Media Discourses:

Media Discourses Donald Matheson, 2005-09-16 Some of the most important questions regarding the relationship between media and culture are about communication How are the meanings which make up a culture shared in society How is power performed in the media What identities and relationships take shape there Media Discourses introduces readers to discourse analysis to show how media communication works Written in a lively style and drawing on examples from contemporary media it discusses what precisely gets represented in mediatexts who gets to do the talking what knowledge people need to share in order to understand the media and how power relations are reinforced or challenged Each chapter discusses a particular media genre including news advertising reality television and weblogs At the same time each chapter also introduces a range of approaches to media discourse from analysis of linguistic details to the rules of conversation and the discursive construction of selfhood A glossary explains key terms and suggestions for further reading are given at the end of each chapter This is a key text for media studies mass communication communication studies linguistics and journalism studies students

Analysing Media Discourses John E. Richardson, Joseph D. Burridge, 2014-02-25 The continual growth in the significance of mass mediated communication makes it essential that we are able to reflect upon and critically appreciate the semiotic processes that are involved in their impact upon social and cultural life This edited collection showcases a range of diverse approaches to the analysis of various forms of mediated communications including varying degrees of attention to their associated textual discursive and social practices Individual contributions are devoted to exploring in analytical depth multiple dimensions of each of the following media newspaper articles magazines both historical advertising and contemporary editorial discourse television both situation comedy and reality TV programmes books covers and content in two genres political leaflets and a flight simulation computer game The collection will be an important resource for scholars and students within disciplines including communication studies sociology media studies cultural studies discourse studies and journalism studies This book was published as a special issue of Social Semiotics

Multimodal Approaches to Media Discourses Tim Griebel, Stefan Evert, Philipp Heinrich, 2020-08-18 Multimodal Approaches to Media Discourses brings together contributions from an interdisciplinary group of scholars on corpus assisted analyses of multimodal data on austerity discourses in the United Kingdom which extend and expand on the understanding of austerity but also of the methodologies used to analyse multimodal corpora The volume demonstrates how the austerity measures introduced in response to global economic and financial crises in recent years can be viewed as being more complexly layered than they appear not simply reduced to their connections to spending cuts and fiscal debt The book employs an innovative methodological approach in which established and emerging scholars from linguistics and computational and social sciences critically reflect on the exact same set of data multimodal texts and articles from The Guardian and The Daily Telegraph from 2010 to 2016 This framework allows for the exploration of the role of the media in mediating the public's assessment of austerity and the ideas actors emotions geographies and broader material context which contribute to such perceptions In so doing the volume also offers unique insights into systematic analyses to multimodal data which may be applied to other topics and connected with other disciplines Enhancing our awareness and assessment of austerity in public discourse and of the methodologies to study it this book is key reading for students and researchers in discourse analysis corpus linguistics multimodality and those working at the intersection of these fields Islam in British media discourses Laurens de Rooij,2020-05-09 Media reporting on Islam and Muslims commonly relate stories about terrorism violence or the lack of integration with western values and society Yet there is little research into how non Muslims engage with and are affected by these news reports Inspired by the overtly negative coverage of Islam and Muslims by the mainstream press and the increase in Islamophobia across Europe this book explores the influence of these depictions on the thoughts and actions of non Muslims Building on extensive fieldwork interviews and focus groups Laurens de Rooij argues that individuals negotiate media reports to fit their existing outlook on Islam and Muslims Non Muslim responses to these reports de Rooij argues are not only re productions of local and personal contextuality but are co dependent and co productive to the reports themselves

The Representation of REFUGEES and MIGRANTS in European National Media Discourses from 2015 to 2017

Annamária Fábián,2023-05-30 Though the refugee crisis was discussed in many countries e g in Greece Hungary Italy and Spain long before 2015 it began to receive cross European press coverage only after Angela Merkel s statement Wir schaffen das on the August 30th 2015 This data based study focuses on how journalists report on and leading politicians make statements about refugees migrants and asylum seekers in media and frame these humans after Angela Merkels sentence in 2015 until the end of 2017 This volume uses mainly Corpus Linguistics but also Communicative Science for the analysis of labelling strategies and the usage of words collocations and grammar systems used by journalists and politicians in different European countries in comparison This empirical volume pictures language specific variation and change of labels To enable a contrastive study between the press discourses of many European countries every chapter analyses the data consisting of newspaper articles describing the discourse of a particular country including discourses of some transit countries around the borders of the Schengen Area of the European Union which barely have been covered in other studies Representing the Other in European Media Discourses Jan Chovanec,Katarzyna Molek-Kozakowska,2017-11-15 This book deals with the construction of the other in European media at a time when the recently expanded EU is facing new political economic and social challenges The aim of the book is to document the diverse discursive forms of othering ranging from differentiation to discrimination that are directed against various other Europeans in both institutionalized media and such non elite semi public contexts as discussion forums and citizen blogs Drawing on data from British Polish French Czech Italian Hungarian Spanish and Estonian contexts the individual papers investigate how various social groupings regions nations ethnicities communities cultures are discursively constructed as outsiders rather than insiders as them rather than us While most of the papers are grounded in linguistics and critical discourse studies the book will also appeal to numerous other social scientists interested in the interface between language media and social issues

