Measuring Health Care 1960-1983 Expenditure Costs And Performance Oecd Social Policy Studies:

A system of health accounts 2011 World Health Organization, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, European Union, 2022-01-31      Financing Universal Access To Healthcare: A Comparative Review Of Landmark Legislative Health Reforms In The Oecd Alexander S Preker, 2018-03-20 The recent expansion of health insurance coverage in the USA under the Affordable Health Care Act and current threats to reverse the benefits of this reform have once again focused the world's attention on the difficult challenges faced by other countries trying to provide better access to healthcare to their population at an affordable cost This textbook provides a comparative review of financing universal access to healthcare in the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development OECD countries The first two chapters of the book provide a framework for financing universal access to healthcare The remaining eight chapters present case studies of eight OECD countries that have successfully introduced reforms to finance universal access to healthcare for their population through landmark legislative reforms A concluding chapter focuses on the lessons learned from the OECD and recommendations from policymakers and others who are planning similar reforms The book is designed as a learning tool for students and as a user guide for policymakers      Assessing Health System Performance Proof of Concept for a HSPA Dashboard of Key Indicators OECD, World Health Organization, European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies, 2023-12-12 This report jointly developed by the European Observatory OECD and WHO Europe serves as a proof of concept for a Health Systems Performance Assessment HSPA dashboard HSPA is pivotal for health system transformation providing policymakers with key indicators to identify and address system performance issues This brief represents a step towards more policy friendly dashboards emphasizing the need for a focused set of HSPA indicators aligned with policy goals The brief highlights the alignment and complementarity of the WHO Observatory global HSPA framework and OECD's renewed framework which aid policymakers in navigating health systems with actionable policy relevant indicators These frameworks establish connections between performance indicators health system functions and overarching goals supporting a coherent policy dashboard Tracer indicators like workforce digital health and service delivery outcomes are emphasized as crucial for assessing key policy areas The report underscores the importance of investing in data collection and infrastructure at national and international levels to make HSPA effective It advocates for continuous improvement and collaboration among major international organizations including WHO OECD EU and the Observatory to align methodologies and support informed policy decision making      Medical Sociology: Health care and social change Graham Scambler, 2005      European Integration and Health Policy Panos Minogiannis, 2018-02-06 The impact of European integration on diverse national social policies is still largely unknown While policy decision making remains at the country level there is a strong possibility that indirectly as a result of ideological imperatives and financial constraints policies will change National health policy is a case in point This important volume explores the current and probable effect of European integration on health care protection Will it tend to encourage all European member states to provide equitable and universal access to quality care Or is the European integration process likely to lead to social exclusion of some The high degree of social welfare as a health expectancy holds great significance for decisions in countries like the United States facing similar pressures for expanded coverage In answering these questions Panos Minogiannis examines policies in Greece France Germany and the Netherlands Minogiannis frames his argument through an exploration of the history of the institutionalization of health care Chapter 1 explores the nature of challenges that health care faces in an era of integration and the ways in which these challenges have emerged Chapter 2 discusses centralization of governance in Brussels describing the structure and relations of different European Union institutions and their interactions with member states The final portions of the book through case studies of the Dutch French German and Greek health reforms explore the history of the political development of health care institutions with a particular interest in reform proposals in the last fifteen years Chapter 7 brings together lessons from previous chapters and discusses the dynamics of health policy making in the European Union Minogiannis concludes that health insurance will most likely remain at the member state level as far as politics are concerned at least for the present although policy makers will most likely have to deal with the issue of cross border health more comprehensively than in the past Those interested in comparative policy and in particular health care policy will find this volume highly informative reading Those interested in the impact of European integration will find it provocative Panos Minogiannis is with the Mailman School of Public Health at Columbia University and is a research associate at the Eisenhower Center

Health Expenditures, Services, and Outcomes in Africa, 1999-01-01 In the past 30 years African countries have made remarkable improvements in health conditions and status However they still suffer from some of the worst health conditions in the world This study sets out to make available national level information on health expenditures health service outputs and health outcomes in a way that could assist health planning and policy development in Africa It outlines broad patterns of health spending service delivery mortality fertility and malnutrition in Africa in the early to mid 1990s By also exploring gaps in information available and potential uses of health information the paper intends to stimulate discussion on how better to monitor progress and use information for better health outcomes within and among different African countries The data covered in the study include major macroeconomic indicators such as real GDP rate of GDP growth inflation rate and per capita official development assistance Key social indicators are presented including the level of education and access to safe water and sanitation The detailed data contained in the annex tables from which the analytic results are derived invite readers to make additional analyses of their own

Health Expenditures in Latin America Ramesh Govindaraj, Christopher J. L. Murray, Gnanaraj Chellaraj, 1995-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 274 The preparation of the World Bank's World Development Report 1993 Investing in Health WDR included an effort to assemble internationally comparable statistics on a broad range of health and health system indicators Data had to be compiled from existing sources while analytical efforts were made to improve the quality and comparability of the data This paper presents an expanded and updated version of the WDR estimates of 1990 health expenditures for the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean Whereas the population cut off for inclusion in the WDR was 3 million these tables include almost all countries in the region This update of the expenditures results in a substantial upward revision in the estimated percentage of GNP spent on health in the region in 1990 from 4 to 6%

Theory and Practice of Managed Competition in Health Care Finance A.C. Enthoven, 2014-04-23 These lectures review the research and experience on the subject of health care economy The author also sets down a moderately rigorous statement of the economic concepts underlying the kind of competition that he regards as the most promising way to achieve a reasonable degree of equity and efficiency in health care The first lecture is on the public policy goals of health care financing and delivery and discusses efficiency in health care The second presents an economic analysis of the systems for organizing and financing medical care systems in the United States The third lecture is about managed competition and the fourth reviews American experience with efforts to convert from the traditional system to a competitive system The book is addressed primarily to economists health policy makers and health services researchers It explains how market forces may be managed in pursuit of equity and efficiency in health care It addresses systematically many of the causes of market failure and proposes a strategy managed competition for overcoming them It should be of interest to policy makers in any country interested in incentives for more efficient health care delivery It should also be very useful supplemental reading for courses in health care economics
