2003 The conference reflected the rapidly evolving landscape of digital libraries both in technology developments and in the focus of approaches to implementation An emphasis on the requirements of the individual user and of diverse and distributed user communities was apparent In addition the conference programme began to address possibly for the first time the associated themes of e research e science and e learning and their relationship to digital libraries We observed increasing commonality in both the distributed information architectures and the technical standards that underpin global infrastructure developments Digital libraries are integral to this information landscape and to the creation of increasingly powerful tools and applications for resource discovery and knowledge extraction Digital libraries support and facilitate the data and information flows within the scholarly knowledge cycle and provide enabling functionality for both learners and researchers The varied and innovative research activities presented at ECDL 2004 demonstrate the exciting potential of this very fast moving field The 148 papers 43 posters 5 panels 14 tutorials and 4 workshops submitted this year were once again of the highest quality
