Statehood à la Carte in the Caribbean and the Pacific Jack Corbett, 2023-04-15 This book explains how leaders in the Caribbean and Pacific regions balance the autonomy viability dilemma of postcolonial statehood that political self determination is a hollow achievement unless it is accompanied by economic development by practising statehood la carte Previous research has focused on the pursuit of decolonial self determination through and above the nation state via regionalism and internationalism or by creating non sovereign alternatives to it This book looks at how communities have sought the same goals below the state including via secession and devolution Downsizing is typically portrayed as the antithesis of progressive cosmopolitan internationalism and employed as evidence for the claim that the age of anticolonial self determination has ended In this book Jack Corbett shows how these movements are animated by similar ideas and motivations that are rendered viable by the simultaneous pursuit of regional integration and forms of non sovereignty He argues that the la carte pursuit of political and economic independence through above and below the state and via non sovereign alternatives to it is a pragmatic response to the contradictions inherent to coloniality Hong Kong SAR

Monetary and Exchange Rate Challenges C. Economic Reform in China Susan L. Shirk, 2023-04-28 In the past decade China was able to carry out economic reform without political reform while the Soviet Union attempted the opposite strategy How did China succeed at economic market reform without changing communist rule Susan Shirk shows that Chinese communist political institutions are more flexible and less centralized than their Soviet counterparts were Shirk pioneers a rational choice institutional approach to analyze policy making in a non democratic authoritarian country and to explain the history of Chinese market reforms from 1979 to the present Drawing on extensive interviews with high level Chinese officials she pieces together detailed histories of economic reform policy decisions and shows how the political logic of Chinese communist institutions shaped those decisions Combining theoretical ambition with the flavor of on the ground policy making in Beijing this book is a major contribution to the study of reform in China and other communist countries This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1994 In the past decade China was able to carry out economic reform without political reform while the Soviet Union attempted the opposite strategy How did China succeed at economic market reform without changing communist rule Susan Shirk shows that China

An Ethnic Perspective on Economic Reform Erik Andre Andersen, 2018-12-13 First published in 1999 this book has its main emphasis on the consequences of privatisation for the Russian population in Estonia The Book will attempt to answer the following questions by comparing the Estonians and the Russians The process of restoration of the Republic of Estonia which began to move fast in the late 1980 s and culminated with the declaration of national independence in 1991 is seen as an important political factor behind the economic reform in Estonia This reform during the transition period is generally considered to be among the most successful in eastern Europe

Political Power and Colonial Development in British Central Africa 1938-1960s Alan Cousins, 2022-12-30 This book focuses on the late colonial history of Zambia and Malawi which between 1953 and 1963 were part of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland Although there were many links in their history and between their populations the two territories British protectorates under Colonial Office control contrasted greatly in power structures in their economies and in their development Europeans living in Northern Rhodesia with a power base in the mining economy were able to establish a dominant position in the territory after the Second World War By the 1950s it looked as though they would have with Southern Rhodesian Europeans a long hegemony gaining independence from Britain as a new Dominion which would mean control over both Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland through the Federation Thus white ethnicity and ideology are essential factors in this book relating to the struggle for power from just before the Second World War up to the 1960s However crises in 1959 and 1960 led to the collapse of the Federation A second focus is on issues of social and economic development For Africans in Nyasaland and in rural parts of Northern Rhodesia there was a relatively weak economy in this period a pattern of limited cash crop production while many people became caught up in labour migration subordinate to powerful European dominated economic forces within southern Africa This meant that colonial policies aimed at rural development were fundamentally flawed The book also looks at the actual nature of rural economic change as opposed to colonial policies and discusses alternative visions of the future which were put forward. The argument is put that historians have often concentrated on the activities of the main nationalist movements in Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia seeing them as bringing progress away from colonialism and towards independence. Here there is an attempt to draw out the complexities of life and a variety of responses in the colonial situation, progress coming in a number of forms but not always being achieved.

