Shifting Body Politics Gender Nation Sta:

Shifting Body Politics Shahnaz J. Rouse, 2004 The three essays in this volume explore the changing parameters of struggles over gender in Pakistan In the process the author attempts to theoretically traverse the boundaries between public and private domains the State and what is often referred to as civil society the individual and the collective and the local and international She does this through a discussion of sovereignty and citizenship the growing nexus between militarism masculinism and fundamentalism and the rapid shrinking of democratic spaces in the country Gender, Nation, State in Pakistan Shahnaz Rouse, 2006 State, Nationalism, and Islamization Raja M. Ali Saleem, 2017-07-11 This book argues that Islam's role in state nationalism is the best predictor of the Islamization of government using two most different cases Turkey which was an aggressively secular country until recently and Pakistan a country that is synonymous with Islamization It establishes a causal link between Islam's role in state nationalism and Islamization of government during various periods of the history of both countries The indicators used to establish the causal link between Islam's role in state nationalism and Islamization are the presence of Islamic provisions in the constitution Islam inspired national symbols Islamic images on the national currency Islamic basis of family law a Department of Religious Affairs and governmental support for religious education The book concludes by identifying three causal mechanisms legitimacy mobilization and authenticity that link Islam's role in state nationalism and the Islamization of government The Oxford Handbook of Transnational Feminist Movements Rawwida Baksh-Soodeen, Wendy Harcourt, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Transnational Feminist Movements explores the historical political economic and social contexts in which transnational feminist movements have emerged and spread and the contributions they have made to global knowledge power and social change over the past half century The publication of the handbook in 2015 marks the fortieth anniversary of the United Nations International Women's Year the thirtieth anniversary of the Third World Conference on Women held in Nairobi the twentieth anniversary of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action and the fifteenth anniversaries of the Millennium Development Goals and of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on women peace and security The editors and contributors critically interrogate transnational feminist movements from a broad spectrum of locations in the global South and North feminist organizations and networks at all levels local national regional global and glocal wider civil society organizations and networks governmental and multilateral agencies and academic and research institutions among others The handbook reflects candidly on what we have learned about transnational feminist movements What are the different spaces from which transnational feminisms have operated and in what ways How have they contributed to our understanding of the myriad formal and informal ways in which gendered power relations define and inform everyday life To what extent have they destabilized or transformed the global hegemonic systems that constitute patriarchy From a position of fifty years of knowledge production activism working with institutions and critical reflection the handbook recognizes that transnational feminist movements form a key epistemic community that can inspire and provide leadership in shaping political spaces and institutions at all levels and transforming international political economy development and peace processes The handbook is organized into ten sections each beginning with an introduction by the editors The sections explore the main themes that have emerged from transnational feminist movements knowledge theory and praxis organizing for change body politics health and well being human rights and human security economic and social justice citizenship and statebuilding militarism and religious fundamentalisms peace movements UNSCR 1325 and postconflict rebuilding feminist political ecology and digital age transformations and future trajectories

Women and TV Culture in Pakistan Munira Cheema, 2018-07-30 The television broadcasting culture of Pakistan was changed dramatically in 2002 The President General Pervez Musharraf introduced a policy of liberalisation that enabled controversial issues such as honour killings adultery stoning to death domestic violence marriage after divorce and homosexuality to be increasingly depicted on screen Women and TV Culture in Pakistan is the first in depth analysis of this change in television content Munira Cheema focuses on how gender issues are dealt with on TV and examines the impact this has on female viewers In Pakistan television is often the only way in which women can access the public sphere except through male guardians and this book evaluates how TV content allows them to navigate their intersecting identities as Muslims women and Pakistanis At a time when religious conservatism is on the rise in the country this book investigates why producers choose to focus on gender based issues and the extent to which religion dictates social behaviour and broadcasting choices Based on interviews with women viewers in Karachi as well as industry professionals including writers directors and ratings experts the research is a much needed and original contribution to global television studies and gender studies

The Globalization of Gender Ioana Cîrstocea, Delphine Lacombe, Elisabeth Marteu, 2019-07-04 This book provides an insightful approach to understanding the contemporary circulations of feminist repertoires and shows how the international transnational circulations of gender are interconnected even coextensive with the globalization process itself Fed by a shared reflexivity on relations among activist groups state institutions and international actors involved in the production and dissemination of contemporary norms dealing with gender each chapter shares methodological premises and studies the circulation of gender related norms and knowledge in situ and by varying standpoints Specifically the authors de compartmentalize the academic disciplines and go beyond classical geographic divisions in order to map social spaces and networks of actors involved in the production and circulation of gender related repertoires Last the book grasps circulatory processes and entangled social phenomena which are usually subject to disciplinary and thematic divisions separating collective action and public action development aid and feminism law and international relations Focused on collective and individual experiences within women s organizations activist careers unstable mobilizations public policies temporalities the chapters reveal the mechanisms through which these arrangements are made and shed light on strategies deployed by actors rooted in specific social and political contexts This book will be of key interest to students and scholars of gender studies and more broadly to politics International Relations sociology geography history and anthropology

Political Spiritualities Ruth Marshall, 2009-08-01 After an explosion of conversions to Pentecostalism over the past three decades tens of millions of Nigerians now claim that Jesus is the answer But if Jesus is the answer what is the question What led to the movement s dramatic rise and how can we make sense of its social and political significance In this ambitiously interdisciplinary study Ruth Marshall draws on years of fieldwork and grapples with a host of important thinkers including Foucault Agamben Arendt and Benjamin to answer these questions To account for the movement s success Marshall explores how Pentecostalism presents the experience of being born again as a chance for Nigerians to realize the promises of political and religious salvation made during the colonial and postcolonial eras Her astute analysis of this religious trend sheds light on Nigeria s contemporary politics postcolonial statecraft and the everyday struggles of ordinary citizens coping with poverty corruption and inequality Pentecostalism s rise is truly global and Political Spiritualities persuasively argues that Nigeria is a key case in this phenomenon while calling for new ways of thinking about the place of religion in contemporary politics

Religion and Women in India Tanika Sarkar, 2024-08-01 In Religion and Women in India Tanika Sarkar provides an account of gender prescriptions and proscriptions and their operation among various Indian religious communities beginning with early British rule and concluding in the late twentieth century Tracking various shifts and displacements in doctrinal thought and practice she argues that Indian modernity was initiated largely through debates on gender scripture custom and caste which shaped ideal forms of masculine and feminine conduct She demonstrates the organization of a modern public sphere around the controversies cultural imaginaries and political agitations over such issues as the age of consent child marriage widow remarriage rape laws and intercaste and interfaith relations Gender norms are shown leaching into social attitudes labor processes and legal rights leading eventually to modern Indian feminism. Closely analyzing the interpenetration and co-constitution of religion, politics and gender in India while also comparing parallel developments in Pakistan and Bangladesh, this pioneering work offers a brilliant and synthesizing account of the battles between orthodoxy and its opponents over two hundred years. No historian, no feminist, no student of politics can afford to miss it.

The Dream of a Common Movement

Urvashi Vaid, 2025-03-21

The Dream of a Common Movement collects essays, interviews and speeches by the late feminist and civil rights activist Urvashi Vaid whose pioneering writing and organizing over the course of four decades fundamentally shaped the LGBTQ movement. Vaid explores the LGBTQ movement's impact on the AIDS epidemic and its challenges as it developed a national presence. She calls out movement leaders and donors for not addressing gender, race and class issues and passionately argues that the goal of any liberation movement should be transformation, not assimilation. In personal essays, Vaid describes a double consciousness forged by the experience of immigration and a complicated relationship with her Indian American and lesbian identities. Whether she was focused on the Donors of Color Network, the 22nd Century Initiative, the Lesbian Political Action Committee or other initiatives she launched, Vaid was steadfast in her vision of a more just society and believed deeply in the power of people coming together to effect change. Offering a window into the breadth of her progressive vision for social change, this volume inspires readers to never stop organizing and marching.
