Folk Psychological Narratives Daniel D. Hutto, 2012-08-24 An argument that challenges the dominant theory theory and simulation theory approaches to folk psychology by claiming that our everyday understanding of intentional actions done for reasons is acquired by exposure to and engaging in specific kinds of narratives Established wisdom in cognitive science holds that the everyday folk psychological abilities of humans our capacity to understand intentional actions performed for reasons are inherited from our evolutionary forebears In Folk Psychological Narratives Daniel Hutto challenges this view held in somewhat different forms by the two dominant approaches theory theory and simulation theory and argues for the sociocultural basis of this familiar ability He makes a detailed case for the idea that the way we make sense of intentional actions essentially involves the construction of narratives about particular persons Moreover he argues that children acquire this practical skill only by being exposed to and engaging in a distinctive kind of narrative practice Hutto calls this developmental proposal the narrative practice hypothesis NPH Its core claim is that direct encounters with stories about persons who act for reasons that is folk psychological narratives supply children with both the basic structure of folk psychology and the norm governed possibilities for wielding it in practice In making a strong case for the as yet underexamined idea that our understanding of reasons may be socioculturally grounded Hutto not only advances and explicates the claims of the NPH but he also challenges certain widely held assumptions In this way Folk Psychological Narratives both clears conceptual space around the dominant approaches for an alternative and offers a groundbreaking proposal disorders Moving Ourselves, Moving Others Ad Foolen, Ulrike M. Lüdtke, Timothy P. Racine, Jordan Zlatev, 2012-04-12 The close relationship between motion bodily movement and emotion feelings is not an etymological coincidence While moving ourselves we move others in observing others move we are moved ourselves The fundamentally interpersonal nature of mind and language has recently received due attention but the key role of motion in this context has remained something of a blind spot The present book rectifies this gap by gathering contributions from leading philosophers psychologists and linguists working in the area Framed by an introducing prologue and a summarizing epilogue written by Colwyn Trevarthen who brought the phenomenological notion of intersubjectivity to a wider audience some 30 years ago the volume elaborates a dynamical active view of emotion along with an affect laden view of motion and explores their significance for consciousness intersubjectivity and language As such it contributes to the emerging interdisciplinary field of mind science transcending hitherto dominant computationalist and cognitivist approaches Now Open Access as part of the Knowledge Unlatched 2017 Backlist Collection Latinas' Narratives of Domestic Abuse Shonna L. Trinch, 2003-11-24 In the American legal system valid witness testimony is supposed to be invariable and unchanging so defense attorneys highlight seeming inconsistencies in victims accounts to impeach their credibility This book offers an examination of how and why victims of domestic violence might seem to be changing their stories in the criminal justice system which may leave them vulnerable to attack and criticism Latinas Narratives of Domestic Abuse Discrepant versions of violence investigates the discourse of protective order interviews where women apply for court injunctions to keep abusers away In these encounters two different versions of violence each influenced by a range of ethnolinguistic intertextual and cultural factors are always produced This ethnography of Latina women narrating violence suggests that before victims even get to trial their testimony involves much more than merely telling the truth This book provides a unique look at pre trial testimony as a collaborative and dynamic social and cultural act Tragic Thoughts at the End of Philosophy Gerald L.
