Social impact of media discourse in the age of ideology. A perspective from the global periphery Martin A. M. Gansinger, 2019-05-23 In the age of ideology in which individual access and participation to technology is about to replace the rich texture of religion culture tradition and political convictions the social impact of media discourse only magnifies This volume is an attempt to explore the influence of ever available communication content on the minds and behavior of a population that has made the permanent and often obsessive use of communication technology a defining element of social orientation Unlike the many accounts that focus on the remarkably redefined patterns in the context of Western society ranging from twittering Presidents to the emerging populist movements all over Europe this volume portrays the situation from the frequently neglected perspective of the global periphery As opposed to simply transfer and measure perspectives taken from a Western point of view the clear intention of this volume is to provide ample space for the sincere and explorative consideration of local characteristics and settings of the different social cultural and political contexts and therefore contribute to providing the ground for future research interested in media communication and discourse Media Studies: The Basics Julian McDougall, 2012-05-31 There have been seismic shifts in what constitutes the media in recent years with technological advances ushering in whole new categories of producers consumers and modes of delivery This has been reflected in the way media is studied with new theories concepts and practices coming to the fore Media Studies The Basics is the ideal guide to this changing landscape and addresses core questions including Who or what is the media What are the key terms and concepts used in analysing media Where have been the impacts of the globalization of media How and by whom is media made in the 21st century Featuring contemporary case studies from around the world a glossary and suggestions for further reading this is the ideal introduction to media studies today Evaluation in Media Discourse Monika Bednarek, 2008-11-01 Evaluation is the linguistic expression of speaker writer opinion and has only recently become the focus of linguistic analysis This book presents the first corpus based account of evaluation one hundred newspaper articles collated to form a 70 000 word comparable corpus drawn from both tabloid and broadsheet media The book provides detailed explanations and justifications of the underlying framework of evaluation as well as demonstrating how this is part of the larger framework of media discourse Unlike many other linguistic analyses of media language it makes frequent reference to the production circumstances of newspaper discourse in particular the so called news values that shape the creation of the news Cutting edge and insightful Evaluation in Media Discourse will be of interest to academics and researchers in corpus linguistics and media discourse Discourses of the Arab Revolutions in Media and Politics Stefanie Ullmann, 2021-08-23 Drawing on approaches from critical discourse analysis corpus linguistics and cognitive linguistics this book critically examines metaphorical language used in global media coverage and political statements on the events of the Arab Spring The volume begins by summarising key events of the Arab Spring tracing the development of protests from Tunisia and Egypt to Libya and Syria as well as the wider impact on the region Ullmann builds on this foundation to lay out the theoretical frameworks to be applied to an extensive corpus of natural language and actual discourse highlighting Western Middle Eastern and North African perspectives which integrate theoretical work on metaphor blending theory and semantic prosodies Methodological considerations on corpus selection and different conceptualisations of politics and mass media generally and across countries are discussed with the final chapters outlining the overarching themes across metaphors in the corpus and how these metaphors were ultimately framed in the mass media and political landscape This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars interested in critical discourse analysis language and politics and corpus linguistics Policy, Media, and the Shaping of Spain-Morocco Relations Farah Ali, 2024-07-20 This book uses sociolinguistic approaches to explore how media discourse on undocumented migration informs Morocco Spain political relations Historically much of the contact between these two nations has been through conquest first through the Umayyad Caliphate taking control of the Iberian Peninsula then called Hispania in the 8th century and then through Spain's occupation of northern Morocco in the 20th century Though these historical roots have undoubtedly played a role in shaping present day Morocco Spain relations migration has also become another critical element as the majority of legally authorized migration to Spain comes from Morocco Additionally Morocco serves as a sojourn for much of the undocumented migration to the Spanish autonomous cities of Ceuta and Melilla both of which are enclaves in Morocco and common entry points for North African and Sub Saharan African immigrants Migration to Ceuta and Melilla has therefore become a flashpoint for anti immigration attitudes that are frequently perpetuated in political and media discourse The author uses these cities as a case study situating them within the wider context of both immigration related policies and news articles in order to examine how migration is represented in Spain and Morocco The book connects media discourse with policy discourse and addresses how these mediums 1 co construct anti immigration and xenophobic ideologies and 2 shape and are shaped by the somewhat strained relations between Spain and Morocco This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Discourse Analysis Sociolinguistics Migration Studies and Migration Policy Media Studies and Political Communication

Renaissance of Classical Allusions in Contemporary Russian Media Svitlana Malykhina, 2014-02-27 Renaissance of Classical Allusions in Contemporary Russian Media builds on a growing body of work concerning post Soviet media culture during the last transformative decade Making sense of the literary allusions in media discourse Svitlana Malykhina reminds us that allusions can serve as a primary marker of identity national and cultural and may also be a way of negotiating the gap between what has to be reported and what can be banned by censorship Malykhina presents the changes and continuities between rhetoric strategies of Soviet style media and postcommunist Russian media identifying the key literary and historical references in public discourse which are then picked up by the media The book analyzes the political cultural and social factors at play in the development and expansion of these allusions in both official and alternative discourses Examining the rise of the Internet which has remained wholly uncensored in Russia Malykhina reveals that the Russian Internet media began to function as alternative mass media Yet the success of the Internet media has also brought complex and unintended consequences Malykhina offers an empirically rich examination of conventional classical allusions in media discourse focusing mainly on the rhetorical techniques by which subversive meanings of these references were generated
