Narratives Adventures Of Travellers In:

Narratives and adventures of travellers in Africa ... With a map and numerous illustrations Charles WILLIAMS (Compiler.),1859     Narratives and Adventures of Travellers in Africa Charles Williams,1992     Perilous Adventures, and Thrilling Incidents and Narratives of Travellers in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America in Various Periods of History John Frost,1852     The Great Lone Land: A Narrative of Travel and Adventure in the North-West of America W. F. Butler,2025-08-22 Reprint of the original first published in 1875 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage     Personal Narrative of Military Travel and Adventure in Turkey and Persia Robert Macdonald (ex-sergeant, rifle brigade.),1859     Adventure Narratives in the Early Soviet Union Riccardo Nicolosi,Brigitte Obermayr,2024-11-12 In the early 1920s Soviet writers and literary theorists were convinced that adventure fiction held the key to developing a new kind of narrative The call for a Russian Stevenson Lev Lunts profoundly impacted the theory of prose and different notions of the literary hero It also led theorists like Shklovsky to write dime novels and convinced writers of various backgrounds to explore Soviet topography in a new light harnessing the synergies between imperialism and adventure Despite the inherently anarchist nature of adventure and its bourgeois offspring the magic of adventure found its way into socialist realism under different guises demanding recognition and resisting neglect especially in the case of socialist realist film This book offers a critical historical reconstruction of the early Soviet adventure craze and its lasting popularity in socialist realism It also offers innovative theoretical propositions for a philological analysis of adventure fiction that arise from this unique historical context     Britain and the Narration of Travel in the Nineteenth Century Kate Hill,2017-05-15 Interrogating the multiple ways in which travel was narrated and mediated by and in response to nineteenth century British travelers this interdisciplinary collection examines to what extent these accounts drew on and developed existing tropes of travel The three sections take up personal and intimate narratives that were not necessarily designed for public consumption tales intended for a popular audience and accounts that were more clearly linked with discourses and institutions of power such as imperial processes of conquest and governance Some narratives focus on the things the travelers carried such as souvenirs from the battlefields of Britain s imperial wars while others show the complexity of Victorian dreams of the exotic Still others offer a disapproving glimpse of Victorian mores through the eyes of indigenous peoples in contrast to the imperialist vision of British explorers Swiss hotel registers guest books and guidebooks offer insights into the history of tourism while new photographic technologies the development of the telegraph system and train travel transformed the visual audial and even the conjugal experience of travel The contributors attend to issues of gender and ethnicity in essays on women travelers South African travel narratives and accounts of China during the Opium Wars and analyze the influence of fictional travel narratives Taken together these essays show how these multiple narratives circulated cross fertilised and reacted to one another to produce new narratives new objects and new modes of travel

A Narrative Community Chaim Noy,2007 An intertextual examination of the storytelling of Israeli backpackers that analyzes their unique patterns of communication to create a thorough picture of this narrative community Backpacking or Tarmila ut has been a time honored rite of passage for young Israelis for decades Shortly after completing their mandatory military service young people set off on extensive backpacking trips to exotic and authentic destinations in so called Third World regions in India Nepal and Thailand in Asia and also Colombia Ecuador Peru Brazil Chile and Argentina in Central and South America Chaim Noy collects the words and stories of Israeli backpackers to explore the lively interplay of quotations constructed dialogues and social voices in the backpackers stories and examine the crucial role they play in creating a vibrant voiced community A Narrative Community illustrates how against the peaks of Mt Everest avalanches and Incan cities the travelers storytelling becomes an inherently social drama of shared knowledge values hierarchy and aesthetics Based on forty five in depth narrative interviews the research in this book examines how identities and a sense of belonging emerge on different social levels the individual the group and the collective through voices that evoke both the familiar and the Other In addition A Narrative Community makes a significant contribution to modern tourism literature by exploring the sociolinguistic dimension related to tourists accounts and particularly the transformation of self that occurs with the experience of travel In particular it addresses the interpersonal persuasion that travelers use in their stories to convince others to join in the ritual of backpacking by stressing the personal development that they have gained through their journeys This volume is groundbreaking in its dialogical conceptualization of the interview as a site of cultural manifestation innovation and power relations The methods employed which include qualitative sampling and interviewing clearly demonstrate ways of negotiating manifesting and embodying speech performances Because of its unique interdisciplinary nature A Narrative Community will be of interest to sociolinguists folklore scholars performance studies scholars tourism scholars and those interested in social discourses in Israel
