Power, Place, and State-Society Relations in Korea Jongwoo Han, 2013-11-26 No book has addressed the simultaneous phenomena of Korea's rapid economic development and its vibrant democratization in a single coherent paradigm The late developmentalist approach emphasizes the strong role of Korea's state and bureaucratic efficiency but does not explain how political development was concurrent with the economic miracles in the Han River modernization and dependence theories also fail to explain the aspect of simultaneity in this phenomenon What these three theories commonly miss is the unique relationship between state and society in Korea's long history of political culture In this book Jongwoo Han takes a holistic approach to understanding these phenomena by examining the state's role in the unprecedented economic development and society's capabilities to resist the state's centralized power Han re-articulates state-society relations through Onuf's social constructivist approach based on three rules of a political community hegemony hierarchy and heteronomy This book expands upon this effort to re-construct the state and society relations in two ways First it produces case studies of the capital city of Hanyang Joseon Dynasty from 1392 to 1910 Kyeongseong Japanese colonial control from 1910 to 1945 and Seoul 1945 current The capital city is analyzed as a container for the major ideologies and ways of thinking that have shaped three important political eras Second it adopts two indigenous thoughts Neo Confucianism and geomancy as sources of the main political and cultural ideologies that shape Korea's state and society relations These sources have never been treated as units of political analysis This book finds that both Neo Confucianism and geomancy over two periods of Hanyang and Kyeongseong are two main contributing factors of the emergence of the developmental state and vibrant democracy in Korea in the Seoul era

Rise of Islamic Political Movements and Parties Esen Kirdis, 2019-05-09 Although regarded as a single community of Islamists Islamic political movements utilise vastly different means to pursue their goals This book examines why some Islamic movements facing the same socio-political structures pursue different political paths while their counterparts in diverse contexts make similar political choices Based on qualitative fieldwork involving personal interviews with Islamic politicians journalists and ideologues conducted both before and after the Arab Spring author Esen KirdiAY draws close comparisons between six Islamic movements in Jordan Morocco and Turkey She analyses how some Islamic movements decide to form a political party to run in elections while their counterparts in the same country reject doing so and instead engage in political activism as a social movement through informal channels More broadly the study demonstrates the role of internal factors ideological priorities and organisational needs in explaining differentiation within Islamic political movements and discusses its effects on democratisation
