The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym of Nantucket Edgar Allan Poe, 2021-03-31 Book Excerpt

He spoke plainly seeing himself upheld by the men told the captain he considered him a fit subject for the gallows and that he would disobey his orders if he were hanged for it the moment he set his foot on shore He strode aft jostling Block who turned pale and made no answer on one side and seizing the helm gave the word in a firm voice Hard a lee The men flew to their posts and the ship went cleverly about All this had occupied nearly five minutes and it was supposed to be hardly within the bounds of possibility that any individual could be saved allowing any to have been on board the boat Yet as the reader has seen both Augustus and myself were rescued and our deliverance seemed to have been brought about by two of those almost inconceivable pieces of good fortune which are attributed by the wise and pious to the special interference of Providence While the ship was yet in stays the mate lowered the jolly boat and jumped into her with the very two men I believe who spo continue toward the South Pole The story starts out as a fairly conventional adventure at sea but it becomes increasingly strange and hard to classify Poe who intended to present a realistic story was inspired by several real life accounts of sea voyages and drew heavily from Jeremiah N Reynolds and referenced the Hollow Earth theory He also drew from his own experiences at sea Analyses of the novel often focus on the potential autobiographical elements as well as hints of racism and the symbolism in the final lines of the work

The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym of Nantucket Arthur Gordon Pym, 1838-07-01 Upon my return to the United States a few months ago after the extraordinary series of adventure in the South Seas and elsewhere of which an account is given in the following pages accident threw me into the society of several gentlemen in Richmond Va who felt deep interest in all matters relating to the regions I had visited and who were constantly urging it upon me as a duty to give my narrative to the public I had several reasons however for declining to do so some of which were of a nature altogether private and concern no person but myself others not so much so One consideration which deterred me was that having kept no journal during a greater portion of the time in which I was absent I feared I should not be able to write from mere memory a statement so minute and connected as to have the appearance of that truth it would really possess barring only the natural and unavoidable exaggeration to which all of us are prone when detailing events which have had powerful influence in exciting the imaginative faculties Another reason was that the incidents to be narrated were of a nature so positively marvellous that unsupported as my assertions must necessarily be except by the evidence of a single individual and he a half breed Indian I could only hope for belief among my family and those of my friends who have had reason through life to put faith in my veracity the probability being that the public at large would regard what I should put forth as merely an impudent and ingenious fiction A distrust in my own abilities as a writer was nevertheless one of the principal causes which prevented me from complying with the suggestions of my advisers
