Seeing the Mystery William Stephens Taylor, 1989      Seeing the Mystery William Stephens Taylor, 1989      A Sense of the Sacred R. Kevin Seasoltz, 2005-01-01 There have been many histories of Christian art and architecture but none written by a theologian such as Kevin Seasoltz Following a chapter on culture as the context for theology liturgy and art Seasoltz surveys developments from the early church up through the conventional artistic styles and periods Comprehensive illuminating ecumenical      Canadian Book Review Annual , 1989      Canadiana , 1990-05      Canadian Books in Print , 2000      Literature, Arts, and Religion Harry Raphael Garvin, 1981 A collection of essays that discuss a wide range of art and literary forms their religious content and the fundamental concerns that relate the two Illustrated      The Mystery of Faith John-Francis Friendship, 2019-09-30 The Mystery of Faith explores the essentials of Christian belief and the ancient spiritual practices that enable us to live and flourish in the light of God's grace John Francis Friendship draws on the riches of the Christian tradition and his own experience of Religious life to introduce practices that guide our daily living as God's people      The Arts and the Christian Life Earl Davey, 2022-05-09 Many find their engagement with works of art raises questions concerning where value is found and how meaning and import are understood and experienced For persons of Christian faith a parallel question arises concerning the significance such experience holds for the Christian life and the spiritual journey This collection of essays pursues questions that address how we perceive value in our experience of the arts how this experience leads to a greater measure of human fullness and what significance engagement with the arts holds for the Christian life The author argues that human experience and the quality of our personhood are enriched in and through the imaginative life and that our spiritual lives are profoundly impacted by our aesthetic engagements An underlying assumption is that all great art all that is beautiful is inherently religious that is it embodies qualities that reflect the glory of God and is therefore valuable to the Christian life and one's spiritual experience Indeed insofar as the noetic privileges language and reason the arts and the domain of the aesthetic provide an alternate pathway by which we are able to encounter the Divine      The Ecumenism of Beauty Timothy Verdon, 2017-05-01 The last fifty years have seen a rediscovery of the role of the visual arts in the lives of all Christians In tune with this ecumenical age this book shares the belief that beauty and art can bridge differences unite people in shared admiration and possibly become an instrument of communion among separated Christians The authors of this book are Catholic Orthodox Anglican and Protestant artists scholars and clergy who in 2017 will take part in a symposium organized to commemorate the Reformation which began when Martin Luther published his 95 theses in 1517 With sessions in Paris Strasburg Florence New Haven CT and Orleans MA the symposium is promoted by Catholic and Protestant schools of theology together with Mount Tabor Centre for Art and Spirituality in Barga Italy      The Grounds of Divinitie, Plainely Discovering the Mysteries of Christian Religion, Propounded Familiarly in Divers Questions and Answeres ... theologian one who comes to spiritual questions always through the prism of art     Living Catholicism Roderick Strange, 2001-09 Provides a memorable portrait of Catholic belief and practice melded with a rich and broad spirituality that encompasses holiness and discipleship love and commitment forgiveness and reconciliation     The Art of David Ireland Karen Tsujimoto, Jennifer R. Gross, 2003-12-15 Widely recognized as one of the West Coast's most important and critically acclaimed practitioners of conceptual and installation art David Ireland born 1930 has taken the concept of art itself as one of his subjects A self-described post-discipline artist guided by Zen thought and postmodern aesthetics Ireland moves fluidly from making small drawings to creating sculptures as large as houses Freely incorporating anything within his conceptual or physical reach dirt concrete wire and other everyday materials his work is subtle puzzling and witty and consistently challenges traditional definitions of art In this book accompanying the first full-scale retrospective of Ireland's work curator and author Karen Tsujimoto provides an insightful overview of more than thirty years of the artist's accomplishments from his drawings sculptures and site-specific installations to his remarkable series of architectural transformations including his well-known house at 500 Capp Street in San Francisco Chronicling Ireland's circuitous route to his calling Tsujimoto explores how key life experiences have influenced his artistic perspective from his early art student days through his years as an African importer and safari guide to his long-standing interest in Eastern and particularly Zen philosophy and his deep connections with the San Francisco Bay Area conceptual art community An illuminating essay by art historian and curator Jennifer R. Gross also considers Ireland's art in terms of historical materialism assessing his use of neglected materials and artifacts as a process of cultural preservation     When Art Disrupts Religion Philip S. Francis, 2017-02-01 The stories gathered in these pages lay bare the power of the arts to unsettle and rework deeply ingrained religious beliefs and practices This book grounds its narrative in the accounts of 82 Evangelicals who underwent a sea change of religious identity through the intervention of the arts There never would have been an undoing of my conservative Evangelical worldview confides one young man without my encounter with the transcendent work of Mark Rothko on that rainy afternoon in London's Tate Modern The characters in The Brothers Karamazov began to feel like family to me reports another individual and the doubts of Ivan Karamazov slowly saturated my soul As their stories unfold the subjects of the study describe the arts as sources of by turns defamiliarization comfort in uncertainty a stand-in for faith and a surrogate transcendence Drawing on memoirs interviews and field notes Philip Salim Francis explores the complex interrelationship of religion and art in the modern West and offers an important new resource for on-going debates about the role of the arts in education and social life     The Universalist and Ladies' Repository, 1844     Sensing Sacred Jennifer Baldwin, 2016-08-30 Sensing Sacred is an edited volume that explores the critical intersection of religion and body through the religious lens of practical theology with an emphasis on sensation as the embodied means in which human beings know themselves others and the divine in the world The manuscript argues that all human interaction and practice including religious praxis engages body through at least one of the human senses touch smell hearing taste sight kinestics proprioception Unfortunately body and more specifically and ironically sensation is eclipsed in contemporary academic scholarship that is inherently bent toward the realm of theory and ideas This is unfortunate because it neglects bodies physical or communal as the repository and generator of culturally conditioned ideas and theory It is ironic because all knowledge transmission minimally requires several senses including sight touch and hearing Sensing Sacred is organized into two parts The first section devotes a chapter to each human sense as an avenue of accessing religious experience while the second section explores religious practices as they specifically focus on one or more senses The overarching aim of the volume is to explicitly highlight each sense and utilize the theoretical lenses of practical theology to bring to vivid life the connections between essential sensation and religious thinking and practice     The Church of England Pulpit, and Ecclesiastical Review ,1881
