

The background of the entire slide is a repeating pattern of ancient Greek or Roman ships, likely triremes, sailing on stylized waves. Interspersed among the ships are various sea creatures, including fish, octopuses, and squid. The pattern is rendered in a light, monochromatic style that blends into the overall blue-grey background.

The Ship in the Medieval Economy, 600-1600 Richard W. Unger, 1980-01-01 A History of Seafaring in the Classical World (Routledge Revivals) Fik Meijer, 2014-06-17 A History of Seafaring in the Classical World first published in 1986 presents a complete treatment of all aspects of the maritime history of the Classical world designed for the use of students as well as scholars Beginning with Crete and Mycenae in the third millennium BC the author expounds a concise history of seafaring up to the sixth century AD The development of ship design and of the different types of ship the varied purposes of shipping and the status and conditions of sailors are all discussed Many of the most important sea battles are investigated and the book is illustrated with a number of line drawings and photographs Greek and Latin words are only used if they are technical terms ensuring A History of Seafaring in the Classical World is accessible to students of ancient history who are not familiar with the Classical languages The Harvest of War Stephen P. Kershaw, 2022-10-04 The year 2022 marks 2 500 years since Athens the birthplace of democracy fought off the mighty Persian Empire This is the story of the three epic battles Marathon Thermopylae and Salamis that saved democracy forever altering the history of Europe and the West In 2022 it will be 2 500 years since the final defeat of the invasion of Greece by Xerxes the Persian king This astonishing clash between East and West still has resonances in modern history and has left us with tales of heroic resistance in the face of seemingly hopeless odds The Harvest of War makes use of recent archaeological and geological discoveries in this thrilling and timely retelling of the story originally told by Herodotus the Father of History In 499 BC when the rich sophisticated Greek communities of Ionia on the western coast of modern Turkey rebel from their Persian overlord Darius I

Athens sends ships to help them Darius crushes the Greeks in a huge sea battle near Miletus and then invades Greece Standing alone against the powerful Persian army the soldiers of Athens newly democratic state a system which they have invented unexpectedly repel Darius s forces on the plains of Marathon After their victory the Athenians strike a rich vein of silver in their state owned mining district and decide to spend the windfall on building a fleet of state of the art warships Persia wants revenge The next Persian king Xerxes assembles a vast multinational force constructs a bridge of boats across the Hellespont digs a canal through the Mount Athos peninsula and bears down on Greece Trusting in their wooden walls the Athenians station their ships at Artemisium where they and the weather prevent the Persians landing forces in the rear of the land forces under the Spartan King Leonidas at the nearby pass of Thermopylae Xerxes s assault is a disastrous failure until a traitor shows him a mountain track that leads behind the Greeks Leonidas dismisses the Greek troops but remains in the pass with his 300 Spartan warriors where they are overwhelmed in an heroic last stand Athens is sacked by the Persians Democracy is hanging by a thread But the Athenians convince the Greek allies to fight on in the narrow waters by the island of Salamis Despite the heroism of the Persian female commander Artemisia the Persian fleet is destroyed The Harvest of War concludes by exploring the ideas that the decisive battles of Marathon Thermopylae and Salamis mark the beginnings of Western civilization itself and that Greece became the bulwark of the West representing the values of peace freedom and democracy in a region historically ravaged by instability and war

The Sea-Craft of Prehistory Paul Johnstone,2013-11-12

The nautical dimension of prehistory has not so far received the attention it deserves It is also too often assumed that early man was land bound yet this is demonstrably not the case Recent research has shown that man travelled and tracked over greater distances and at a much earlier date than has previously been thought possible Some of these facts can be explained only by man s mastery of water transport from earliest times This book by an acknowledged expert on prehistoric sea craft examines these problems looking at the new archaeological information in the light of the author s nautical knowledge The result is a detailed account of man s use of inland and ocean going craft from earliest times until the dawn of recorded history All forms of evidence are critically assessed from the vessels of Ancient Egypt to the Chinese junk to present of comprehensive picture of the vessels men have built through the ages and of the variety of ways in which they have been used

O'Connell,1990-04-19 The appearance of the crossbow on the European battle field in A D 1100 as the weapon of choice for shooting down knights threatened the status quo of medieval chivalric fighting techniques By 1139 the Church had intervened outlawing the use of the crossbow among Christians With this edict arms control was born As Robert L O Connell reveals in this vividly written history of weapons in Western culture that first attempt at an arms control measure characterizes the complex and often paradoxical relationship between men and arms throughout the centuries In a sweeping narrative that ranges from prehistoric times to the nuclear age O Connell demonstrates how social and economic conditions determine the types of weapons and the tactics used in warfare and how in turn innovations in weapons technology often undercut social values He describes for instance how the invention of the gun required a redefinition of courage from aggressive ferocity to calmness under fire and how the machine gun in World War I so overthrew traditional notions of combat that Lord Kitchener exclaimed This isn t war The technology unleashed during the Great War radically altered our perceptions of ourselves as these new weapons made human qualities almost irrelevant in combat With the invention of the atomic bomb humanity itself became subservient to the weapons it had produced Of Arms and Men brilliantly integrates the evolution of politics weapons strategy and tactics into a coherent narrative one spiced with striking portraits of men in combat and penetrating insights into why men go to war The Oxford Handbook of Warfare in the Classical World Brian Campbell, Lawrence A.
