Narrative Actions In Psychoanalysis:

Narrative Actions in Psychoanalysis Roy Schafer, 1981 Narration and Therapeutic Action Jerrold R Brandell, 2018-10-24

Narration and Therapeutic Action raises challenging questions about the limitations of science and of scientific inquiry for the practice of social work. In doing so, this innovative book calls upon clinical social workers, psychologists, and psychoanalysts to examine some of the most fundamental assumptions about the clinical process and what is therapeutic about it. Written by social work clinicians and theorists, the book explores the construction of meaning within the dual framework of psychoanalysis and clinical social work. Readers of Narration and Therapeutic Action will find the way in which clinical illustrations are used to articulate theoretical ideas especially useful. You will find chapters ranging from the highly abstract and theoretical to those that consider very specific dimensions of clinical process. As contributors examine various aspects of narrative theory and its relationship to psychoanalysis and clinical social work, they highlight such themes as important theoretical contributions of psychoanalytic authors including Roy Schafer, Donald Spence, and the French psychoanalyst Jacques Lacan to the study of narratives; how to use various frameworks such as self psychology and multigenerational family systems theory as a structure for analysis of clients' narratives; and their fit in psychoanalytic developmental theories, the evolution of specific narratives in the context of ongoing psychoanalytically oriented treatment, the narration of traumatic experiences in dynamic psychotherapy. Clinical social workers, psychoanalysts, and psychologists will find Narration and Therapeutic Action filled with answers to important questions about the very nature of what is therapeutic in the psychoanalytic process and why. Whether existing theory can be used with modification as a guide to the unpacking of the text and if there are specific psychoanalytic theories of development better suited to the meaning making that occurs in the crucible of the psychoanalytic dialogue, Narration and Therapeutic Action is ideal as a guide and reference for practitioners and students of clinical social work, psychoanalysis, and clinical psychology, as well as for instructors of clinical theory and practice. Readers will find abundant evidence of consensus and conflict, disparity and complementarity, and resonance and dissonance in the contributors' diverse viewpoints. While this provides readers with support for their preexisting theoretical and clinical assumptions, it also offers a broadened perspective on other theories.

Selves in Two Languages Michèle Koven, 2007 Bilinguals often report that they feel like a different person in their two languages In the words of one bilingual in Koven's book When I speak Portuguese automatically I'm in a different world it's a different color Although testimonials like this abound in everyday conversation among bilinguals there has been scant systematic investigation of this intriguing phenomenon Focusing on French Portuguese bilinguals the adult children of Portuguese migrants in France this book provides an empirically grounded theoretical account of how the same speakers enact experience and are perceived by others to have different identities in their two languages This book explores bilinguals experiences and expressions of identity in multicultural multilingual contexts It is distinctive in its integration of multiple levels of analysis to address the relationships between language and identity Koven links detailed attention to discourse form to participants multiple interpretations how such forms become signs of identity and to the broader macrosociolinguistic contexts that structure participants access to those signs The study of how bilinguals perform and experience different identities in their two languages sheds light on the more general role of linguistic and cultural forms in local experiences and expressions of identity

Bornstein, 2002 Completely revised and expanded from four to five volumes this new edition of the Handbook of Parenting appears at a time that is momentous in the history of parenting Parenting and the family are today in a greater state of flux question and redefinition than perhaps ever before We are witnessing the emergence of striking permutations on the theme of parenting blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads One cannot but be awed on the biological front by technology that now not only renders postmenopausal women capable of childbearing but also presents us with the possibility of designing babies Similarly on the sociological front single parenthood is a modern day fact of life adult child dependency is on the rise and parents are ever less certain of their own roles even in the face of rising environmental and institutional demands that they take increasing responsibility for their offspring The Handbook of Parenting concerns itself with different types of parents mothers and fathers single adolescent and adoptive parents basic characteristics of parenting behaviors knowledge beliefs and expectations about parenting forces that shape parenting evolution genetics biology employment social class culture environment and history problems faced by parents handicap marital difficulties drug addiction and practical concerns of parenting how to promote children's health foster social adjustment and cognitive competence and interact with school legal and public officials Contributors to the Handbook of Parenting have worked in different ways toward understanding all these diverse aspects of parenting and all look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent wonders about Each chapter addresses a different but central topic in parenting each is rooted in current thinking and theory as well as classical and modern research in that topic each has been written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting In addition each chapter follows a standard organization including an introduction to the chapter as a whole followed by historical considerations of the topic a discussion of central issues and theory a review of classical and modern research forecasts of future directions of theory and research and a set of conclusions Of course contributors own convictions and research are considered but contributions to this new edition present all major points of view and central lines of inquiry and interpret them broadly The Handbook of Parenting is intended to be both comprehensive and state of the art As the expanded scope of this second edition amply shows parenting is naturally and closely allied with many other fields

Narration, Identity, and Historical Consciousness Jürgen Straub, 2006-01-01 A generally acknowledged characteristic of modern life namely the temporalization of experience inextricable from our intensified experience of contingency and difference has until now remained largely outside psychology's purview Wherever questions about the development structure and function of the concept of time have been posed for example by Piaget and other founders of genetic structuralism they have been concerned predominantly with concepts of physical chronometrical time and related concepts e g velocity All the contributions to the present volume attempt to close this gap A larger number are especially interested in the narration of stories Overviews of the relevant literature as well as empirical case studies appear alongside theoretical and methodological reflections Most contributions refer to specifically historical phenomena and meaning constructions Some touch on the subjects of biographical memory and biographical constructions of reality Of all the various affinities between the contributions collected here the most important is their consistent attention to issues of the constitution and representation of temporal experience
