of a forward looking process that emerges from the social political and economic needs of the present legitimized and validated through its associations with the past

Global Futures in East Asia Ann Anagnost, Andrea Arai, Hai Ren, 2013-01-09 The East Asian economic miracle of the twentieth century is now a fond memory What does it mean to be living in post miracle times For the youth of China Taiwan Japan and South Korea the opportunities and challenges of the neoliberal age deeply shaped by global forces in labor markets powerfully frame their life prospects in ways that are barely recognizable to their parents Global Futures in East Asia gathers together ethnographic explorations of what its contributors call projects of life making Here we see youth striving to understand themselves their place in society and their career opportunities in the nation region and world While some express optimism it is clear that many others dread their prospects in the competitive global system in which the failure to thrive is isolating humiliating and possibly even fatal Deeply engaged with some of the most significant theoretical debates in the social sciences in recent years and rich with rare cross national comparisons this collection will be of great interest to all scholars and students interested in the formation of subjects and subjectivities under globalization and neoliberalism
