Race To Save The Tropics Ecology And Economics For A Sustainable Future:

Race to Save the Tropics Robert Goodland, 2013-04-10 Race to Save the Tropics documents the conflict between economic development and protection of biological diversity in tropical countries Research Articles , 2004 Aboriginal reconciliation Addictions Allergies Archeology Alternative fuel for cars Atomic bomb Australian animals Australian cultural icons Ballet Beetles Brand power Climbing mountains Computer animation Computer dating Convicts in exile Captain Cook's voyages Dairy production Dangerous predators Dogs Dumbing down of society Ecological footprint Euthanasia Fast food Gambling Gay cowboy Genetic engineering Germs viruses epidemics Global warming Hijab Horses Insomnia cure Internet John Pilger Life savers Love Lunar and social eclipses Monster makers Nanotechnology National treasures Pirates Pope John Paul II Qantas 85th Anniversary Re cycling Science fiction Space travel Sharks Sheep farming Spam Sun Text messaging Tunnels Venomous creatures Water Whaling Wizardry Women at war Seven wonders of the world World War 2

Sustainable Regional Development Methodologies For Microregional Diagnostics Richard Edwards, Mixed and Pure Tree Plantations with Native Species at La Selva Biological Station, Costa Rica: , Environmental Management in ASEAN Maria Seda, 1993 The problem of environmental degradation in the ASEAN region cannot be underestimated The articles in this book examine some of the common environmental issues faced by countries in the region They provide a brief overview of some major environmental problems such as fisheries management tropical deforestation and pollution in urban areas and highlight some of the research policy and institutional constraints in the region International Environmental Law Gerry Nagtzaam, Evan van Hook, Douglas Guilfoyle, 2019-10-23 This book seeks to better understand how International Environmental Law regimes evolve The authors address throughout the major environmental economic and political tensions that have both shaped and constrained the evolution of international environmental policy within regimes and its expression in international legal rule and norm development Readers will gain an increased understanding of the growing role played by non state actors in global environmental governance including environmental non government organisations scientists the United Nations and corporations The authors also look ahead to the future of International Environmental Law evaluating key challenges and decisions that the discipline will face The text is clear concise and accessible It is ideally suited to students and professionals interested in International Environmental Law and individuals who are intrigued by this dynamic area of law The Making of International Environmental Treaties Gerry Nagtzaam, 2009 Gerry Nagtzaam contends that in recent decades neoliberal institutionalist scholarship on global environmental regimes has burgeoned as has constructivist scholarship on the key role played by norms in international politics In this innovative volume the author sets these interest and norm based approaches against each other in order to test their ability to illustrate why and how different environmental norms take hold in some regimes and not others The book explores why some global environmental treaties seek to preserve and protect some parts of nature from human utilization some seek to conserve certain parts of nature for human development whilst others allow the reckless exploitation of nature without accounting for the consequences It tracks the fate of these three underlying environmental norms preservation conservation and exploitation using case studies on whaling mining in Antarctica and tropical timber The book illustrates how international political battles to shape environmental regimes inevitably result in clashes between these competing environmental norms This unique study will prove a fascinating read for both academics and practitioners in the fields of international environmental politics and international environmental law

Readings in Planning Theory Susan S. Fainstein, James DeFilippis, 2016-01-19 Featuring updates and revisions to reflect rapid changes in an increasingly globalized world Readings in Planning Theory remains the definitive resource for the latest theoretical and practical debates within the field of planning theory Represents the newest edition of the leading text in planning theory that brings together the essential classic and cutting edge readings Features 20 completely new readings out of 28 total for the fourth edition Introduces and defines key debates in planning theory with editorial materials and readings selected both for their accessibility and importance Systematically captures the breadth and diversity of planning theory and puts issues into wider social and political contexts without assuming prior knowledge of the field

Natural Connections David Western, Michael Wright, 2013-03-19 Both realism and justice demand that efforts to conserve biological diversity address human needs as well The most promising hope of accomplishing such a goal lies in locally based conservation efforts an approach that seeks ways to make local communities the beneficiaries and custodians of conservation efforts Natural Connections focuses on rural societies and the conservation of biodiversity in rural areas It represents the first systematic analysis of locally based efforts and includes a comprehensive examination of cases from around the world where the community based approach is used The book provides an overview of community based conservation in the context of the debate over sustainable development poverty and environmental decline case studies from the developed and developing worlds Indonesia Peru Australia Zimbabwe Costa Rica the United Kingdom that present detailed examples of the locally based approach to conservation a review of the principal issues arising from community based programs an agenda for future action

Redefining Nature Roy Ellen, Katsuyoshi Fukui, 2021-01-07 How can anthropology improve our understanding of the interrelationship between nature and culture What can anthropology contribute to practical debates which depend on particular definitions of nature such as that concerning sustainable development Humankind has evolved over several million years by living in and utilizing nature and by assimilating it into culture Indeed the technological and cultural advancement of the species has been widely acknowledged to rest upon human domination and control of nature Yet by the 1960s the idea of culture in confrontation with nature was being challenged by science philosophy and the environmental movement Anthropology is increasingly concerned with such issues as they become more urgent for humankind as a whole This important book reviews the current state of the concepts of nature we use both as scientific devices and ideological constructs and is organised around three themes nature as a cultural construction the cultural management of the environment and relations between plants animals and humans

Companion Encyclopedia of Geography Ian Douglas, Mike Robinson, 1996 Logging the Globe Patricia Marchak, 1995-09-18 Patricia Marchak examines issues particular to the northern and southern regions and the global effects of trends in each region using British Columbia Brazil Chile Indonesia and Thailand as full case studies and Malaysia Myanmar and other south east Asian regions as shorter case studies She also examines Japanese forestry and the Japanese paper industry Logging the Globe provides in depth analyses of the restructuring of the global division of labour the effect of Japanese demand for pulp changes in employment production land policies and markets in northern countries deforestation plantation forestry and the influence of European North American and Japanese companies on tropical forests and peoples Marchak considers whether industrial forestry is sustainable and suggests ways in which global demand for forest products can be met in more efficient and more nearly sustainable ways Logging the Globe presents a global picture of a critically important environmental and social issue It will be of great interest to professionals in the industry policy makers and environmental activists and those concerned with environmental and social issues Sustainable Harvest and Marketing of Rain Forest Products Mark Plotkin, Lisa Famolare, 1992-07 Topics covered include the use and conservation of ethnobotanical information the potential uses of nontimber forest products from various regions of the Neotropics the development and use of plants as medicines and the international marketplace for nontimber forest products and how it can best be created and reached Because of their special significance a separate section is devoted to uses and potential uses of palm products Among the contributors are Al Gentry Missouri Botanical Garden Steven R King Shaman Pharmaceuticals Gary Paul Nabhan Native Seed SEARCH Richard Evans Schultes Botanical Museum of Harvard University and others from around the globe Mark Plotkin is vice president for the program in plant conservation and Lisa Famolare is a program associate at Conservation International an organization dedicated to the conservation of ecosystems and biological diversity worldwide
