Spanish novel and of the debates surrounding it The Book of Mirrors E. O. Chirovici, 2017-02-21 Famous professor Joseph Wieder was brutally murdered and the crime was never solved Years later when literary agent Peter Katz receives an incomplete memoir written by a student of the murdered professor he becomes obsessed with solving the crime A Broken Mirror Merc_ Rodoreda, 2006-01-01 In its moment of great splendor the novel was held as a mirror of society Merc_ Rodoreda shatters that mirror in this her most ambitious novel which tells its story in brilliant fragments a vision reflected and refracted and finally coming together in a richly articulated mosaic of life Through this Broken Mirror the reader sees events and characters spanning three generations and composing a kaleidoscopic family history ranging over six decades and turning upon events both intimate and historic most notably the Spanish Civil War Opening with Teresa Goday the lovely young fishmonger's daughter married to a wealthy old man the story shifts from one perspective to another reflecting from myriad angles the founding of a matriarchal dynasty and its eventual seemingly inevitable disintegration A family saga extending from the prosperous Barcelona of the 1870s to the advent of the Franco dictatorship A Broken Mirror is finally also a novel about the inexorable passing of time The Art of Faulkner's Novels Peter Swiggart, 2014-07-03 To say that the entirety of human experience can be a novelist's theme is to voice an absurdity But as Peter Swiggart convincingly argues Faulkner's work can be viewed as an extraordinary attempt to transform the panorama of man's social experience into thematic material Faulkner's two dimensional characters his rhetorical circumlocutions and his technical experiments are efforts to achieve a dramatic focus upon material too unwieldy at least in principle for any kind of fictional condensation Faulkner makes use of devices of stylization that apply to virtually every aspect of his successful novels For example the complex facts of Southern history and culture are reduced to the scale of a simplified and yet grandiose social mythology the degeneration of the white aristocracy the rise of Snopesism and the white Southerner's gradual recognition of his latent sense of racial guilt Within Faulkner's fictional universe human psychology takes the form of absolute distinctions between puritan and nonpuritan characters between individuals corrupted by moral rationality and those who are simultaneously free of moral corruption and social involvement In this way Faulkner is able to create the impression of a comprehensive treatment of important social concerns and universal moral issues Like Henry James he makes as much as he can of clearly defined dramatic events until they seem to echo the potential complexity and depth of situations outside the realm of fiction When this technique is successful the reader is left with the impression that he knows a Faulkner character far better than he could know an actual person At the same time the character retains the atmosphere of complexity and mystery imposed upon it by Faulkner's handling of style and structure This method of characterization reflects Faulkner's simplifications of experience and yet suggests the inadequacy of any rigid interpretation of actual behavior The reader is supplied with special eyeglasses through which the tragedy of the South as well as humanity's general inhumanity to itself can be viewed in a perspective of simultaneous mystery and symbolic clarity Disorientation Karl Ashoka Britto, 2004-04-01 This book explores literary representations of cultural hybridity spanning nearly half a century a period marked by major shifts in Franco Vietnamese relations How can identity be thought and represented outside of the oppositional categories that divide cultures histories languages and races Can the intercultural subject be understood as more than a site of cultural contestation as anything other than a confrontation between incompatible binary opposites This book offers compelling responses to these questions through a series of close readings of francophone novels written by Vietnamese authors during and just after the colonial period While many contemporary studies of cultural hybridity tend to privilege the postmodern deconstructive play of postcolonial identities Disorientation seeks to uncover what is often obscured in such celebratory analyses the rigid and potentially traumatic conditions under which colonized subjects experienced the tensions and contradictions of intercultural identity The close readings that form the core of the book are inflected by cultural and historical considerations and informed by a range of primary documents that includes training manuals for colonial administrators works of imperialist propaganda tourist guidebooks and travel writing and textbooks from Franco Vietnamese schools These contextualized analyses recast the problem of interculturality in an Asian francophone context expanding the historical and cultural fields within which questions of identity and difference are currently discussed and offering a striking perspective from which to question postcolonial theories of hybridity

The Substance of Fiction Sophie Volpp,2022-06-28 Do the portrayals of objects in literary texts represent historical evidence about the material culture of the past Or are things in books more than things in the world Sophie Volpp considers fictional objects of the late Ming and Qing that defy being read as illustrative of historical things Instead she argues fictional objects are often signs of fictionality themselves calling attention to the nature of the relationship between literature and materiality Volpp examines a series of objects a robe a box and a shell a telescope a plate glass mirror and a painting drawn from the canonical works frequently mined for information about late imperial material culture including the novels The Plum in the Golden Vase and The Story of the Stone as well as the short fiction of Feng Menglong Ling Mengchu and Li Yu She argues that although fictional objects invite readers to think of them as illustrative in fact inconsistent and discontinuous representation disconnects the literary object from potential historical analogues The historical resonances of literary objects illuminate the rhetorical strategies of individual works of fiction and more broadly conceptions of fictionality in the Ming and Qing Rather than offering a transparent lens on the past fictional objects train the reader to be aware of the fallibility of perception A deeply insightful analysis of late Ming and Qing texts and reading practices The Substance of Fiction has important implications for Chinese literary studies history and art history as well as the material turn in the humanities

Fairy Tales, Myth, and Psychoanalytic Theory Veronica L. Schanoes,2016-04-15 At the same time that 1970s feminist psychoanalytic theorists like Jean Baker Miller and Nancy Chodorow were challenging earlier models that assumed the masculine psyche as the norm for human development and mental emotional health writers such as Anne Sexton Olga Broumass and Angela Carter were embarked on their own revisionist project to breathe new life into fairy tales and classical myths based on traditional gender roles Similarly in the 1990s second wave feminist clinicians continued the work begun by Chodorow and Miller while writers of fantasy that include Terry Windling Tanith Lee Terry Pratchett and Catherynne M Valente took their inspiration from revisionist authors of the 1970s As Schanoes shows these two decades were both particularly fruitful eras for artists and psychoanalytic theorists concerned with issues related to the development of women s sense of self Putting aside the limitations of both strains of feminist psychoanalytic theory their influence is undeniable Schanoes s book posits a new model for understanding both feminist psychoanalytic theory and feminist retellings one that emphasizes the interdependence of theory and art and challenges the notion that literary revision involves a masculinist struggle with the writer s artistic forbearers
