American Duck Shooting George Bird Grinnell, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1901 edition Excerpt DUCK SHOOTING PASS SHOOTING Of all methods of duck shooting that known as pass shooting is perhaps the most difficult and the most sportsmanlike The gunner stations himself at some point where the ducks are likely to fly and shoots them as they pass over him This point may be between two lakes or two portions of a single lake or between roosting and feeding ground or perhaps only near some lake at which the birds stop on their migrations At all events most of the shooting is overhead at swiftly flying birds and great skill and judgment are required to make a satisfactory bag Sometimes the gunner stands behind some cover of bushes or he may sit or kneel in a pit dug in the ground or at times if the birds are newly arrived and so are unsuspicious he may stand out in plain view However he may be concealed if the shooter has been fortunate enough to secure a position in the direct line of flight he will have interesting shooting and will probably receive some new ideas as to the swiftness with which a duck passes through the air Graphic accounts of this method of shooting have often been published One of the best of these which has appeared in recent years is from the pen of Mr E Hough in Forest and Stream in which he describes a day s shooting in 1897 m North Dakota as follows At the head of the Dead Buffalo Lake there is a narrow strip of water separating it from a smaller lake above and between this little sheltered basin and the wide deep water where the wild celery grows there is a more or less constant flight of ducks We put out our team and hastened quietly as we could down to this fly way seeking not to alarm the birds till we had taken our stand on the ridge between the lakes where the rushes
