second half of the twentieth century have shaped not just Updike's reassessment of America's heritage but his reassessment of the literary devices by which that legacy is best portrayed. With a chronology and bibliography of Updike's published writings this is the only guide students and scholars of Updike will need to understand this extraordinary writer.

Reminiscence and Re-creation in Contemporary American Fiction Stacey Olster, 2009-04-30 The world reflected in post modernist fiction is one of chance and randomness devoid of historical intelligibility. Stacey Olster challenges this view by distinguishing American post modernism with respect to the views of historical processes that its practitioners share. Arguing that their experience of communism proved instrumental in shaping the historical perspective of novelists who began writing after World War II, Olster examines their change in perspective in the 1950s after historical events forced them to acknowledge the failure of the communist ideal in Russia. Focusing on Norman Mailer, Thomas Pynchon, John Barth, Robert Coover, and E. L. Doctorow, Olster portrays the idiosyncratic but consistent model of history that each began to construct in his work in order to preserve the illusion of an ordered sense of time. The author defines the qualities the writers share that form a common sensibility: a vision of historical movement taking the shape of an open-ended spiral, a refusal to accept the inevitability of apocalypse, and a conscious return to the traditions of earlier American authors.

The Midrashic Impulse and the Contemporary Literary Response to Trauma Monica Osborne, 2017-12-06 Since the end of World War II we have witnessed countless artistic responses to the Holocaust, yet we remain unable to adequately address the atrocities. While Theodor Adorno later rescinded his comments on the barbaric nature of writing poetry after Auschwitz, The Midrashic Impulse and the Contemporary Literary Response to Trauma begins with the possibility that he was right: that his admonition against poetry warns against employing representational modes that transgress the boundaries of the ethical when it comes to the Holocaust. There is a language other than the language of representation with which we might speak authentically about such atrocities. This study explores what it means for the world of literature to renounce the language of representation and retain the language of witness. Drawing on the work of Emmanuel Levinas, Maurice Blanchot, Geoffrey Hartman, and others, the book focuses on the increasing tendency of contemporary writers to rely on non-representational approaches to storytelling in the context of trauma. This tendency is named the midrashic impulse, given its similarity to ancient rabbinic approaches to the silences of the Hebrew Bible through the creation of Midrash.

The Cambridge Companion to Thomas Pynchon Inger H. Dalsgaard, Luc Herman, Brian McHale, 2012 This essential companion to Thomas Pynchon provides all the necessary tools to unlock the challenging fiction of this postmodern master.

The Sexual Politics of Time Susannah Radstone, 2007-12-03 Looking at a diverse range of texts including Marilyn French's The Women's Room, Philip Roth's Patrimony, the writings of Walter Benjamin and Fredric Jameson, and films such as Cinema Paradiso, Susannah Radstone argues that though time has been foregrounded in theories of postmodernism, those theories have ignored the question of time and sexual difference. The Sexual Politics of Time proposes that the contemporary western world has witnessed a shift from the age of confession to the era of memory In a series of chapters on confession nostalgia the memories of boyhood film and the memoir Susannah Radstone sets out to complicate this claim Developing her argument through psychoanalytic theory she proposes that an attention to time and sexual difference raises questions not only about the analysis and characterization of texts but also about how cultural epochs are mapped through time The Sexual Politics of Time will be of interest to students and researchers of time memory difference and cultural change in subjects such as Media and Cultural Studies Sociology Film Studies

Savvas, 2011-10-24 Through a close reading of the work of five prominent American postmodernist writers this book re evaluates the role of the past in recent American fiction outlines the development of the postmodernist historical novel and considers the waning influence of postmodernism in contemporary American literature

Reminiscence and Re-creation in Contemporary American Fiction Stacey Michele Olster, 1989-04-28 Post modernist fiction apparently presents a world of chance and randomness devoid of historical intelligibility Focusing on American post modernist writers Stacey Olster offers a challenge to this perception showing how the experience of political and historical events has shaped the novelist's perspective Communism after World War II proved particularly instrumental in this capacity the failure of the Communist ideal in Russia forced a change in the literary perspective of history during the 1950s Olster analyzes in detail historical narrative configurations in the works of a pivotal group of writers Norman Mailer Thomas Pynchon John Barth Robert Coover and E L Doctorow share a common vision of historical movement in the shape of an open ended spiral The modes of temporal movement constructed by these authors manage to recall an early Puritan prototype while remaining nonapocalyptic in direction

Don DeLillo Stacey Olster, 2011-02-17 A collection of original stimulating interpretations of key texts by Don DeLillo designed for students and edited and written by leading scholars in the field The book offers new perspectives on two of the most important pre millennial novels by any American writer Mao II and Underworld and the first extended discussions of Falling Man DeLillo's exploration of 9 11 and its aftermath An American Studies approach to the texts brings together both established DeLillo scholars and other academics whose interdisciplinary methodologies drawn from history ethnic studies new economic criticism women s studies art history and urban studies shed new light on DeLillo s work and demonstrate its wide ranging significance in contemporary American culture

Containment Culture Alan Nadel,1995-11-20 Alan Nadel provides a unique analysis of the rise of American postmodernism by viewing it as a breakdown in Cold War cultural narratives of containment These narratives which embodied an American postwar foreign policy charged with checking the spread of Communism also operated within a wide spectrum of cultural life in the United States to contain atomic secrets sexual license gender roles nuclear energy and artistic expression Because these narratives were deployed in films books and magazines at a time when American culture was for the first time able to dominate global entertainment and capitalize on global production containment became one of the most widely disseminated and highly privileged national narratives in history Examining a broad sweep of American culture from the work of George Kennan to Playboy Magazine from the movies of Doris Day and Walt Disney to those of Cecil B DeMille and Alfred Hitchcock from James Bond to Holden Caulfield Nadel discloses the remarkable pervasiveness of the containment narrative Drawing subtly on insights provided by contemporary theorists including Baudrillard Foucault Jameson Sedgwick Certeau and Hayden White he situates the rhetoric of the Cold War within a gendered narrative powered by the unspoken potency of the atom He then traces the breakdown of this discourse of containment through such events as the Bay of Pigs invasion and the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley and ties its collapse to the onset of American postmodernism typified by works such as Catch 22 and The Man Who Shot Liberty Valence An important work of cultural criticism Containment Culture links atomic power with postmodernism and postwar politics and shows how a multifarious national policy can become part of a nation s cultural agenda and a source of meaning for its citizenry
