Racist Culture David Theo Goldberg, 1993 Racial Structure and Radical Politics in the African Diaspora Georgia A. Moore, Jake Kosek, Anand Pandian, 2003-05-20 A collection of essays that show the interdependence of concepts of race and nature The Politics of Multiracialism Heather M. Dalmage, 2012-02-01 This is the first book to critically look at the political issues and interests surrounding the broadly defined Multiracial Movement and at what is being said about multiracialism Many of the multiracial family organizations that exist across the United States developed socially ideologically and politically during the conservative Reagan years While members of the Multiracial Movement differ widely in their political views the concept of multiracialism has been taken up by conservative politicians in ways that are often inimical to the interests of traditionally defined minorities Contributors look at the Multiracial Movement's voice and at the political controversies that attend the notion of multiracialism in academic and popular literature internet discourse census debates and discourse by and about pop culture celebrities The work discusses how multiracialism hybridity and racial mixing have occurred amidst existing academic discussions of authenticity community borders identity politics the social construction of race and postmodern fragmentation How the Multiracial Movement is shaping and transforming collective multiracial identities is also explored

The Mulatta and the Politics of Race Teresa C. Zackodnik, 2009-09-18 From abolition through the years just before the civil rights struggle began African American women recognized that a mixed race woman made for a powerful and at times very useful figure in the battle for racial justice The Mulatta and the Politics of Race traces many key instances in which black women have wielded the image of a racially mixed woman to assault the color line In the oratory and fiction of black women from the late 1840s through the 1950s Teresa C Zackodnik finds the mulatta to be a metaphor of increasing potency Before the Civil War white female abolitionists created the image of the tragic mulatta caught between races rejected by all African American women put the mulatta to diverse political use Black women used the mulatta figure to invoke and manage American and British abolitionist empathy and to contest racial stereotypes of womanhood in the postbellum United States The mulatta aided writers in critiquing the New Negro Renaissance and gave writers leverage to subvert the aims of mid twentieth century mainstream American culture The Mulatta and the Politics of Race focuses on the antislavery lectures and appearances of Ellen Craft and Sarah Parker Remond the domestic fiction of Pauline Hopkins and Frances Harper the Harlem Renaissance novels of Jessie Fauset and Nella Larsen and the little known 1950s texts of Dorothy Lee Dickens and Reba Lee Throughout the author discovers the especially valuable and as yet unexplored contributions of these black women and their uses of the mulatta in prose and speech Teresa C Zackodnik is a professor of English at the University of Alberta in Canada

Knowing Otherwise Alexis Shotwell, 2015-09-10 Prejudice is often not a conscious attitude because of ingrained habits in relating to the world one may act in prejudiced ways toward others without explicitly understanding the meaning of one's actions Similarly one may know how to do certain things like ride a bicycle without being able to articulate in words what that knowledge is These are examples of what Alexis Shotwell discusses in Knowing Otherwise as phenomena of implicit understanding Presenting a systematic analysis of this concept she highlights how this kind of understanding may be used to ground positive political and social change such as combating racism in its less overt and more deep rooted forms Shotwell begins by distinguishing four basic types of implicit understanding nonpropositional skill based or practical knowledge embodied knowledge potentially propositional knowledge and affective knowledge She then develops the notion of a racialized and gendered common sense drawing on Gramsci and critical race theorists and clarifies the idea of embodied knowledge by showing how it operates in the realm of aesthetics She also examines the role that both negative affects like shame and positive affects like sympathy can play in moving us away from racism and toward political solidarity and social justice Finally Shotwell looks at the politicized experience of one's body in feminist and transgender theories of liberation in order to elucidate the role of situated sensuous knowledge in bringing about social change and political transformation

Culture and Difference Antonia Darder, 1995-12-30 The yearning to remember who we are is not easily detected in the qualitative dimensions of focus groups and ethnographic research methods nor is it easily measured in standard quantified scientific inquiry It is deeply rooted obscured by layer upon layer of human efforts to survive the impact of historical amnesia induced by the dominant policies and practices of advanced capitalism and postmodern culture Darder's introduction sets the tone by describing the formation of Warriors for Gringostroika and The New Mestizas In the words of Anzaldua those who cross over pass over the confines of the normal Critical essays follow by Mexicanas poets activists and educators of all colors and persuasions The collection coming out of the good work of the Southern California University system relates to all locales and spectrums of the human condition and will no doubt inspire excellent creativity of knowing and remembering among all who chance to read any part thereof

Wood, 2018-06-05 This collection of essays by twenty one distinguished American historians reflects on a peculiarly American way of imagining the past At a time when history writing has changed dramatically the authors discuss the birth and evolution of historiography in this country from its origins in the late nineteenth century through its present more cosmopolitan character In the book's first part concerning recent historiography are chapters on exceptionalism gender economic history social theory race and immigration and multiculturalism Authors are Daniel Rodgers Linda Kerber Naomi Lamoreaux Dorothy Ross Thomas Holt and Philip Gleason The three American centuries are discussed in the second part with chapters by Gordon Wood George Fredrickson and James Patterson The third part is a chronological survey of non American histories including that of Western civilization ancient history the middle ages early modern and modern Europe Russia and Asia Contributors are Eugen Weber Richard Saller Gabrielle Spiegel Anthony Molho Philip Benedict Richard Kagan Keith Baker Joseph Zizak Volker Berghahn Charles Maier Martin Malia and Carol Gluck Together these scholars reveal the unique perspective American historians have brought to the past of their own nation as well as that of the world Formerly writing from a conviction that America had a singular destiny American historians have gradually come to share viewpoints of historians in other countries about which they write The result is the virtual disappearance of what was a distinctive American voice That voice is the subject of this book

Black Skins, Black Masks Shirley Anne Tate, 2017-07-05 Black Skin Black Masks Hybridity Dialogism Performativity offers a timely exploration of Black identity and its negotiation The book draws on empirical work recording everyday conversations between Black women friends peers and family members These conversations are discussed in the light of the work of Homi Bhabha Stuart Hall Gerd Baumann Claire Alexander and others on questions of hybridity identity otherness and the development of new ethnicities Tate aims to address what she sees as significant omissions in contemporary Black Cultural Studies She argues that theorists have rarely looked at the process of identity construction in terms of lived experience and that they have tended to concentrate on the demise of the essential Black subject paying little attention to gender The book points to a continuation of a politics of the skin in Black identities As such it argues against Bhabha's claim that essence is not central to hybrid identities The conversations recorded in the book reveal the ways in which women negotiate the category of Blackness in what Tate calls a hybridity of the everyday The book introduces a new interpretative vocabulary to look at the ways in which hybridity is orchestrated and missionaries and legal authorities who aspired to restrict crossracial encounters By connecting genealogies of aboriginal European contact with those of Chinese migration this book reveals that territorial dispossession and Chinese exclusion were never distinct projects but two conjunctive processes in the making of the settler regime Drawing on archival documents and historical records Colonial Proximities historicizes current discussions of multiculturalism and pluralism in modern settler societies by revealing how crossracial interactions in one colonial contact zone inspired juridical racial truths and forms of governance that continue to linger in contemporary racial politics It is essential reading for students and practitioners of history anthropology sociology colonial postcolonial studies and critical race and legal studies
