

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a woman's face. She is wearing a yellow headscarf or veil that covers her eyes and forehead. Only her dark skin, dark hair, and a small gold bindi on her forehead are visible. Her eyes are looking directly at the camera. The overall color palette is warm, dominated by the yellow of the cloth and the brown tones of her skin.

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2004 Seeing Anthropology continues to be the only cultural anthropology text available that allows for easy integration of ethnographic films into the introductory cultural anthropology course This text truly incorporates films within the text by blending textbook content with fourteen ethnographic film clips that are put in the hands of students More flexible ordering options are available with the new edition See New to this Edition section below One reviewer says The greatest strengths of this text are its unique and skillful use of film clips to enhance student learning I can think of no better way to extend student learning in anthropology than the use of films and there is no one more qualified to select and present anthropological films than the author of this book Seeing Anthropology: Cult& CD W/& Conform& Pk ANONIMO, 2005-05-01

Seeing by the Light Ike Miller, 2020-05-05 How can we understand God's revelation to us Exploring both Augustine's and Karl Barth's readings of the Johannine literature Ike Miller casts a broader vision of divine illumination arguing for a fully Trinitarian view of illumination that forms not just our intellect but also appeals to the affections and encourages our ethical action Teaching Religion and Film Gregory J Watkins, 2008-08-22 In a culture increasingly focused on visual media students have learned not only to embrace multimedia presentations in the classroom but to expect them Such expectations are perhaps more prevalent in a field as dynamic and cross disciplinary as religious studies but the practice nevertheless poses some difficult educational issues the use of movies in academic coursework has far outpaced the scholarship on teaching religion and film What does it mean to utilize film in religious studies and what are the best ways to do it In Teaching Religion and Film an interdisciplinary team of scholars thinks about the theoretical and pedagogical concerns involved with the intersection of film and religion in the classroom They examine the use of film to teach specific religious traditions religious theories and perspectives on fundamental human values Some instructors already teach some version of a film and religion course and many have integrated film as an ancillary to achieving central course goals This collection of essays helps them understand the field better and draws the sharp distinction between merely watching movies in the classroom and comprehending film in an informed and critical way

The fabric(ation) of consciousness Pieter F. Craffert, 2024-05-28 Consciousness is central to the quest for being human and for what the world is made of While there is widespread agreement on the significance of consciousness for clarifying the human condition there is no agreement on the phenomenon in search of theorising Although there is no shortage of theories and concepts of consciousness in current consciousness research the dominant critical analysis of consciousness research in this study although based on existing analyses is as far as I can see new and unique in arguing for a crisis in consciousness research This book touches on most aspects of consciousness research the hard problem of consciousness neural correlates of consciousness brain models and consciousness consciousness and dualistic thinking etc but is a critical analysis of consciousness research It is not an insider but a third person perspective on current consciousness research In this regard it differs from most introductions and overviews where these topics are presented from a first person perspective the insiders claim about their research Representing the broad spectrum of consciousness research in terms of the theoretical framework of a neuro ecological perspective is a new and innovative move

Emotions, Moral Formation, and Christian Politics Jonathan M. Cahill, 2024-08-22 This volume addresses the social relational nature of moral formation emotions and moral agency Drawing on Barth s theological anthropology and his relational conception of the self Cahill argues that Barth envisions moral progress as rooted in the growth of the community Cahill also explores Barth s view of emotion in conversation with the study of emotions in psychology sociology neuroscience and philosophy Building on Barth and these other disciplines Cahill argues for a relational and cognitive conception of emotions while highlighting emotions critical role in regulating group and social relations Emotions are fundamental to interpersonal interactions to group relations and for the reinforcement and disruption of social structures This account of moral formation and emotion is illustrated through the example of climate change A community shaped by love for God solidarity with other creatures and a concern for all of creation leads to an awareness of hegemonic forces and fosters emotions shaped by the kingdom of God that enables the struggle for climate justice

The Archaeology of Seeing Liliana Janik, 2020-01-28 The Archaeology of Seeing provides readers with a new and provocative understanding of material culture through exploring visual narratives captured in cave and rock art sculpture paintings and more The engaging argument draws on current thinking in archaeology on how we can interpret the behaviour of people in the past through their use of material culture and how this affects our understanding of how we create and see art in the present Exploring themes of gender identity and story telling in visual material culture this book forces a radical reassessment of how the ability to see makes us and our ancestors human as such it will interest lovers of both art and archaeology Illustrated with examples from around the world from the earliest art from hundreds of thousands of years ago to the contemporary art scene including street art and advertising Janik cogently argues that the human capacity for art which we share with our most ancient ancestors and cousins is rooted in our common neurophysiology The ways in which our brains allow us to see is a common heritage that shapes the creative process what changes according to time and place are the cultural contexts in which art is produced and consumed The book argues for an innovative understanding of art through the interplay between the way the human brain works and the culturally specific creation and interpretation of meaning making an important contribution to the debate on art archaeology

