Nadja In Paradise:

Nadja in Paradise Barry Gifford, 1984 American Falls Barry Gifford, 2011-01-04 American Falls is the first major collection of short stories from Barry Gifford master of the dark side of the American reality These stories range widely in style and period from the 1950s to the present from absurdist exercises to romantic tales from stories about childhood innocence to novellas of murder and revenge In the title story a Japanese American motel operator chooses not give up a total stranger a black man wanted for murder when the police come searching for him In Room 584 The Starr Hotel a man rants his outrage at an amorous couple in the room next door before he himself is arrested for having committed multiple murders The Unspoken recounts the confessions of a man without a mouth who tells about the woman who loved him And in this collection s longest fiction a novella called The Lonely and the Lost a small town s talented and colorful inhabitants solve their problems as best they can until it comes time for the devil to reap what they have sown Dark and light intermix in masterful chiaroscuro dark becoming light light revealing sinister or brooding complexity No simple endings only happy beginnings The Beribboned Bomb Robert James Belton, 1995 Surrealism was ostensibly directed at the emancipation of the human spirit but it represented only male aspirations and fantasies until a number of women artists began to redefine its agenda in the later 1930s This book addresses the former using a thick description of the historically specific circumstances which required the male Surrealists to manufacture a sexual reputation of narcissism and misogyny These circumstances were determined by hegemonic masculinity an ideological construct which had little to do with individual masculinities In male Surrealism the beribboned bomb signified something both attractive and volatile a specific instance of the Surrealist principle of convulsive beauty In hegemonic masculinity similar devices served as metaphors of the sexuality all men were supposed to possess The intersection of these two axes produced an imagery of unrepentant violence From Paris to Tlön Delia Ungureanu, 2017-11-02 Best International Debut in 2017 awarded by Romanian General and Comparative Literature Association Most Prestigious Publication in the Humanities awarded by the Senate of the University of Bucharest Surrealism began as a movement in poetry and visual art but it turned out to have its widest impact worldwide in fiction including in major world writers who denied any connection to surrealism at all At the heart of this book are discoveries Delia Ungureanu has made in the archives of Harvard s Widener and Houghton libraries where she has found that Jorge Luis Borges and Vladimir Nabokov were greatly indebted to surrealism for the creation of the pivotal characters who brought them world fame Pierre Menard and Lolita In From Paris to Tlön Surrealism as World Literature Ungureanu explores the networks of transmission and transformation that turned an avant garde Parisian movement into a global literary phenomenon From Paris to Tlön gives a fresh account of surrealism s surprising success exploring the process of artistic transfer by which the surrealist object rapidly evolved from a purely poetic conception to a mainstay of surrealist visual art and then a key element in late modernist and postmodern fiction from Borges and Nabokov to such disparate writers as

Gifford, 2000 Presents a piquant collection of short stories with a continental flavour Psychogeography Merlin Coverley, 2010-10-01 The term psychogeography is used to illustrate a bewildering array of ideas from ley lines and the occult to urban walking and political radicalism where does it come from and what exactly does it mean Psychogeography is the point where psychology and geography meet in assessing the emotional and behavioral impact of urban space The relationship between a city and its inhabitants is measured firstly through an imaginative and literary response secondly on foot through walking the city This creates a tradition of the writer as walker and has both a literary and a political component

This guide examines the origins of psychogeography in the Situationist Movement of the 1950s exploring the theoretical background and its political applications as well as the work of early practitioners such as Guy Debord and Raoul Vaneigem Elsewhere psychogeographic ideas continue to find retrospective validation in much earlier traditions from the visionary writing of William Blake and Thomas De Quincey to the rise of the fl neur on the streets of 19th century Paris and on through the avant garde experimentation of the Surrealists These precursors are discussed here alongside their modern counterparts for today these ideas hold greater currency than ever through the popularity of writers and filmmakers such as Iain Sinclair and Peter Ackroyd Stewart Home and Patrick Keiller This guide offers both an explanation and definition of the terms involved an analysis of the key figures and their work and practical information on psychogeographical groups and organizations

