Nafta Stories Fears And Hopes In Mexico And The United States:

NAFTA Stories Ann E. Kingsolver, 2001 Ann Kingsolver presents stories people have told about NAFTA young people and old urban and rural with differing political perspectives occupations and other markers of identity that demonstrate their expectations and imaginations of the sweeping trade agreement NAFTA Kingsolver contends both before and after its passage became a catch all in public discourse for tensions related to neoliberal policies and to economic and cultural processes of globalization The storytellers in her book from Mexico Kentucky and California imagined the meaning and possible effects of regional integration on topics ranging from agriculture to the stereotyping of workers to national sovereignty and identity NAFTA became invested with possibilities far beyond the scope of its literal provisions Kingsolver analyzes the metaphorical meanings attributed to NAFTA whether a giant truck in your rear view mirror in Ralph Nader's words or a panacea for what they tell us about the changing relationship between national governments and their publics She finds that rather than strengthening national authority the passage of NAFTA led to intense public questioning and deep political division

The Impacts of NAFTA on North America I. Hussain, 2010-08-17 Why was NAFTA not extended even after fulfilling several stated objectives Investigating a number of roadblocks and utilizing James Rosenau's state multi-centric models the book's conclusions shed light not just on why North American integration is not working but on broader regional experiments

Hyatt, Ann Kingsolver, 2016-11-25 The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is an invaluable guide and major reference source for students and scholars alike introducing its readers to key contemporary perspectives and approaches within the field Written by an experienced international team of contributors with an interdisciplinary range of essays this collection provides a powerful overview of the transformations currently affecting anthropology The volume both addresses the concerns of the discipline and comments on its construction through texts classroom interactions engagements with various publics and changing relations with other academic subjects Persuasively demonstrating that a number of key contemporary issues can be usefully analyzed through an anthropological lens the contributors cover important topics such as globalization law and politics collaborative archaeology economics religion citizenship and community health and the environment The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is a fascinating examination of this lively and constantly evolving discipline

Out in the Country Mary L. Gray, 2009-08-01 Winner of the 2009 Ruth Benedict Prize for Outstanding Monograph from the Society of Lesbian and Gay Anthropologists Winner of the 2010 Distinguished Book Award from the American Sociological Association Sociology of Sexualities Section Winner of the 2010 Congress Inaugural Qualitative Inquiry Book Award Honorable Mention An unprecedented contemporary account of the online and offline lives of rural LGBT youth From Wal Mart drag parties to renegade Homemaker's Clubs Out in the Country offers an unprecedented contemporary account of the lives of today's rural queer youth Mary L Gray maps out the experiences of young people living in small towns across rural Kentucky and along its desolate Appalachian borders providing a fascinating and often surprising look at the contours of gay life beyond the big city Gray illustrates that against a backdrop of an increasingly impoverished and privatized rural America LGBT youth and their allies visibly and often vibrantly work the boundaries of the public spaces available to them whether in their high schools public libraries town hall meetings churches or through websites This important book shows that in addition to the spaces of Main Street rural LGBT youth explore and carve out online spaces to fashion their emerging queer identities Their triumphs and travails defy clear distinctions often drawn between online and offline experiences of identity fundamentally redefining our understanding of the term queer visibility and its political stakes Gray combines ethnographic insight with incisive cultural critique engaging with some of the biggest issues facing both queer studies and media scholarship Out in the Country is a timely and groundbreaking study of sexuality and gender new media youth culture and the meaning of identity and social movements in a digital age Transnational Blackness M.

Marable,2008-09-29 Black intellectuals in the US have long thought of racism as a global phenomenon This book presents for the first time a full overview of the history critical analysis and theoretical perspectives of key black scholars and activists on the transnational dynamics of modern race and racism throughout the world Anthropology and Sexual Morality Carles Salazar,2006 The history of sexual morality in Ireland has been traditionally associated with repression In the last two decades however repression seems to have given way to its exact opposite But where did this repression originate And how can we account for this sudden and sweeping transformation in sexual mores Based on solid ethnographic and historical analysis of sexual morality in rural Ireland augmented by comparative data from Papua New Guinea and being informed by from Freud s emblematic concept of repression the author draws new conclusions that not only apply to the specific case of his Irish material but shed new light on the specific nature of an anthropological approach to the study of human societies

Silence Maria-Luisa Achino-Loeb,2005-12-01 This book is about silence and power and how they interact It argues that only by studying how silence works how it is implicated in the construction of meaning can we arrive at the elusive roots of power in all its dimensions Silence becomes the currency of power by delineating the margins or what we perceive and through a sleight of hand wherein behaviors undertaken in the service of self interest appear instead as inevitable and devoid of human agency The theoretical load of this argument is carried by vivid ethnographic material dealing with music linguistic behavior racial conflicts work dislocations and the construction of anthropological subjects and texts Breathing Spaces Nancy N. Chen,2003 The charismatic form of healing called qigong which at its core involves meditative breathing exercises achieved enormous popularity in China during the last two decades Anthropologist Nancy N Chen examines the cultural context of medicine and healing practices in the PRC Taiwan and the United States and the pages of her book come alive with the narratives of the numerous practitioners healers psychiatric patients doctors and bureaucrats she interviewed

