Schools And The Social Development Of Young Australians:

Schools and the Social Development of Young Australians John G. Ainley, 1998 This study was designed to investigate systematically how Australian schools provide for the social development of young people The report presents a picture of the responses of young Australians to questions about how importantly they regard issues concerned with relating to others community well being social rules and conventions how interested they are in continued learning their self confidence and their sense of optimism for the future Resources in Education ,1999 Australian Social Development Clarence Hunter Northcott, 1918 Social and Emotional Learning in Australia and the Asia-Pacific Erica Frydenberg, Andrew J. Martin, Rebecca J. Collie, 2017-03-07 Around the globe there is a growing awareness of the importance of addressing students social and emotional development and wellbeing during schooling Although the bulk of the work in this area has been conducted in North America and Europe there is now a burgeoning interest in this topic in Australia and the wider Asia Pacific This book is the first ever to provide a timely and important collection of diverse perspectives on and approaches to social and emotional learning in the Australian and Asia Pacific context Adopting a broad view of social and emotional learning the book explores positive psychology belonging teachers professional development pre service training and post initial training in Australia and in neighbouring communities such as China Hong Kong Korea Singapore New Zealand Fiji and other Pacific nations Frydenberg Martin and Collie have provided an incredible service by bringing together in a single well planned scholarly volume an incredible and well balanced group of senior and early career cutting edge researchers from Australia Asia and the Asia Pacific area tackling approaches and key issues of social and emotional learning Their much needed volume links research on key factors such as differing perspectives measurement issues the identification of at risk children teachers social and emotional development and these and other across the cultures of an increasingly vibrant and developing geographic region It is indeed encouraging to gain the sense of depth and breadth of ongoing research that the volume gives John Roodenburg PhD FAPS MCEDP MCCOUNSP Monash University Melbourne Social and Emotional Learning is understood to be a crucial part of the school curriculum This book covers the field with a refreshing focus on work being done in Australia and in neighbouring countries For school psychologists the book helps us to understand how SEL can help at every level from working with individuals small groups whole classes or with the entire school Our work with vulnerable students individually or in small groups is always more effective when embedded in the broader context of Social and Emotional Learning Paul Bertoia FAPS MCEDP Senior School Psychologist This collected volume of researchers from Australia and the Asia Pacific provides a thorough review of important educational social and emotional development issues for practitioners and researchers around the world Readers will greatly benefit from the breadth and depth of treatment in each of the topics covered Kit Tai Hau PhD Choh Ming Li Professor of Educational Psychology The Chinese University of Hong Kong The International Handbook of Educational Research in the

Asia-Pacific Region J.P. Keeves, Ryo Watanabe, 2013-11-11 The aim of the Handbook is to present readily accessible but scholarly sources of information about educational research in the Asia Pacific region. The scale and scope of the Handbook is such that the articles included in it provide substantive contributions to knowledge and understanding of education in the Asia region. In so doing, the articles present the problems and issues facing education in the region and the findings of research conducted within the region that contribute to the resolution of these problems and issues. Moreover, since new problems and issues are constantly arising, the articles in the Handbook also indicate the likely directions of future developments. The different articles within the Handbook seek to conceptualize the problems in each specific content area under review, provide an integration of the research conducted within that area, the theoretical basis of the research, the practical implications of the research, and the contribution of the research towards the resolution of the problems identified. Thus, the articles do not involve the reporting of newly conducted research but rather require a synthesis of the research undertaken in a particular area with reference to the research methods employed and the theoretical frameworks on which the research is based. In general, the articles do not advocate a single point of view but rather present alternative points of view and comment on the debate and disagreements associated with the conduct and findings of the research. Furthermore, it should be noted that the Handbook is not concerned with research methodology and only considers the methods employed in inquiry in so far as the particular methods of research contribute to the effective investigation of problems and issues that have arisen in the conduct and provision of education at different levels within the region. Handbook of Australian School Psychology Monica Thielking, Mark D. Terjesen, 2017-01-26 This handbook addresses the current state and practice of school psychology with a focus on standards unique to Australia, including historical, legal, ethical, practical, and training factors. It provides a compilation of the most current research-based practices as well as guidelines for evidence-based assessment and intervention for common conditions, e.g., autism, depression, learning disabilities, and for delivering appropriate services to targeted student populations, e.g., LGBT, gifted, medical issues. Chapters discuss the application of national and international school psychology practices within the Australian educational and psychological structure. The handbook also examines the lack of formal resources specific to Australia's culture and psychology systems with its unique mix of metropolitan cities and the vast geographic landscape that spans regional and remote areas. It offers numerous case studies and innovative school mental health programs as well as recommendations for professional development and advocacy that are unique to Australian school psychology. Topics featured in this Handbook include: Evidence-based assessment and intervention for dyscalculia and mathematical disabilities; Identification and management of adolescent risk-taking behaviors and addictions; Understanding and responding to crisis and trauma in the school setting; Prevention and intervention for bullying in schools; Class and school-wide approaches to addressing behavioral and academic needs; The role of school psychologists in the digital age; Practical advice for school psychologists facing complex ethical dilemmas. Psychology is a must have resource for researchers scientist practitioners and graduate students in child and school psychology social work and related fields that address mental health services for children and adolescents Australia's Health 2012 ,2012 Sport in the Lives of Young Australians Richard Light,Richard Lawrence Light,2008 What does sport mean to young people in Australia How does it affect their social personal moral and physical growth and development What is the relationship between elite level media sport and the range of informal games children play for fun and friendship Can children learn how to play fairly when televised sport shows them that hurting opponents and bending the rules are not only acceptable but celebrated as part of the game Sport in the lives of young Australians offers an informative look into the practice of sport the nature of children s and young people s experiences of it and the significance of this for their development Drawing on original close focus studies conducted in schools and sports clubs in Australia it provides valuable insight into youth sport from the perspective of the children and young people engaged in it Recent advocacy for physical education and sport has highlighted their benefits in the fight against lifestyle diseases but the research presented in this book reminds us not to lose sight of the other ways in which they contribute to the development of young people The book also examines new approaches to teaching and coaching and the possibilities they offer for improving children s experiences of sport and physical education For anyone involved in youth sport from coaches teachers and parents to researchers and policy makers this book will provide invaluable understanding of the place and meaning of sport in the lives of young Australians Provided by publisher A History of Early Childhood Education in Canada, Australia, and New Zealand Larry Prochner,2010-01-01 In the early nineteenth century governments developed kindergartens and infant schools to give children a head start in life These programs hinged on new visions of childhood that originated in England and Europe but what happened when they were transported to the colonies This book unwinds the tangled threads of this history by tracing how Enlightenment thought and Romantic ideas translated into early infant schools in England kindergartens in Germany and the United States and free kindergarten systems in the Commonwealth countries The systems that emerged in Canada Australia and New Zealand maintained the integrity of the ideas and models that inspired them but adapted them to suit local ideas politics and populations This unique account of early childhood education in comparative perspective provides fresh insight into how to reconcile educational theory and practice in an increasingly global world Wong's Nursing Care of Infants and Children Australia and New Zealand Edition - For Professionals Lisa Speedie,Andrea Middleton,2021-11-09 This new text has been adapted from the highly trusted Wong s Nursing Care of Infants and Children to provide a reference for professional nurses working in paediatric and child and family health settings in Australia and New Zealand The content covers all aspects of infant child and adolescent care including anatomy and physiology child and adolescent mental health nursing care guidelines critical thinking family centred care rural and remote health cultural and psychosocial considerations common presenting conditions and therapeutic management With input from leading local expert paediatric clinicians and academics and carefully curated for practising paediatric nurses and nurses newly entering paediatrics the text aligns with local professional standards health policies legal and ethical considerations and population data Well established comprehensive text that focuses on clinical relevance for professional nurses Covers all aspects of infant child and adolescent health through an assessment and management approach Foundational information builds a solid knowledge base in paediatric nursing Written to help nurses develop a deeper understanding of the psychosocial needs of infants children adolescents and their families Case studies and research questions to build critical thinking skills Aligned to National Safety and Quality Health Service NSQHS Standards User friendly accessible content suitable for practising paediatric nurses across a variety of clinical settings and geographic locations

School Dropout and Completion

Stephen Lamb,Eifred Markussen,Richard Teese,Nina Sandberg,John Polesel,2010-11-29 School dropout remains a persistent and critical issue in many school systems so much so that it is sometimes referred to as a crisis Populations across the globe have come to depend on success at school for establishing careers and gaining access to post school qualifications Yet large numbers of young people are excluded from the advantages that successful completion of school brings and as a result are subjected to consequences such as higher likelihood of unemployment lower earnings greater dependence on welfare and poorer physical health and well being Over recent decades most western nations have stepped up their efforts to reduce drop out and raise school completion rates while maintaining high standards How school systems have approached this and how successful they are varies This book compares the various approaches by evaluating their impact on rates of dropout and completion Case studies of national systems are used to highlight the different approaches including institutional arrangements and the various alternative secondary school programs and their outcomes The evaluation is based on several key questions What are the main approaches How do they work For whom do they work And how successful are they in promoting high rates of completion and equivalent outcomes for all This book examines the nature of the dropout problem in advanced industrialized countries with the goal of developing a broader international understanding that can feed into public policy to help improve completion rates worldwide

Values Education in Early Childhood Settings

Eva Johansson,Anette Emilson,Anna-Maija Puroila,2018-05-07 This book is about values education in early years settings and discusses theory and concepts as well as methodological and empirical perspectives It explores issues such as the kinds of values that are communicated between educators and children and the kind of future citizens we foster in early childhood settings It illustrates by way of cases involving many participants including children educators and researchers who have their roots in diverse contexts and reside in different parts of the world including Australia Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Slovenia and Sweden The book carefully considers the contextualized character of the cases presented yet argues that the questions theories and methodologies emphasized do inform the international debate in manifold ways Communication of values in a broad and diverse sense is central in any pedagogy especially for the youngest children in the educational system Still values education has been neglected as a research field in education in general and particularly in the early years This book addresses this lack of knowledge by scrutinizing various questions about values education in ECEC settings (Re)theorising

More-than-parental Involvement in Early Childhood Education and Care Alicja R. Sadownik,Adrijana Višnjić Jevtić,2023-08-24 This open access book provides a critical thought provoking and stimulating overview of theories applied worldwide to conceptualise collaborations between early childhood education and children s families The book starts with a critical reflection on the colonial undertones of parental involvement PI and acknowledges a strong political will to improve this aspect of early childhood education and care The chapters in the book describe and discuss various theories including the cultural historical wholeness approach Bronfenbrenner s ecology of human development the theory of social capital the theory of collaboration family school partnership models proposed by Epstein and Hornby Bourdieu s social theory the theory of practice architectures the discourse narrative theory and posthumanism By proposing the concept of more than parents the authors aim to embrace both the diversity of intergenerational family configurations and the agency of materiality artifacts and the involvement of more than human actors Investing in Youth: Australia OECD,2016-09-12 As part of the series Investing in Youth this report examines Australia s youth policies in the area of education training social and employment policies focusing mainly on disengaged or at risk youth

A Picture of Australia's Children 2012 Australian Institute of Health and Welfare,2012 This report provides updated data on how Australia s children are faring Statistics are presented against key national indicators of child health development and wellbeing including the Children s Headline Indicators Topics include mortality disability breastfeeding dental health physical activity nutrition early childhood education transition to school literacy and numeracy social and emotional development teenage births birth weight alcohol and tobacco use during pregnancy family functioning family economic situation parental health non parental care neighbourhood safety social capital injuries bullying child abuse violence crime homelessness immunisation and screening child care and child protection Though Australian children are doing well in some areas there is still room for improvement especially for children from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander backgrounds or from socioeconomically disadvantaged areas International

Perspectives on Early Childhood Education and Care Susanne Garvis,Sivanes Phillipson,Heidi Harju-Luukkainen,2018-01-12 The first volume in this Early Childhood Education and Care in the 21st Century International Teaching Family and Policy Perspectives miniseries provides a snapshot of early childhood education and care from 19 different countries around the world The intention is to provide a description for the policy and provision for young children and their families in each of the unique contemporary contexts The selection of countries includes every continent in the world to provide variety across cultures socio economic status location population and other unique factors Some chapters also share the development and history of early childhood in their country including economic and political transitions that lead to changes in early childhood provision and policy The book provides essential takeaways for early childhood educators researchers early childhood organisations policy makers and those interested to know more about early childhood education within an international perspective Understanding Early Childhood Education and Care in Australia Joanne Ailwood,2020-07-16 In order to effectively practise as an early childhood educator it is essential to understand the theories policies and pedagogy that shape the discipline Understanding Early Childhood Education and Care in Australia provides core foundational knowledge that is critical for best practice Part One looks at concepts of childhood and the development of mass education before examining influential theories including developmental psychology sociology feminisms and critical theory Specific approaches are also analysed including Reggio Emilia Montessori Multiple Intelligences and HighScope Part Two focuses on the guiding frameworks and policies in Australia and explores in depth issues affecting Indigenous children and provisions for recognising diversity and the practice of inclusion The final section examines teaching and leadership and considers curriculum pedagogy and assessment building relationships between staff and families the care of babies and infants the environment in which early childhood education takes place and the responsibilities and professional development of teachers This essential reference will ensure pre service teachers develop a sophisticated understanding of how theory underpins effective practice in early childhood education Rethinking Youth Citizenship After the Age of Entitlement Lucas Walsh,Rosalyn Black,2018-03-22 Rethinking Youth Citizenship After the Age of Entitlement provides a primer for exploring hard questions about how young people understand experience and enact their citizenship in uncertain times and about their senses of membership and belonging It examines how familiar modes of exclusion are compounded by punitive youth policies in ways that are concealed by neoliberal discourses It considers the role of key institutions in constructing young people s citizenship and looks at the ways in which some young people are opting out of established enactments of citizenship while creating new ones Critically reflecting on recent scholarly interest in the geographical relational affective and temporal dimensions of young people s experiences of citizenship it also reinvigorates the discussion about citizenship rights and entitlements and what these might mean for young people The book draws on global research and theories of citizenship but has a particular focus on Australia which provides a unique example of a country that has fared well economically yet is mimicking the austerity measures of the United Kingdom and Europe It concludes with an argument for a rethinking of citizenship which recognises young people s rights as citizens and the ways in which these interact with their lived experience at a time that has been characterised as the end of the age of entitlement What is Next in Educational Research? Si Fan,Jill Fielding-Wells,2016-07-08 What is Next in Educational Research enables the reader to peek into research at the forefront of a diverse range of education fields as it is being conducted by beginning researchers The book illustrates the extensive range of research being undertaken in education through a broad range of issues topics and methodologies that will underpin and provoke research well into the future The five sections address a range of topics including issues in design and methodology social integration language education leadership and issues in contemporary education Each chapter makes a valuable contribution to existing educational research and is a testament to the potential of these researchers to lead innovative educational research projects Both higher degree by research students and their supervisors will find this book particularly useful and interesting as it provides examples of quality research higher degree writing illustrates a variety of contemporary methodologies and supports the early publication of student work Gender in Policy and Practice Amanda Datnow, Lea Hubbard, 2013-10-23 This book exposes the complexity of single sex schooling and sheds new light on how gender operates in policy and practice in education The essays collected in this volume cover a wide range of institutions including K 12 and higher education public and private schools and schools in the US and beyond Detailing the educational experiences of both young men and women this collection examines how schooling shapes and is shaped by the social construction of gender in history and in contemporary society