Reimagining Life Raihan Kadri, 2011-06-07 In Reimagining Life Raihan Kadri presents a pioneering critical history of the epistemological and theoretical origins of the Surrealist movement and its subsequent legacy The book contains extensive examination and new interpretations of the oft neglected theoretical writing of Surrealists such as Louis Aragon Antonin Artaud Andr Breton and Salvador Dal in order to demonstrate how Surrealism embodied a sensibility connected to a broader lineage of philosophical pessimism involving such figures as Friedrich Nietzsche Karl Marx and Arthur Rimbaud which Kadri argues represents a particular strain of modernism aimed at breaking human thought away from the constraint of various forms of idealism expanding the possibilities for knowledge and human freedom This innovative wide ranging study deftly traverses fields of art politics philosophy psychology and literature Reimagining Life redefines Surrealism's place in modern intellectual history and offers a new vision of how Surrealist discourse can be connected to contemporary debates in cultural critical and theoretical studies

New Lives Ingo Schulze, 2008-10-21 In his long awaited new novel renowned German author Ingo Schulze provides a rich and nuanced panorama of a world in transition East Germany January 1990 Enrico T rmer man of the theater aspiring novelist has turned his back on the art world and joined a startup newspaper Before long the former aesthete and rebel becomes obsessed with personal gain and in a series of letters to his sister a friend and a would be lover Enrico vividly muses on his capitalist ventures and latent worldly ambitions As Schulze peels away the layers of Enrico's previous existence his antihero's reinvention comes to embody all the questionable aspects not only of life in the old Germany but of life in the Germany just taking form

The Screen in Surrealist Art and Thought Haim Finkelstein, 2017-07-05 An interrogation of the notion of space in Surrealist theory and philosophy this study analyzes the manifestations of space in the paintings and writings done in the framework of the Surrealist Movement Haim Finkelstein introduces the screen as an important spatial paradigm that clarifies and extends the understanding of Surrealism as it unfolds in the 1920s exploring the screen and layered depth as fundamental structuring principles associated with the representation of the mental space and of the internal processes that eventually came to be linked with the Surrealist concept of psychic automatism Extending the discussion of the concepts at stake for Surrealist visual art into the context of film literature and criticism this study sheds new light on the way film thinking permeates Surrealist thought and aesthetics In early chapters Finkelstein looks at the concept of the screen as emblematic of a strand of spatial apprehension that informs the work of young writers in the 1920s such as Robert Desnos and Louis Aragon He goes on to explore the way the spatial character of the serial films of Louis Feuillade intimated to the Surrealists a related mode of vision associated with perception of the mystery and the Marvelous lurking behind the surfaces of quotidian reality The dialectics informing Surrealist thought with regard to the surfaces of the real with walls doors and windows as controlling images are shown to be at the basis of Andr Breton's notion of the picture as a window Contrary to the traditional sense of this metaphor Breton's window is informed by the screen paradigm with its surface serving as a locus of a dialectics of transparency and opacity permeability and reflectivity The main aesthetic and conceptual issues that come up in the consideration of Breton's window metaphor lay the groundwork for an analysis of the work of Giorgio de Chirico Ren Aigrille Max Ernst Andr Breton and Joan Miró he concluding chapter considers

Ludics in Surrealist Theatre and Beyond Vassiliki Rapti, 2016-05-13 Taking as its point of departure the complex question about whether Surrealist theatre exists this book re-examines the much misunderstood artistic medium of theatre within Surrealism especially when compared to poetry and painting This study reconsiders Surrealist theatre specifically from the perspective of ludics a poetics of play and games an ideal approach to the Surrealists whose games blur the boundaries between the playful and the serious Vassiliki Rapti's aims are threefold first to demystify Andr Breton's controversial attitude toward theatre second to do justice to Surrealist theatre by highlighting the unique character that derives from its inherent element of play and finally to trace the impact of Surrealist theatre in areas far beyond its generally acknowledged influence on the Theatre of the Absurd an impact being felt even on the contemporary world stage Beginning with the Surrealists one into another game and its illustration of Breton s ludic dramatic theory Rapti then examines the traces of this kind of game in the works of a wide variety of Surrealist and Post Surrealist playwrights and stage directors from several different countries and from the 1920s to the present Roger Vitrac Antonin Artaud G nter Berghaus Nanos Valaoritis Robert Wilson and Megan Terry