Global Mountain Regions Ann Kingsolver,Sasikumar Balasundaram,2018-09-01 No matter where they are located in the world communities living in mountain regions have shared experiences defined in large part by contradictions These communities often face social and economic marginalization despite providing the lumber coal minerals tea and tobacco that have fueled the growth of nations for centuries They are perceived as remote and socially inferior backwaters on one hand while simultaneously seen as culturally rich and spiritually sacred spaces on the other These contradictions become even more fraught as environmental changes and political strains place added pressure on these mountain communities Shifting national borders and changes to watersheds forests and natural resources play an increasingly important role as nations respond to the needs of a global economy The works in this volume consider multiple nations languages generations and religions in their exploration of upland communities responses to the unique challenges and opportunities they share From paintings to digital mapping environmental studies to poetry land reclamation efforts to song lyrics the collection provides a truly interdisciplinary and global study The editors and authors offer a cross cultural exploration of the many strategies that mountain communities are employing to face the concerns of the future

Appalachia in Regional Context Dwight B. Billings, Ann E. Kingsolver, 2018-03-02 In an increasingly globalized world place matters more than ever This concept especially holds true in Appalachian studies a field that brings scholars activists artists and citizens together around the region to contest misappropriations of resources and power and to combat stereotypes of isolation and intolerance In Appalachia in Regional Context Place Matters Dwight B Billings and Ann E Kingsolver assemble scholars and artists from a variety of disciplines to broaden the conversation and challenge the binary opposition between regionalism and globalism In addition to theoretical explorations of place some of the case studies examine foodways depictions of gendered and racialized Appalachian identity in popular culture the experiences of rural LGBTQ youth and the pitfalls and promises of teaching regional studies Drawing on ideas from cultural anthropology sociology and a variety of other fields and interleaved with poems by bell hooks this volume furthers the examination of new perspectives on one of America s most compelling and misunderstood regions

A Sustainable Tourism Workforce Shelagh Mooney, Richard N.S. Robinson, David J. Solnet, Tom Baum, 2024-02-15 This book brings together issues of social justice and the neglect of a sustainable orientation to the tourism workforce This has resulted in an impoverished unsustainable and transient workforce that does not meet the aims of UN sustainable goals within the sector or indeed the UNTWO Code of ethics towards its employees The introductory review and 15 chapters in this volume each make a unique and distinct contribution to knowledge The opening review presents a critique of current definitions of sustainability in an employment and specifically in a tourism employment context acknowledging and critiquing extant literature It uniquely recognises the themes submitted on the topic of sustainable work in the book as well as those which comprise the final selection of chapters These exercises culminate in the presentation of a refreshed conceptualisation of sustainable employment The chapters were mapped onto a proposed conceptual framework which recognises the multi dimensional influences of the evolving Sustainable Development Goals SDGs recent Sustainable

Human Resource Management SHRM and tourism literature and fresh contributions to theory Additionally the introductory review offers concluding remarks that the authors hope will influence and guide future research endeavours The book will be invaluable to educators students and policymakers interested in information and guidance on managing sustainable tourism Several chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Sustainable Tourism

Eclipse of Dreams Marco Saavedra, Claudia Muñoz, Mariela Nuñez-Janes, Stephen Pavey, Fidel Castro Rodriguez, Pedro Santiago Martinez, 2020-05-05 After the DREAM Act failed many young undocumented activists understood that pinning their hopes on a piece of legislation had been a bad idea They also saw that the DREAM Act would have fragmented communities families and social movements because it designated only a subset of immigrants as worthy of assimilation and its rewards while others who often lived under the same roof would be further criminalized Eclipse of Dreams creatively tells the stories of a new generation of young people awakened Dreamers who see the injustice built into the American dream Using a collective writing process as well as testimonials photography poetry and art this book is an invitation to reconsider the myths we tell ourselves in order to find another way forward for migrant justice and human dignity one that might allow us all to recover our global humanity From direct action to the infiltration of immigrant detention centers these youth are leading a movement for human liberation

Anthropology and Ethnography are Not Equivalent Irfan Ahmad, 2021-01-14 In recent years crucial questions have been raised about anthropology as a discipline such as whether ethnography is central to the subject and how imagination reality and truth are joined in anthropological enterprises These interventions have impacted anthropologists and scholars at large This volume contributes to the debate about the interrelationships between ethnography and anthropology and takes it to a new plane Six anthropologists with field experience in Egypt Greece India Laos Mauritius Thailand and Switzerland critically discuss these propositions in order to renew anthropology for the future The volume concludes with an Afterword from Tim Ingold