Political Economy of Malaysia's Industrial Policy Firdausi Suffian, 2021-02-22. This book examines the national automotive policy in Malaysia to help readers gain an understanding of the country's industrial policy making processes. Addressing a gap in analysis of the political economy of the national automotive policy, the research presented combines the new institutional theory and the developmental state approach to provide new insights into elite policymakers' measures to shield domestic automotive enterprises from pro-market reforms. The formation of the national car project marks a turning point for Malaysia's industrial development as a country which it envisions will lead to it becoming a major player in the global automotive market. However, the domestic institutional factors embedded in ethno-economic interests and patronage constrain national car makers, limiting their potential to grow and instead causing a slowdown in the industry. Allowing readers to understand the background to Malaysia's heavy industrialisation programme and the birth of its national car projects, this book critically discusses the significance of institutional context in policy outcomes and highlights how institutions and policies have impacted growth or decline. It is a valuable resource relevant to analysts, researchers, and students who are interested in the political economy of the national industrial policy and automotive industry in Malaysia and beyond. The Publishers Weekly, 1972.

Transformative Policy for Poor Women Bina Fernandez, 2016-02-24. What accounts for the oft-noted gap between well-designed policies for women and their inadequate implementation? Why do such policies often fail to benefit the poorest women? How do policies address the intersecting inequalities of gender, class, caste, ethnic identity, and race? What are the conditions under which policy may have transformative potential for poor women? This book answers these questions and many more. Presenting a new feminist framework for policy analysis that can account for policy failures, Bina Fernandez argues that these failures are often predictable and that it is necessary to unpack the actual policy practices within the policy implementation gap. Recognising that policy is a multiply-layered, contingent, and politically contested discursive process, the author proposes the analysis of policy through four analytical categories: Constitutive Contexts, Representations, Practices, and Consequences Within each of these four categories gender class and ethnic identity are central axes of analysis The framework is given substance through an empirical case study of an anti poverty policy in India yet the wider relevance of the framework is validated through a discussion of parallels in the policy contexts of other developing countries Transformative Policy for Poor Women provides an important and required framework to understand the gap between policy pronouncement and its praxis on the ground These features make this book an important read for both scholars and practitioners seeking to understand policy in developing country contexts Teaching & Research Aptitude 92 Sets Vol.02 Solved Papers YCT Expert Team , 2023 24 NTA UGC NET JRF Teaching Research Aptitude 92 Sets Vol 02 Governing for Prosperity Bruce Bueno de Mesquita,Hilton L. Root,2000-07-11 How do political institutions help promote prosperity in some countries and poverty in others What can be done to encourage leaders to govern not for patronage but for economic growth In this book such distinguished political economists as Douglass North Robert Barro and Stephen Haber answer these questions providing a solution to one of the most important policy puzzles of the new century how to govern for prosperity The authors begin from a premise that political leaders are self interested politicians rather than benign agents of the people they lead When leaders depend on only a few backers to stay in power they dole out privileges to those people thereby dissipating their country s total resources and national growth potential On the other hand leaders who need large coalitions to stay in office implement policies that generally foster growth and political competition over ideas The result is that those who promote policies that lead to stagnation tend to stay in office for a long time and those who produce prosperity tend to lose their jobs Analyzing countries in North and South America and Asia the authors discuss the range of political regimes that permit or even encourage leaders to rule by mismanaging their nation s resources And they show that nations must forge institutions that allow all social groups to participate in and benefit from the economy as well as force political leaders to be responsible for policy outcomes Afro-Optimism Ebere Onwudiwe,Minabere Ibelema,2002-12-30 The view that Africa regressed the moment that colonial governments left its shores is widespread This volume is a counterpoint to the orthodoxy Here 13 scholars with specializations ranging from literature and history to philosophy and economics argue that Africa has advanced since colonialism and is poised to march forward in spite of setbacks and disappointments The contributors to the book contend that development is about human beings so they do not rely exclusively on statistical estimates and projections Afro Optimism is a book with a simple thesis Africa is marching forward even if at times haltingly and at a different pace from the rest of the world A common view among journalists and academics alike is that African conditions declined the moment colonial governments left its shores The chapters in this book cover Africa s progress in health agriculture transportation cultural innovation and economic advancement The contributors to the book contend that development is about human beings so they do not rely exclusively on statistical estimates and projections The essays in this book discuss the advances African states have made in spite of and at times because of their experiences of European colonial rule The contributors argue that in all facets of development Africans had to overcome colonial obstacles or had to build on meager colonial foundations Although the authors acknowledge Africa s disappointing performance in various respects they stress throughout that exclusive concentration on African failures creates new and reinforces existing negative perceptions of contemporary Africa The Mechanics of Independence Arthur Napoleon Raymond Robinson,1971 The story of Trinidad and Tobago is presented as a case study of the probable course of events in developing countries around the world External Research United States.
