Paradigm Debates in Curriculum and Supervision Linda Behar-Horenstein, Jeffrey Glanz, 2000-01-30 Paradigm debates in the educational research community are a frequent if not common occurrence How do paradigm debates in other educational fields such as curriculum and supervision shape educators understanding and practice In this volume it is suggested that educators adherence to particular views of curriculum and supervision is influential in guiding their beliefs and subsequent actions For example a widely accepted belief is that if an individual adopts a mechanistic view of the curriculum then s he is likely to deliver a curriculum grounded in pre established objectives and evaluate student achievement in relationship to formulated objectives Postmodernists contend that such educators are bound by rigid bifurcation and a constrictive linear logic In supervision educational leaders who favor leadership styles comprised by autocratic behaviors tend to create school climates that favor a top down approach to human relationships Autocratic leaders rely on hierarchical organizational structures and styles that seek to instill compliance and subordination Yet prospective administrators who want concrete proposals put in practice find modern perspectives of supervision helpful In contrast postmodern supervisors allege that such leaders disallow the emergence of relevant and authentic relationships that might occur when conventional hierarchical structures are diminished and open lines of communication between teachers students administrators become normative The chapters in this book present an in depth analysis of how an individual s predisposition towards modern and postmodern views of curriculum and supervision are likely to influence 1 curriculum development 2 teaching styles 3 leadership styles 4 teacher and student evaluation and 5 the missions intrinsic to the creation of professional preparation programs that serve to promulgate existing practice or create a new order of teachers and administrator

McKinney, 2009-01-13 This comprehensive longitudinal analysis of arts in education initiatives based on the A School Program discusses the political fiscal and curricular implications inherent in taking the arts seriously and offers a model for implementation and evaluation that can be widely adapted in other schools and school districts

New Developments in Combustion Research William J. Carey, 2006 Combustion or burning is an exothermic reaction between a substance and a gas to release heat Combustion normally occurs in oxygen often in the form of gaseous O₂ to form oxides However combustion can also take place in other gases like chlorine The products of such reactions usually include water H₂O as well as carbon monoxide CO or carbon dioxide CO₂ or both Other by products such as partially reacted fuel and elemental carbon C may generate visible smoke and soot This book presents leading research from around the world in this frontal field

Managing to Change Thomas Hatch, 2015-04-18 This book shows how school improvement efforts are often undermined by the changing conditions around schools as well as by some of the very policies and programs designed to help them make improvements Hatch argues that schools cannot wait around for conditions to improve or policymakers to figure out how to provide the right support Schools need to create the conditions for their own success To help them accomplish that the A01thor describes a small set of key practices that schools can use to get resources manage external demands and build their capacity to make and sustain improvements over time Holding Accountability Accountable Kenneth A.

Sirotnik,2004 Kenneth Sirotnik asserts that however well intentioned past and current accountability practices in public education are miseducative misdirected and misanthropic In this provocative book well respected educators join Sirotnik to provide critical analyses and sophisticated perspectives on prevailing high stakes accountability practices They offer both conceptual and practical foundations for rethinking what it means to act responsibly when it comes to calling our schools school systems educators and students into account The Power of Protocols Joseph P. Bernath,2013-03-01 The rushed development of information and communication technologies and their impact on the world of learning in the last decade have profoundly changed the paradigms scenarios and values at all levels of education The professionalization of tools and practices in addition to the consolidation of academic and practical knowledge has been a major continuing issue throughout these years The annual conferences of the largest European professional community in distance and e learning have been setting the landmarks in this process The selection from this unique knowledge pool demonstrates the deepening and consolidation of knowledge and experience This book presents the developments in the field of open distance and e learning through new technologies methodologies and tools which have profoundly changed the paradigms scenarios and values at all levels of education over the last decade Resources in Education ,2001-04

Learning to Learn Ruth Deakin Crick,CRISTINA STRINGHER,Kai Ren,2014-04-28 Learning to Learn provides a much needed overview and international guide to the field of learning to learn from a multidisciplinary lifelong and lifewide perspective A wealth of research has been flourishing on this key educational goal in recent years Internationally it is considered to be one of the key competencies needed to compete in the global economy but also a crucial factor for individual and social well being This book draws on leading international contributors to provide a cutting edge overview of current thinking on learning to learn research policy and implementation in both formal and informal learning environments But what learning to learn is exactly and what its constituting elements are are much debated issues These seem to be the crucial questions if assessment and development of this malleable side of intelligence are to be accomplished The approach of this volume is to consider a broad conception of learning to learn not confined to only study strategies or metacognition yet acknowledging the importance of such elements The book sets out to answer five main questions What is learning to learn What are its functions and how do we assess it What does it promise to the individual and society at large How is it conceived in national curricula internationally How can it be developed in a variety of contexts The text is organized into two parts the first addresses the core question of the nature of learning to learn from a theoretical and policy viewpoint and the second presents recent research carried out in several educational systems with special attention to assessment and curriculum It gives an account of pedagogical practices of learning to learn and its role in individual empowerment from childhood to adulthood Contributors also highlight the potential use of learning to learn as an organizing concept for lifelong learning school improvement and teacher training along with potential conflicts with existing incentive practices and policies This book is a vital starting point and guide for any advanced student or researcher looking to understand this important area of research

The Implementation of Inclusive Education in Beijing Kai Yu, 2014-02-27 The education implementation process in China remains uncharted by researchers The Implementation of Inclusive Education in Beijing Exorcizing the Haunting Specter of Meritocracy puts forth a general theory on China's education programs encompassing policy processes actions and interactions and grounded on the views of street level bureaucrats in China Kai Yu investigates these processes and presents teachers reflections on the change process as well as implementation stories from four Beijing schools He reports on their attitudes their beliefs and their pedagogical practices for implementing the innovative education program Yu argues that the imperatives of meritocratic ideology have undermined the detracking policy and its practice The strength of a program of change rests not so much on the power of the ideas purposes and values as on the reinterpretation of the implementers based on their personal understandings of institution and practice Professional Development Sally J.
