Australia's Doomed-Race Protective Myth Grant Rodwell, 2024-12-27 Periodically in Australian society racial chasms emerge portraying the great divide between Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians exposing the sustained influence of the doomed race protective myth and its residue This book exposes that a long and powerful influence on Australian society economy culture and history has been the doomed race protective myth While most nations harbour protective myths of one form or another often endorsed by Australian governments at all levels and steeped in a cruel racism and inter alia a quest for pastoral lands Australia's doomed race protective myth has asserted an undue influence on First Nations people This book argues the doomed race protective myth warped the vision of power elites politicians and bureaucrats For centuries sustained by representations in official and public history schools churches and a whole host of public institutions the doomed race protective myth has been voiced by almost every facet of non Indigenous Australian society with pastoral Australia particularly benefiting This book opens fresh vistas to the continuing racism in Australian society through an examination of the long politicised doomed race protective myth which was foisted on First Nations people and with vested interests in pastoral Australia Key events in Australia s race relations history such as the 2023 First Nations Voice to Parliament Referendum have new light shed on them Transnational themes relevant to Indigenous history have been examined People with an interest in non Indigenous Indigenous affairs academics politicians and bureaucrats and students will enjoy this book

Routledge Handbook of Race and Ethnicity in Asia Michael Weiner,2021-09-30 The Routledge Handbook of Race and Ethnicity in Asia introduces theoretical approaches to the study of race ethnicity and indigeneity in Asia beyond those commonly grounded in the Western experience The volume s twenty eight chapters consider not only the relationship between ethnic or racial minorities and the state but social relations within and between individual and transnational communities These shape not only the contours of governance but also the means by which knowledge of national identity self and other have been constructed and reconstructed over time Divided into four sections it provides holistic and comparative coverage of South South East and East Asia as well as Australasia and Oceania an area that extends from Pakistan in the West to Hawai i in the East Contributors to this handbook offer a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives opening a domain of scholarship wherein the relationship between phenotype and racism is less pronounced than European and North American approaches which have often privileged the so called colour stigmata leading to further exclusions of particular ethnic racial and indigenous communities This volume seeks to overcome racism and white ideologies embedded in theories of race and ethnicity in Asia proving a valuable resource to both students and scholars of comparative racial and ethnic studies international relations and human rights

The Australian People James Jupp,2001-10 Australia is one of the most ethnically diverse societies in the world today From its ancient indigenous origins to British colonisation followed by waves of European then international migration in the twentieth century the island continent is home to people from all over the globe Each new wave of settlers has had a profound impact on Australian society and culture The Australian People documents the dramatic history of Australian settlement and describes the rich ethnic and cultural inheritance of the nation through the contributions of its people It is one of the largest reference works of its kind with approximately 250 expert contributors and almost one million words Illustrated in colour and black and white the book is both a comprehensive encyclopedia and a survey of the controversial debates about citizenship and multiculturalism now that Australia has attained the centenary of its federation

Critical Racial and Decolonial Literacies Debbie Bargallie,Nilmini Fernando,2024-08-22 This collection offers a unique exploration of critical racial literacy and anti racist praxis in Australia s educational landscape

Combining critical race and Indigenous theories and perspectives contributors articulate a decolonial liberatory imperative for our times In an age when decolonization has become a buzzword the book demystifies critical anti racism praxis advocating for critical and multidisciplinary approaches Educators from a range of disciplines including Law Indigenous Studies Health Sociology Policy and the Arts collectively share compelling stories of educating on race racism and anti racism offering strategies that can be put into practice in classrooms activism and structural reforms

Understanding Racism in a Post-Racial World Sunshine Kamaloni, 2019-02-27 This book addresses the question how can we talk about race in a world that is considered post racial a world where race doesn't exist Kamaloni engages with the tradition of everyday racism and traces the process of racialisation through the interaction of bodies in space Exploring the embodied experience exposes the idea of post racialism as a response to continued cultural anxieties about race and the desire to erase it Understanding Racism in a Post Racial World presents a broader question about what everyday encounters about race might tell us about the current cultural construction of race The book provides a much needed investigation of the intersection of race bodies and space as a critical part of how bodies and spaces become racialised and will be of value to students and scholars interested in understanding and discussing race across interdisciplinary areas such as cultural studies communication gender studies geography body studies literature studies and urban studies

APAIS 1999: Australian public affairs information service, Understanding Racism in Australia Sue Zelinka, 1996 Australia's New Migrants Maria Elena Indelicato, 2017-09-22 This book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of the tropes employed in the categorization of international students living and studying in Australia Establishing the position of migrant students as subjects of the border the author employs various models of emotion in an analysis of the ways in which public debates on migration and education in Australia have problematised international students as an object of national compassion or resentment in relation to other national concerns at the time such as the country's place in the Asia Pacific region the integrity of its borders and the relative competitiveness of its economy Applying an innovative methodology which combines the breadth of a diachronic study with the depth afforded by the close analysis of a diverse range of case studies including the protests staged by Indian international students against a spate of violent attacks which led to their labelling as soft targets in national discourses Australia's New Migrants constitutes an important contribution to our understanding of the ways in which emotions shape national collective orientation towards others As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural studies and education with interests in migration race and emotion

Boarding and Australia's First Peoples Marnie O'Bryan, 2022-02-03 This book takes us inside the complex lived experience of being a First Nations student in predominantly non Indigenous schools in Australia Built around the first hand narratives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alumni from across the nation scholarly analysis is layered with personal accounts and reflections The result is a wide ranging and longitudinal exploration of the enduring impact of years spent boarding which challenges narrow and exclusively empirical measures currently used to define success in education Used as instruments of repression and assimilation boarding or residential schools have played a long and contentious role throughout the settler colonial world In Canada and North America the full scale of human tragedy associated with residential schools is still being exposed By contrast in contemporary Australia boarding schools are characterised as beacons of opportunity and hope places of empowerment and in the best of cultural restitution In this work young people interviewed over a span of seven years reflect in real time on the intended and unintended consequences boarding has had in their own lives They relate expected and dramatically unexpected outcomes They speak to the long term benefits of education and to the intergenerational reach of education policy This book assists practitioners and policy makers to critically review the structures policies and cultural assumptions embedded in the institutions in which they work to the benefit of First Nations students and their families It encourages new and collaborative approaches Indigenous education programs
