cinema plays a vital role in constructing national and cultural identity The authors examine post 2000 films which predominantly deal with issues of national identity and demonstrate how they tackle questions of national identity Bangladesh is seemingly a homogenous country consisting 98% of Bengali and 90% of Muslim This majority group has two dominant identities Bengaliness the ethno linguistic identity and Muslimness the religious identity Bengaliness is perceived as secular modern whereas Muslimness is perceived as traditional and conservative However Bangladeshi independent and art house filmmakers portray the nationhood of the country with an enthusiasm and liveliness that exceeds these two categories In addition to these categories the authors add two more dimensions to the approach to discuss identity Popular Religion and Transformation The study argues that these identity categories are represented in the films and that they both reproduce and challenge dominant discourses of nationalism Providing a new addition to the discourse of contemporary national identity the book will be of interest to researchers studying international film and media studies independent cinema studies Asian cinema and South Asian culture politics and identity politics

Vaiṣṇavism Sudhindra Chandra Chakravarti,1969 Guilty Males and Proud Females Fabrizio M. Ferrari,2010 Guilty Males and Proud Females is the first complete study on the Bengali gajan festival dedicated to Dharmaraj a village god in the Rarh region of Bengal The gajan is the dramatic representation of an hierogamy the marriage of a god and goddess and a recreation of the life cycle of earth As Fabrizio M Ferrari explains one of the most fascinating aspects of the gajan is its approach to gender The central deity of the gajan is a goddess identified with the earth To please such a goddess male devotees must acknowledge the pain they inflict towards the female world and become ritual women Conversely as part of the festival women display their generative power and provoke the jealousy of men by ritually mocking conception and delivery The outcome of the ritual is that their suffering is acknowledged and transformed into power Much more than an ethnography of Bengali popular religion Guilty Males and Proud Females contributes to new studies on gender transformation in the Bengal region and will be of interest to scholars of South Asian religions folklore and gender studies
