Minuteman Murder The Transcendental Murder:

The Minuteman Murder Jane Langton, 1974 The Minuteman Murder Jane Langton, 1980 The peaceful town of Concord Massachusetts is steeped in a glorious past celebrating as it did each year the pageant of Paul Revere's fateful ride and the birth of American liberty But this year the Shot Heard Round the World would be followed by more sinister gunfire Suddenly Concord was swept up in a mystery of the past and the menace of the future plunged into a race against death with a killer in the saddle and a lovely young woman caught under the pounding hooves of terror The Transcendental Murder Jane Langton, 2012-04-17 This first book in the beloved series featuring New England cop Emerson enthusiast Homer Kelly is a delight a most enjoyable murder mystery Eudora Welty The citizens of Concord Massachusetts never tire of their heritage For decades the intellectuals of this little hamlet have continued endless debates about Concord's favorite sons Emerson Hawthorne Thoreau and their contemporaries Concord's latter day transcendental scholars are a strange bunch but none is more peculiar than Homer Kelly an expert on Emerson and on homicide An old fashioned murder is about to put both skills to the test At a meeting of the town's intellectuals Ernest Goss produces a cache of saucy love letters written by the men and women of the transcendentalist sect Although Homer chortles at the idea that Louisa May Alcott and Ralph Waldo Emerson might have had a fling Goss insists the letters are real He never gets a chance to prove it Soon after he is found killed by a musket ball The past may not be dead but Goss certainly is The minuteman murder Jane Langton, 1980 Mystery Fanfare Michael L. collectors Winner of the 2008 Macavity Awards for Best Mystery Nonfiction Mystery Women Colleen Barnett, 2010-03 Edgar and Agatha nominated author Colleen Barnett here updates her essential reference for readers and writers of mystery examining women who detect women as sleuths and the evolving roles of women in professions and in society Emily Dickinson Elizabeth Phillips, 1988-01-01 Giving us a new sense of Dickinson it considers instead evidence of the poet Dickinson bore a heavy share of domestic duties and familial responsibilities throughout most of her life The crisis she experienced during the early 1860s in a cluster of responses to the Civil War coincided with the onset of her difficulties with her eyes Suffering from exotropia and photophobia she never fully recovered and gradually withdrew into the less severe light of the house in Amherst She continued to care for those close to her and to write both letters and verse From the perspective of Dickinson's maturity and resilience we also see her gift for depicting and dramatizing episodes in a manner that gives the illusion of their being autobiographical whether they are or not Dickinson was however an actress who changed roles and points of view as readily as she experimented with poetic genres Analyses of her various personae or supposed persons for dramatic monologues in the Browning tradition which enabled the poet to represent a range of experiences different from her own serve to dispel much of the confusion that has surrounded her in the last century Rather than searching for an illusive absent center Phillips scrutinizes in a most revealing way the poet's reading appropriation and command of materials from the Brontë's George Eliot Hawthorne the Brownings Shakespeare and the Southey for personae that introduce us to a Dickinson heretofore hardly glimpsed A central vision of the study is the poet as a biographer of souls
