temperament would not allow for the unseen imponderable force of spiritual things and even when he mentions the spiritual it is with a sort of tolerant unbelief which scorns to deny the superstitious solace of women weaklings and zealots It was this pervading quality in both character and method which has caused his critics to class him as a disciple of naturalism in fiction However Maupassant's pessimism was not so great that he could not dwell upon scenes of joy but a preacher of hope he never was nor could have been Maupassant led so individual a life was so unnormal in his tastes and ended his career so unusually that common sense decides at once the validity of this one contention his realism was marvellously true in details but less trustworthy in its general results His pictures of incidents were miracles of accuracy his philosophy of life was incomplete morbid and unnatural
