Race, Religion, Region Fay Botham, Sara M. Patterson, 2022-08-23 Racial and religious groups have played a key role in shaping the American West yet scholars have for the most part ignored how race and religion have influenced regional identity In this collection eleven contributors explore the intersections of race religion and region to show how they transformed the West From the Punjabi Mexican Americans of California to the European American shamans of Arizona to the Mexican Chinese of the borderlands historical meanings of race in the American West are complex and are further complicated by religious identities This book moves beyond familiar stereotypes to achieve a more nuanced understanding of race while also showing how ethnicity formed in conjunction with religious and regional identity The chapters demonstrate how religion shaped cultural encounters contributed to the construction of racial identities and served as a motivating factor in the lives of historical actors The opening chapters document how religion fostered community in Los Angeles in the first half of the twentieth century The second section examines how physical encounters such as those involving Chinese immigrants Hermanos Penitentes and Pueblo dancers shaped religious and racial encounters in the West The final essays investigate racial and religious identity among the Latter day Saints and southern California Muslims As these contributions clearly show race religion and region are as critical as gender sexuality and class in understanding the melting pot that is the West By depicting the West as a unique site for understanding race and religion they open a new window on how we view all of America

Race and the Politics of Solidarity Juliet Hooker,2009-02-03 Solidarity the reciprocal relations of trust and obligation between citizens that are essential for a thriving polity is a basic goal of all political communities Yet it is extremely difficult to achieve especially in multiracial societies In an era of increasing global migration and democratization that issue is more pressing than perhaps ever before In the past few decades racial diversity and the problems of justice that often accompany it have risen dramatically throughout the world It features prominently nearly everywhere from the United States where it has been a perennial social and political problem to Europe which has experienced an unprecedented influx of Muslim and African immigrants to Latin America where the rise of vocal black and indigenous movements has brought the question to the fore Political theorists have long wrestled with the topic of political solidarity but they have not had much to say about the impact of race on such solidarity except to claim that what is necessary is to move beyond race The prevailing approach has been How can a multicultural and multiracial polity with all of the different allegiances inherent in it be transformed into a unified liberal one Juliet Hooker flips this question around In multiracial and multicultural societies she argues the practice of political solidarity has been indelibly shaped by the social fact of race The starting point should thus be the existence of racialized solidarity itself How can we create political solidarity when racial and cultural diversity are more or less permanent Unlike the tendency to claim that the best way to deal with the problem of racism is to abandon the concept of race altogether Hooker stresses the importance of coming to terms with racial injustice and explores the role that it plays in both the United States and Latin America Coming to terms with the lasting power of racial identity she contends is the starting point for any political project attempting to achieve solidarity

The regional travel guide for Lezayre (Isle of Man) ,2025-09-24 The Arms Race in Asia Andrew T.H. Tan,2013-12-13

This book is the first systematic examination of the emerging arms race in Asia The global trade in arms is to a large degree underpinned by the strong demand for arms in Asia and the Middle East the two largest arms export markets in the world Of these two regions Asia has become particularly significant led by the emergence of China and India as major powers It is therefore not surprising that the rapid military modernisation in Asia accompanied by significant increases in the size and sophistication of armed forces has generated attention as to its trends key characteristics causes and implications This phenomenon which has become evident since the end of the Cold War has also been widely described as an Asian arms race This book evaluates the key conceptual ideas which can shed light on this phenomenon as well as examining the complex mix of internal external and technological factors that have led to its emergence The volume explores the way in which the arms race is leading ultimately to three distinctive blocs in the emerging geostrategic landscape a loose bloc of US allies in the region a counter bloc of potential US adversaries and a neutral bloc of states with industrial age armed forces whose allegiances will vary according to circumstances and geostrategic developments The Arms Race in Asia concludes that if the emerging arms race is left unchecked it is likely that Asia will increasingly become a region of instability marked by conflicts and interstate wars The book will be of great interest to students of Asian politics strategic studies defence studies security studies and IR in general Contemporary Issues in Urban and Regional Economics Lawrence Yee,2005 If all politics are local then all economics are regional and local Globalisation for all its mystery and so called inevitability has its foundations and bloodlines in urban and regional economics The economic impacts of poverty housing transportation education and crime are included This new book includes within its scope multiplier and impact analysis input output models growth theory migration urban and regional labour markets urban and regional public policy regional devolution small firms policy and foreign direct investment LA Sports Wayne Wilson,David K.
