Point of View, Perspective, and Focalization Peter Hühn, Wolf Schmid, Jörg Schönert, 2009-05-08 Stories do not actually exist in the fictional or factual world but are constituted structured and endowed with meaning through the process of mediation i.e. they are represented and transmitted through systems of verbal visual or audio visual signs The terms usually proposed to describe aspects of mediation especially perspective point of view and focalization have yet to bring clarity to this field which is of central importance not only for narratology but also for literary and media studies One crucial problem about mediation concerns the dimensions of its modeling effect particularly the precise status and constellation of the mediating agents i.e. author narrator or presenter and characters The question is how are the structure and the meaning of the story conditioned by these different positions in relation to the mediated happenings perceived from outside and or inside the storyworld In this volume fourteen articles by international scholars from seven different countries address these problems anew from various angles reviewing the sub categorization of mediation and re-specifying its dimensions both in literary texts and other media such as drama and theater film and computer games The Writer on Film J. Buchanan, 2013-06-03 Examining films about writers and acts of writing The Writer on Film brilliantly refreshes some of the well worn adaptation debates by inviting film and literature to engage with each other trenchantly and anew through acts of explicit configuration not adaptation Conrad on Film Gene M. Moore, 1997-11-27 This book offers the first comprehensive international survey of more than eighty films and videos based on the life and work of Joseph Conrad Essays by leading film and literary scholars examine the films both in the context of film history and technology and in terms of the theoretical and practical problems facing directors including Alfred Hitchcock Orson Welles Francis Ford Coppola and Andrzej Wajda who have attempted to put Conrad on film Conrad was the first major English author to adapt his work for the screen and the story of his unpublished film play is told in an important chapter The challenges of finding visual analogues for Conrad's narrative irony and filmic equivalents for his narrators are also examined The volume is well illustrated and includes a detailed filmography and film bibliography making it a landmark study of Conrad films and film adaptations in general

An Invention Without a Future James Naremore, 2014-01-10 In 1895 Louis Lumière supposedly said that cinema is an invention without a future James Naremore uses this legendary remark as a starting point for a meditation on the so called death of cinema in the digital age and as a way of introducing a wide ranging series of his essays on movies past and present These essays include discussions of authorship adaptation and acting commentaries on Howard Hawks Alfred Hitchcock Orson Welles Vincente Minnelli John Huston and Stanley Kubrick and reviews of more recent work by non Hollywood directors Pedro Costa Abbas Kiarostami Raúl Ruiz and Apichatpong Weerasethakul Important themes recur the relations between modernity modernism and postmodernism the changing mediascape and death of older technologies and the need for robust critical writing in an era when print journalism is waning and the humanities are devalued The book concludes with essays on four major American film critics James Agee Manny Farber Andrew Sarris and Jonathan Rosenbaum

Literary Intermediality Maddalena Pennacchia Punzi, 2007 The increasing transfer of literary texts and of related writing reading processes from the printed page to analog and digital media and vice versa is the phenomenon under investigation in this book for which the term literary intermediality has been coined Literature is in transit i.e. travelling incessantly through mass media personal media and the internet with crucial effects both on the ways it is perceived by younger generations of users and on the ways it is devised by contemporary authors The literary text far from being restricted to printed media keeps moving across the whole media circuit thus acquiring at any stage a new temporary identity Based on the seminar Intermediality and Literary Practices at the 7th ESSE Conference in 2004 the essays of this collection by scholars from both sides of the Atlantic focus on the seminar's common topics cinema theatre postmodernism and new critical issues

Storytelling in Opera and Musical Theater Nina Penner, 2020-10-06 Storytelling in Opera and Musical Theater is the first systematic exploration of how sung forms of drama tell stories Through examples from opera's origins to contemporary musicals Nina Penner examines the roles of character narrators and how they differ from those in literary and cinematic works how music can orient spectators to characters points of view how being privy to characters inner thoughts and feelings may evoke feelings of sympathy or empathy and how performers choices affect not only who is telling the story but what story is being told Unique about Penner s approach is her engagement with current work in analytic philosophy Her study reveals not only the resources this philosophical tradition can bring to musicology but those which musicology can bring to philosophy challenging and refining accounts of narrative point of view and the work performance relationship within both disciplines She also considers practical problems singers and directors confront on a daily basis such as what to do about Wagner s Jewish caricatures and the racism of Orientalist operas More generally Penner reflects on how centuries old works remain meaningful to contemporary audiences and have the power to attract new more diverse audiences to opera and musical theater By exploring how practitioners past and present have addressed these issues Storytelling in Opera and Musical Theater offers suggestions for how opera and musical theater can continue to entertain and enrich the lives of 21st century audiences

Representing Atrocity in Taiwan Sylvia Li-chun Lin, 2007-11-30 In 1945 Taiwan was placed under the administrative control of the Republic of China and after two years accusations of corruption and a failing economy sparked a local protest that was brutally quashed by the Kuomintang government The February Twenty Eighth or 2 28 Incident led to four decades of martial law that became known as the White Terror During this period talk of 2 28 was forbidden and all dissent violently suppressed but since the lifting of martial law in 1987 this long buried history has been revisited through commemoration and narrative cinema and remembrance Drawing on a wealth of secondary theoretical material as well as her own original research Sylvia Li chun Lin conducts a close analysis of the political narrative and ideological structures involved in the fictional and cinematic representations of the 2 28 Incident and White Terror She assesses the role of individual and collective memory and institutionalized forgetting while underscoring the dangers of re creating a historical past and the risks of trivialization She also compares her findings with scholarly works on the Holocaust and the aftermath of the atomic bombings of Japan questioning the politics of forming public and personal memories and the political teleology of closure This is the first book to be published in English on the 2 28 Incident and White Terror and offers a valuable matrix of comparison for studying the portrayal of atrocity in a specific locale

Sharp Cut Steven H. Gale, 2021-02-16 While best known as one of the most important playwrights of the twentieth century Harold Pinter 1930 2008 had an equally successful career writing screenplays His collaborations with director Joseph Losey garnered great attention and esteem and two of his screenplays earned Academy Award nominations The French Lieutenant s Woman 1981 and Betrayal 1983 He is also credited for writing an unproduced script to remake Stanley Kubrick s 1962 adaptation of Lolita Much scholarship has been dedicated to the subject of Pinter as playwright but the rich landscape of his work in film has been left largely undisturbed In Sharp Cut Harold Pinter s Screenplays and the Artistic Process Steven H Gale the world s foremost Pinter scholar analyzes Pinter s creative process from initial conception to finished film Gale makes careful point by point comparisons of each stage in the screenplay s creation the source material the adaptations themselves and the films made from the scripts in order to reveal the meaning behind each film script and to explain the cinematic techniques used to express that meaning Unlike most Pinter scholars who focus almost solely on the written word Gale devotes discussion to the cinematic interpretation of the scripts through camera angles and movement cutting and other techniques Pinter does not merely convert his stage scripts to screenplays he adapts the works to succeed in the other medium avoiding elements of the live play that do not work onscreen and using the camera's focusing operations in ways that are not possible on the stage As Pinter's career progressed and his writing evolved screenplays became for him an increasingly vital means of creative expression Sharp Cut is the first study to fully explore this important component of the Pinter canon