Tobacco Town Futures Ann E. Kingsolver, 2010-12-29 Situated between the foothills of Appalachia to the east and bluegrass country to the west Nicholas County has been home to small tobacco farms in rural Kentucky for the past 200 years But now in the midst of tremendous economic changes generated by the movement of both textile jobs and tobacco production to other countries residents of Nicholas County face an uncertain future Based on twenty five years of research Kingsolvers longitudinal ethnography of Nicholas County her home community synthesizes geographical historical economic and political processes that have shaped lifeways and worldviews She documents the perspectives of farmers factory workers politicians those pursuing new niches in the labor market and middle school students in search of alternative futures Countering stereotypes Kingsolver emphasizes the skills and agency of rural residents and demonstrates how people in widely dispersed and seemingly isolated communities in the world are connected through capitalist logic and practice thereby illuminating globalizations far reaching effects

Neoliberalism and Commodity Production in Mexico Thomas Weaver, James B. Greenberg, William L. Alexander, Anne

Browning-Aiken, 2012-06-15 Neoliberalism and Commodity Production in Mexico details the impact of neoliberal practice on the production and exchange of basic resources in working class communities in Mexico. Using anthropological investigations and a market driven approach, contributors explain how uneven policies have undermined constitutional protections and working class interests since the Mexican Revolution of 1910. Detailed ethnographic fieldwork shows how foreign investment, privatization, deregulation, and elimination of welfare benefits have devastated national industries and natural resources and threatened agriculture, driving the campesinos and working class deeper into poverty. Focusing on specific commodity chains and the changes to production and marketing under neoliberalism, the contributors highlight the detrimental impacts of policies by telling the stories of those most affected by these changes. They detail the complex interplay of local and global forces from the politically mediated systems of demand found at the local level to the increasingly powerful municipal and state governments and the global trade and banking institutions. Sharing a common theoretical perspective and method throughout the chapters, Neoliberalism and Commodity Production in Mexico is a multi-sited ethnography that makes a significant contribution to studies of neoliberal ideology in practice. The Latino/a Condition Richard Delgado, Jean Stefancic, 2011 Richard Delgado is University Professor at Seattle University Law School. The Punishment Monopoly Pem Davidson Buck, 2019-11-22 Examines the roots of white supremacy and mass incarceration from the vantage point of history. Why, asks Pem Davidson Buck, is punishment so central to the functioning of the United States, a country proclaiming liberty and justice for all? The Punishment Monopoly challenges our everyday understanding of American history, focusing on the constructions of race, class, and gender upon which the United States was built and which still support racial capitalism and the carceral state. After all, Buck writes, a state has to punish; bottom line, that is what a state and the force it controls is for. Using stories of her European ancestors who arrived in colonial Virginia in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and following their descendants into the early nineteenth century, Buck shows how struggles over the right to punish, backed by the growing power of the state governed by a white elite, made possible the dispossession of Africans, Native Americans, and poor whites. Those struggles led to the creation of the low wage working classes that capitalism requires, locked in by a metastasizing white supremacy that Buck's ancestors, with many others defined as white, helped establish and manipulate. Examining those foundational struggles illuminates some of the most contentious issues of the twenty-first century: the exploitation and detention of immigrants, mass incarceration, Islamophobia, white privilege, judicial and extra-judicial killings of people of color, and some poor whites. The Punishment Monopoly makes it clear that none of these injustices was accidental or inevitable, that shifting our state-sanctioned understandings of history is a step toward liberating us from its control of the present. Encyclopedia of U.S. Labor and Working-class History Eric Arnesen, 2007 Publisher Description Race, Gender, and Punishment Mary Bosworth, Jeanne Flavin, 2007 In this book, Mary Bosworth and Jeanne Flavin bring together twelve original essays by prominent scholars to examine not only the discrimination that is evident but also the structural and cultural forces that have influenced and continue to perpetuate the current situation Contributors point to four major factors that have impacted public sentiment and criminal justice policy colonialism slavery immigration and globalization In doing so they reveal how practices of punishment not only need particular ideas about race to exist but they also legitimate them Reflecting on America Clare L. Boulanger, 2017-07-05 Anthropologists travel back in time and across the globe to understand human culture but surprise there is culture right here in the United States This second edition of the best selling textbook and anthology Reflecting on America again focuses on how we can recognize the common cultural thread running through diverse American phenomena from heroin addiction and Big Business s efforts to shape the identities of children to Civil War reenactments and the popularity of burlesque in the Midwest In addition this second edition includes chapters written especially for this volume on striptease Burning Man The Big Bang Theory TV show and Groundhog Phil Written throughout with verve and quirky humor and offering Questions for discussion after every article this book is perfect for undergraduate classes in anthropology and American studies Drawing together twenty two scholars with expertise in anthropological ideas about culture Reflecting on America examines what it means to be American
