their own language culture and traditions This unique collection by Euchee citizen Gregory H Bigler combines traditional di ile Euchee tales personal recollections and contemporary stories to portray a way of life often hidden from view Written in an engaging down to earth style the stories in this book immerse the reader in the everyday experiences of the Euchee community With his gift for storytelling Bigler welcomes readers into the lives and culture of the people whose stories he has heard or observed throughout his life and career as a lawyer and judge Unforgettable characters appear or reappear in various settings and these figures whether animal or human are bound to bring forth a chuckle or leave the reader wanting to learn more about their history Some of the tales address serious legal injustices while others poke gentle fun at lofty academic constructs In the title story for example the mischievous character Shajwane Rabbit resolves to decolonize the forest to strip away its false narrative by literally removing all new growth from the trees These stories bring to life Euchee traditions that include family ties the stomp dance and communal cooking and feasting Woven throughout is the sacred element of spirit As Bigler explains in his introduction the spiritual for Eucheese signifies not a Western quest for peace or centeredness but a world filled with animate spirits that interact with all of us as we see them feel them or seek them out The Euchee people are unknown to most Americans They inhabit a small area southwest of Tulsa and have yet to receive federal recognition Yet even in their modern day lives as these stories capture so beautifully the Euchee people remain fiercely determined to show they are still here
