Moving West Songs American History Through Folksong:

Teaching American History with Favorite Folk Songs Tracey West, 2001 Contains classroom activities that use folk songs to connect students to major events in U S history American History Goes to the Movies W. Bryan Rommel Ruiz, 2011-01-26 Whether they prefer blockbusters historical dramas or documentaries people learn much of what they know about history from the movies In American History Goes to the Movies W Bryan Rommel Ruiz shows how popular representations of historic events shape the way audiences understand the history of the United States including American representations of race and gender and stories of immigration especially the familiar narrative of the American Dream Using films from many different genres American History Goes to the Movies draws together movies that depict the Civil War the Wild West the assassination of JFK and the events of 9 11 from The Birth of a Nation and Gone with the Wind to The Exorcist and United 93 to show how viewers use movies to make sense of the past addressing not only how we render history for popular enjoyment but also how Hollywood's renderings of America influence the way Americans see themselves and how they make sense of the world

The North American Folk Music Revival: Nation and Identity in the United States and Canada, 1945-1980 Dr Gillian Mitchell, 2013-01-28 This work represents the first comparative study of the folk revival movement in Anglophone Canada and the United States and combines this with discussion of the way folk music intersected with and was structured by conceptions of national affinity and national identity Based on original archival research carried out principally in Toronto Washington and Ottawa it is a thematic rather than general study of the movement which has been influenced by various academic disciplines including history musicology and folklore Dr Gillian Mitchell begins with an introduction that provides vital context for the subject by tracing the development of the idea of the folk folklore and folk music since the nineteenth century and how that idea has been applied in the North American context before going on to examine links forged by folksong collectors artists and musicians between folk music and national identity during the early twentieth century With the boom of the revival in the early sixties came the ways in which the movement in both countries proudly promoted a vision of nation that was inclusive pluralistic and eclectic It was a vision which proved compatible with both Canada and America enabling both countries to explore a diversity of music without exclusiveness or narrowness of focus It was also closely linked to the idealism of the grassroots political movements of the early 1960s such as integrationist civil rights and the early student movement After 1965 this inclusive vision of nation in folk music began to wane While the celebrations of the Centennial in Canada led to a re emphasis on the Canadianness of Canadian folk music the turbulent events in the United States led many ex revivalists to turn away from politics and embrace new identities as introspective singer songwriters Many of those who remained interested in traditional folk music styles such as Celtic or Klezmer music tended to be very insular and conservative in their approach rather than linking their chosen genre to a wider world of folk music however more recent attempts at fusion or world music suggest a return to the eclectic spirit of the 1960s folk revival

Thus from 1945 to 1980 folk music in Canada and America experienced an evolving and complex relationship with the concepts of nation and national identity Students will find the book useful as an introduction not only to key themes in the folk revival but also to concepts in the study of national identity and to topics in American and Canadian cultural history Academic specialists will encounter an alternative perspective from the more general broad approach offered by earlier histories of the folk revival movement American Folk Music and Left-wing Politics, 1927-1957 Richard A.
