Gender, Race, and Mourning in American Modernism Greg Forter, 2011-04-14 American modernist writers engagement with changing ideas of gender and race often took the form of a struggle against increasingly inflexible categories Greg Forter interprets modernism as an effort to mourn a form of white manhood that fused the masculine with the feminine He argues that modernists were engaged in a poignant yet deeply conflicted effort to hold on to socially feminine and racially marked aspects of identity qualities that the new social order encouraged them to disparage Examining works by F Scott Fitzgerald Ernest Hemingway William Faulkner and Willa Cather Forter shows how these writers shared an ambivalence toward the feminine and an unease over existing racial categories that made it difficult for them to work through the loss of the masculinity they mourned Gender Race and Mourning in American Modernism offers a bold reading of canonical modernism in the United States Wishes and Wonder Collette Cameron®, 2025-01-22 Formerly Titled Seductive Surrender A clash between an American's quest for a new beginning and a Highlander's covert ambitions kindles a risky passionate alliance Gwendolyn McClintock determined to escape her heartache and provide for her niece and nephew embarks on a journey to the Scottish Highlands seeking peace and a new beginning What she finds instead is Dugall Ferguson a man with dreams of espionage whose life she inadvertently jeopardizes This twist of fate leads them down a path neither expected their initial animosity blossoming into an undeniable attraction fraught with challenges As Gwendolyn settles into her new role the shadow of peril grows ever closer her only assurance being Dugall's unwavering presence Despite his own reservations
