Measuring Democracy And Human Rights In Southern Africa Discubion Paper Nordic Africa Institute:

Measuring Democracy and Human Rights in Southern Africa Yul Derek Davids, 2002 Attitudes Among the Youth

African Parliaments M. Salih, 2005-12-10 This book offers in depth analysis of parliamentary development set in a historical context informed by Africa's post 1990s democratic resurgence In particular it illustrates how African parliaments are caught between the twin processes of being part of the machinery of government while exercising the function of holding government accountable

Re-examining Liberation in Namibia Henning Melber, 2003 From 1960 SWAPO of Namibia led the organised and later armed struggle for independence In late 1989 the liberation movement was finally elected to power under United Nations supervision as the legitimate government When the Republic of Namibia was proclaimed on 21 March 1990 the long and bitter struggle for sovereignty came to an end This volume takes stock of emerging trends in the country's political culture since independence The contributions mainly by authors from Namibia and Southern Africa who supported the anti colonial movements critically explore the achievements and shortcomings that have been part of liberation in Namibia Henning Melber was Director of the Namibian Economic Policy Research Unit NEPRU in Windhoek between 1992 and 2000 and has been Research Director at The Nordic Africa Institute since then He coordinates the research project on Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa of which this volume is part

Public Opinion and Interest Group Politics A. Thuynsma, 2012-05-22 In more developed democracies such as the US and Germany interest groups both shape and promote public opinion Regrettably this is not always true in South Africa's nascent system This anthology tries to understand why interest groups do not affect or advance public opinion in South Africa and then suggests how interest groups can redress the situation

Oxford Textbook of Violence Prevention Peter D. Donnelly, Catherine L. Ward, 2015 The Oxford Textbook Violence Prevention brings together an international team of experts to provide an extensive global account of the global mortality and morbidity burden caused by violence through examining the causes of violence and what can be done to prevent and reduce violence

Limits to Liberation in Southern Africa Henning Melber, 2003 The analyses in this collection provide a basis for a debate that is becoming increasingly necessary has the politics of liberation in southern Africa run its course With chapters on Zimbabwe Namibia Lesotho Botswana and South Africa the contributors pose a number of critical questions Why is it that post liberation politics rather than leading to participatory democracy seem to be leading to political oppression and decay Are liberation politics inherently undemocratic or are current tendencies towards authoritarianism an outcome of other forces Is the model of liberal democracy adopted by post liberation societies inherently elitist lending itself to the effective suppression or containment of popular opinions and aspirations

Political Cultures in Democratic South Africa M. Neocosmos, Raymond Suttner, Ian Taylor, 2002 The contributions to this Discussion Paper reflect upon different but related aspects of South African democracy after Apartheid as represented in a variety of social forces institutions and individuals They illustrate that societies in transition have to make sustained efforts to overcome the legacies of the past and that the present reproduces some of the past structural constraints and patterns of power and control in the new framework The contributions were originally presented to a workshop organized in Cape Town in December 2001

Political Opposition in African Countries Karolina Hultström, Amin Y. Kamete, Henning Melber, 2007 This Discussion Paper is another outcome of the Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa project which was coordinated at the Institute between 2001 and 2006 The papers are revised versions of presentations made at the Comparative Sociology Session of the Research Committee at the XVI World Congress of Sociology held at the end of July 2006 in Durban They explore different aspects of the role of opposition parties in several East and Southern African countries which differ according to the socio political determinants

Fault-lines in South African Democracy Fred Hendricks, 2003 The transition from apartheid to democracy in South Africa has raised questions on the one hand about the tension between the imperatives of justice and equality and on the other reconciliation Transforming the decades old apartheid system under conditions of a political compromise has turned out to be a formidable challenge This paper is about the complexity of the transformation process going on in South Africa Although too early for a real assessment of the experiment the tensions dilemmas contradictions paradoxes and some of the changes have already begun to manifest themselves The paper shows how political deals affect the administration of justice and how they impinge upon the nature of democracy often by frustrating efforts to realise social goals in the post authoritarian phase It also raises the fundamental question of the broader necessities for the long term survival of democracy in South Africa

Regulating Mining in Africa Bonnie K. Campbell, 2004 Liberalisation of the mining sector in Africa in the 1980s a developmental perspective II G.K. Hall Interdisciplinary Bibliographic Guide to Black Studies Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, 2003

Development from Below Reinhart Kössler, Henning Melber, Per Strand, 2003 Covers aspects of rebuilding post apartheid society with particular reference to marginalized groups the Nama Outlines the event of the annual Festival at Gibeon commemorating a political manifestation started by Kaptein Hendrik Witbooi in 1930 Following the main paper Reflections on Heroes Day by R Kössler gives the rejoinders The local and the global a comment by P Strand and Nama or Namibian by H Melber

Zimbabwe Suzanne Dansereau, Mario Zamponi, 2005 The two articles are revised versions of papers presented at the end of May 2004 to a Zimbabwe Conference at the Nordic Africa Institute which was co organized by the project Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa LiDeSA They highlight current socio economic aspects of Zimbabwean society By doing so they raise relevant issues yet ones that have tended to be neglected given the almost exclusive concentration on political events While this is understandable the articles fill the gap in our knowledge and add insights into important sectors of society These include information on the Zimbabwean economy and the present constraints of the decline which together help us to understand the structural legacy that any future government will have to deal with What is more the elections in Zimbabwe in 2005 provide an ideal moment to discuss such matters This Discussion Paper will thereby make a substantive contribution to the analysis of the overall picture in Zimbabwe Structural Stability in an African Context Robert Kappel, Andreas Mehler, Henning Melber, 2003

Structural Stability is a particular focus for reconceptualizing developmental strategy and development aid and has provoked unforeseen responses in the course of a recent mainly German debate. This debate began late in 2000 when a number of prominent German scholars in African Studies initiated a policy dialogue through a widely circulated and publicly discussed Afrika Memorandum centred on the notion of structural stability. Its arguments are relevant not only to a German audience but offer stimulating and thought provoking inputs into the debate in the wider European context on bilateral and multilateral relations with Africa. This Discussion Paper presents the revised contributions to a Consultative Workshop on Structural Stability in an African Context that took place at the Nordic Africa Institute in Uppsala on 31 March and 1 April 2003.

Research Outputs of the University of Botswana, 1995-2001 University of Botswana, 2003 Namibia Henning Melber, Sufian Hemed Bukurura, 2003

Bushmen and Diamonds Kenneth Good, 2003

Botswana's democracy is often considered to be a comparatively advanced and positive example of an African state in terms of political culture and the notion of good governance. This paper challenges the assumption that the country's current political and socio-economic system is in fact exemplary. It highlights some of the limitations by focusing on the particular situation of the Bushmen San as a marginalized minority denied citizens' rights and losing out against the material interests accompanying the exploration and exploitation of diamonds, the most lucrative natural resource contributing to Botswana's success story. The author has on previous occasions presented and published related analyses within the research network on Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa LiDeSA which is currently coordinated through the Nordic Africa Institute. This publication is another result of the collaboration within this project.
