

A Walk with You

By 365PoetryDays.com

I use to call you my knight in shining armor,
For you have rescued my weeping heart in bitter fervor,
My hero in the darkest hours of my loneliness,
And broke the shackles of my melancholic distress.

I've been walking this road for several years,
Passed the curves in the shadow of my fears,
Then you held my hand as I took a step,
And together we danced for a blissful leap.

You held me in your arms like there's no tomorrow,
Your smiles have been the antidote of my sorrows,
No longer afraid to surpass a crossroad's uncertainties,
You taught me to drop off my insecurities.

There must've been someone else better for you,
But you define "ME" as the best one for "You",
No longer "I" but "We" is the promise we formulated,
A perpetual journey together is what we have created.

I look behind not with bitter regrets,
For my feet landed me to your memoirs I dare not forget,
We have reached this path with this love so true,
I'd be glad to walk an extra mile with you.

Wolves Eat Deer Philip Jarrett,2008-11-13 These poems were written over the course of a year I met Megan in August and we fell in love emphasis on the word fell as in losing all sense of balance and toppling head over ass But I was going through a divorce and missed my kids sorely so I broke up with her in the fall I spent the winter of my discontent in a holler in Boone County If you have to be depressed and lonely there is no more suitable place When I finally realized there would be no reconciliation with my ex or reunion with my children I much to my shame but nonetheless heaved a sigh of relief I went back to Megan with a surety in my heart and mind that she was the one I wanted to marry and grow old with Alas my Deer was seeing someone else by then The Wolf And I a grumbling old Bear had to woo her away from him Or as the rather odd title for a book of love poems has it to remind her that Wolves Eat Deer