Seeing the World through the Onomastic Lens Mkhacani Thomas Chauke, Munyaradzi Mawere, 2025-05-15. Originating from discussions at the 2018 Names Society of Southern Africa (NSSA) Conference, the scholarly work Seeing the World through the Onomastic Lens Xitsonga Anthroponyms and Toponyms meticulously explores the onomastics of the understudied Xitsonga language. The book compiles chapters that significantly advance the understanding of personal names, anthroponyms, place names, toponyms, and ethnonyms within the community. It incisively examines the diverse facets of Vatsonga naming practices, illuminating the cultural and social forces shaping personal naming trends. Moreover, the volume investigates the craft of character naming in modern literature, demonstrating how authors employ Xitsonga names to enrich characterization and narrative progression. This linguistically reflective and explorative book serves as a key resource for students and practitioners in linguistic studies, African studies, social anthropology, policy studies, history, and onomastics.

Karl Barth and Dietrich Bonhoeffer Wolf Krötke, 2019-10-15. Wolf Krötke, a foremost interpreter of the theologies of Karl Barth and Dietrich Bonhoeffer, demonstrates the continuing significance of these two theologians for Christian faith and life. This book enables readers to look with fresh eyes at the theologies of Barth and Bonhoeffer and offers new insights for reading the history of modern theology. It also helps churches see how they can be creative minorities in societies that have forgotten God. Translated by a senior American scholar of Christian theology, this is the first major translation of Krötke's work in the English language. The book includes a foreword by George Hunsinger.

Seeing All Things Whole Thomas John Hastings, 2015-02-06. Kagawa Toyohiko was one of the best-known evangelists and social reformers of the twentieth century. Founder of several religious, educational, social welfare, medical, financial, labor, and agricultural cooperatives, he was nominated twice for the Nobel Prize in Literature (1947 and 1948) and four times for the Nobel Peace Prize (1954, 1955, 1956, and 1960). Appealing to the masses who had little knowledge of Christianity Kagawa believed that a positive interpretation of nature was a key missiological issue in Japan He reasoned that a faith which is rooted in the downward movement of Christ's incarnation must support the scientific quest and meditate on the purpose or upward movement implicit in scientific findings Through an anti reductionist methodological pluralism that strives to see all things whole this scientific mystic employed a wide range of Japanese and Western cultural resources to assert a complementary role for science and religion in modern society

Evoking Lament Eva Harasta, Brian Brock, 2009-10-10 Harasta and Brock show how lament seems to introduce notes of mistrust into an otherwise confident relationship with faith God and His will In prayer all experiences may be brought to God in openness and trust Yet lament seems to introduce notes of mistrust into a relationship properly characterized by confident faith in God and His will Sustained attention to lament presents a challenge to theological reflection in reminding it of the acuteness of the experience of suffering and evil This volume suggests that a robust concept and practice of lament is an appropriate response to questions of evil and suffering in its refusal to close off questions that cannot and should not be closed Lament takes place in the eye of the storm of theodicy and when the distinct content of Christian lament is discovered here the question of theodicy is transformed The first section reflects on the anthropological conditions of lament describing it as a hermeneutic for negotiating adverse experiences that transcends the simple opposition of innocent suffering and guilt The second section reflects on why and how lament has faded from modern theological thought that is over reliant on systematic accounts of evil and whose abstractions have drifted free of religious experience The third section develops an understanding of trust that includes expressions of lament while not sanitizing its rawness The final section inquires after the distinct Christian profile of lament Lament even as an experience of isolation stands within the believing community and its traditions Moreover because Christian lament is based on Christ's passion and resurrection Christ endorses and shapes the believers' lament as he shapes their praise

Karl Barth in Conversation W. Travis McMaken, David W. Congdon, 2014-02-18 Karl Barth was an eminently conversational theologian and with the Internet revolution we live today in an eminently conversational age Being the proceedings of the 2010 Karl Barth Blog Conference Karl Barth in Conversation brings these two factors together in order to advance the dialogue about Barth's theology and extend the online conversation to new audiences With conversation partners ranging from Wesley to Iek from Schleiermacher to Jenson from Hauerwas to the Coen brothers this volume opens up exciting new horizons for exploring Barth's immense contribution to church and world The contributors who represent a young new generation of academic theologians bring a fresh perspective to a topic the theology of Karl Barth that often seems to have exhausted its range of possibilities This book proves that there is still a great deal of uncharted territory in the field of Barth studies Today more than forty years since the Swiss theologian's death the conversation is as lively as ever
