 social construction of wellness and illness It is intended for scholars and advanced students in health communication and applied health disciplines      Surfacing the Politics of Desire Rajeshwari S. Vallury, 2008-08-09 A particular model of masculine desire has traditionally been evoked in an effort to understand the subordinate role of women in male authored fiction Because of this the belief that male authored texts are unfailingly built upon the denial of feminine difference has come to dominate many aspects of literary studies Surfacing the Politics of Desire re examines the myths of masculine desire in order to challenge this premise placing literature at the centre of recent feminist debates over the ontology and politics of sexual difference Citing examples of textual resistance to analytical feminist thought Rajeshwari S Vallury argues that literature is expressive of desires that are not always configured in terms of oppression or the denial of difference. In other words, a particular politics of reading obscures the multiplicity of desire that literature is capable of affirming and risks sacrificing the possibilities of both literature and desire. Through a re-evaluation of the sexual politics practiced by nineteenth-century male writers such as Balzac, Gautier, and Maupassant, Vallury moves towards a reconfiguration of the relationship between aesthetics and politics. Surfacing the Politics of Desire calls into question dominant feminist approaches to the literary representation of gender. Enlisting the philosophy of Deleuze and Guattari, Vallury calls for a different method of reading, one based on a deeper understanding of the politics of literature. Form and Foreskin A. W. Strouse, 2021-04-13

Why did Saint Augustine ask God to circumcise his lips? Why does Sir Gawain cut off the Green Knight's head on the Feast of the Circumcision? Is Chaucer's Wife of Bath actually an early glossator, figuring her a foreskin? And why did Ezra Pound claim that he had incubated The Waste Land inside of his uncut member? In this little book, A. W. Strouse excavates a poetics of the foreskin, uncovering how Patristic theologies of circumcision came to structure medieval European literary aesthetics. Following the writings of Saint Paul, circumcision and uncircumcision become key terms for theorizing language, especially the dichotomies between the mere text and its extended exegesis, between brevity and longwindedness, between wisdom and folly. Form and Foreskin looks to three works: a peculiar story by Saint Augustine about a boy with the long foreskin, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, and Chaucer's Wife of Bath's Tale. By examining literary scenes of cutting and stretching, Strouse exposes how Patristic treatments of circumcision queerly govern medieval poetics. Dancing Women Usha Iyer, 2020

Dancing Women: Choreographing Corporeal Histories of Hindi Cinema is an ambitious study of two of South Asia's most popular cultural forms: cinema and dance. It historicizes and theorizes the material and cultural production of film dance, a staple attraction of popular Hindi cinema. It explores how the dynamic figurations of the body wrought by cinematic dance forms from the 1930s to the 1990s produce unique constructions of gender, sexuality, stardom, and spectacle. By charting discursive shifts through figurations of dancer-actresses, their publicly performed movements, private training, and the cinematic and extra-diegetic narratives woven around their dancing bodies, the book considers the women's question via new mobilities: corporeality realized by dancing women. Some of the central figures animating this corporeal history are Azurie Sadhona Bose, Vyjayanthimala, Helen Waheeda, Rehman, Madhuri Dixit, and Saroj Khan, whose performance histories fold and intersect with those of other dancing women, including devadasis andtawaifs, Eurasian actresses, oriental dancers, vamps, choreographers, and backup dancers. Through a material history of the labor of producing on-screen dance, theoretical frameworks that emphasize collaboration, such as the choreomusicking body and dance musicalization, aesthetic approaches to embodiment, drawing on treatises like the Natya Sastra and the Abhinaya Darpana, and formal analyses of cine-choreographic techno-spectacles, Dancing Women offers a variegated, textured history of cinema dance and music. Tracing the gestural genealogies of film dance produces a very different narrative of Bombay cinema and indeed of South Asian cultural

Between Philosophy and History

Haskell Fain, 2015-03-08 This work provides a welcome antidote to some of the distortions and biases which the two dominant schools of Anglo-American philosophical thinking, logical positivism and ordinary language analysis, have introduced into the philosophy of history in the past three or four decades In particular it challenges two powerful stereotypes that philosophy and history are conceptually independent of each other and that there exists a sharp division between analytical, reputable and speculative, disreputable philosophy of history By offering and defending his own conception of philosophy, the author seeks to show that there is indeed common ground between philosophy and history that speculative philosophy of history lies between philosophy and history not because it is neither philosophy nor history but because it is both philosophy and history Originally published in 1970, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve
