Permanent Camp George Ellison, 2012-05-22 Walking west of Bryson City North Carolina on July 1 1976 George and Elizabeth Ellison happened upon a magical cove tucked into Great Smoky Mountains National Park It held a small house of many windows a shining creek a tree lined meadow and a pathway into a dark forest They moved in for the summer and never left defying Kephart's notion that all camps are temporary For nearly forty years this secluded spot has been the touchstone of their work as author and artist These interrelated poems narratives renderings notes and paintings form an artistic whole in praise of the outer and inner landscapes within which we all reside The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America Douglas A. Chalmers, Carlos M. Vilas, Katherine Hite, Scott B. Martin, Kerianne Piester, Monique Segarra, 1997-01-30 Against a broader backdrop of globalization and worldwide moves toward political democracy The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America examines the unfolding relationships among social change equity and the democratic representation of the poor in Latin America Recent Latin American governments have turned away from redistributive policies at the same time popular political and social organizations have been generally weakened inequality has increased and the gap between rich and poor has grown Hanging in the balance is the consolidation and the quality of new or would be democracies this volume suggests that governments must find not just short term programmes to alleviate poverty but long term means to ensure the effective integration of the poor into political life The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America bridges the intellectual chasm between on the one hand studies of grassroots politics and on the other explorations of elite politics and formal institution building It will be of interest to students and scholars of contemporary Latin American politics and society and more generally in the vicissitudes of democracy and citizenship in the late twentieth century global system
