

Race and college admission

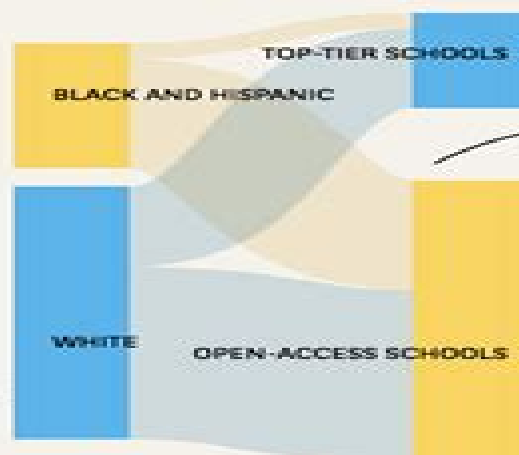

The Justice and Education departments jointly announced this week that they had rescinded Obama-era guidelines encouraging colleges to racially diversify their campuses.

Many critics of using race in admissions say it discriminates against whites. Here are some facts about who is admitted to, enrolls in and graduates from colleges and universities:

Enrollment rates among white 18- to 24-year-olds surpass those of black and Hispanic peers.¹

Black and Hispanic students are concentrated at less-selective (and lower-funded) community colleges and four-year schools. The selective top-tier schools are mostly white and Asian.²

Per student spending at those selective schools is higher than at the open-access institutions, and graduates earn over $2 MILLION more in their lifetimes.³

2-5X

Nonwhite students have barely increased their share of the student body at top-tier schools.²

Black students take on debt more often.¹

More white students finish a four-year degree within six years.³

For black students with a 3.5 GPA or better, nearly ONE-THIRD go to community college. 22 PERCENT of white students with similar grades do.³

White Americans 25 and older hold bachelor's degrees at higher rates than black and Hispanic Americans.¹