A Cross-Cultural Study of Commercial Media Discourses Wenhui Yang, 2020-10-20 This book decodes commercial news discourses from the perspective of cognitive semantics It attaches considerable importance to the bodily experientialism and linguistic embodiment advocated in discourse analysis and cognitive linguistics and explores the complex yet thought provoking correlation between overt language and covert cognition by focusing on contrastive analyses of metaphors image schemas and stance markers in texts On the basis of the analyses the author discusses the linguistic applications lexical devices and personal experiences along with their embodied mechanisms revealing the linguistic strategies embodied cognitive linguistic actions and constructive thoughts used in media discourses on product promotion human resources deployment and commodity problem resolution In turn this sheds light on how linguistic selections and cognitive mechanisms are used in composing media news and on how public cognition on certain social and business issues might be framed The combination of cognitive semantics and commercial discourse analysis offers comprehensive and rewarding insights into the cross cultural research of both cognitive actions and linguistic behavior reflected in news reports and highlights the correlation between the use of wording and cognitive construction in discourses which broadens the scope of discourse analysis cognitive linguistics applied linguistics and sociolinguistics Further the use of analytical measures and the effective integration of discourse analysis and cognitive semantics lend the book additional analytical authenticity providing an empirical foundation for cross cultural communication studies

A Comparative Analysis of Political and Media Discourses about Russia's Invasion of Ukraine Anton Oleinik, 2024-03-19 This book explores the discursive dimension of Russia's invasion of Ukraine It analyzes how political leaders mass media social media and ordinary people in Ukraine Russia the United States the United Kingdom and France discuss the war War propaganda and counterpropaganda structure discourses about the invasion strengthening post truth conditions The book highlights the consequences of the growing distrust in the institutional truth teller mass media Russia's invasion of Ukraine is the first social media war Social media became the principal source of information about the invasion The rise of digital media did not change the tendency of the discourses about war to be territorially segregated according to national boundaries Nationalization of discourses about war continues to prevail over their globalization The corpora containing more than 180 million words in four languages inform the analysis The data was collected during the first year and a half of Russia's full scale war in Ukraine

New Media Discourses, Culture and Politics after the Arab Spring Eid Mohamed, Aziz Douai, 2021-12-16 This book investigates the interplay between media politics religion and culture in shaping Arabs quest for more stable and democratic governance models in the aftermath of the Arab Spring uprisings It focuses on online mediated public debates specifically user comments on online Arab news sites and their potential to re engage citizens in politics Contributors systematically explore and critique these online communities and spaces in the context of the Arab uprisings with case studies largely centered on Egypt covering micro bloggers Islamic discourse online Libyan nationalism on Facebook and a computational assessment of online engagement among other topics      Health Crises and Media

Political, Public and Media Discourses from Indyref to Brexit Fiona M. Douglas,2021-04-22 This book focuses on the language of two unions the United Kingdom and the European Union tracing the emergence of divisive discourses from indyref to Brexit It explains the background to the creation of these unions and summarizes recent political events that have brought their future into question It considers which identities national supranational social ethnic or racial were invoked during the indyref and EU referendum campaigns emphasising the crucial role played by language in maintaining these identities in conceptualizing the nation to do politics and its power to unite or divide Based on analysis of three specialist corpora totaling over 143 million words and comprising multiple text types newspapers speeches Twitter posts parliamentary debates party political websites and campaign materials it interrogates the language used by politicians the media and the public uncovering increasingly problematic scaremongering xenophobic and incendiary linguistic strategies used to divide us from them      Educational, Linguistic, and Media Discourses Roma Kriaučiūnienė,2020-08-27 This book presents a collection of research papers from both experienced and emerging scholars some of whom presented their work at the international conference Language Teaching and Learning in the 21st Century Linguistic Educational and Intercultural Aspects held in June 2018 and organised by the Institute of Foreign Languages of the Faculty of Philology of Vilnius University the FIPLV Nordic Baltic Region and the Language Teachers Association of Lithuania The book consists of three parts the first being devoted to language teaching and teacher education The second section explores literary and cultural issues while the third part encompasses linguistic and media discourse studies      Media, Culture, and Mediality Ludwig Jäger,Erika

Linz,Irmela Schneider,2014-03-15 Current culturally oriented media studies have significantly advanced central concepts such like mediality media culture media discourse and procedures of media Focused on this newly defined terminological field this volume presents landmark contributions for media studies providing new insights into the current state of research on media theory and media culture simultaneously developing an agenda for future research

Media and Masculinities in Contemporary Russia Olga Andreevskikh, 2023-12-01 Based on extensive original research this book examines the extent to which media in Russia upholds the Russian government's stance on sexuality. It considers the Russian government's policies designed to uphold traditional sexuality, reveals the strategies of resistance used by Russian media outlets to create positive portrayals of non-heteronormative people and circumvent the restrictive 2013 legislation banning positive representations of non-traditional sexual relations and highlights particular examples of subversive media practices. Overall, the book challenges the prevailing view that media in authoritarian regimes are completely compliant with their government's position.

Media Research on Climate Change Ulrika Olausson, Peter Berglez, 2018-04-19 Research on media coverage of climate change as a particular subfield of environmental communication research has proliferated over the past decade. This book sets out to consider what conclusions can be drawn in light of the existing body of work, what lessons can be learnt, what are the challenges to be met and what are the directions to be taken in order to further develop media research on climate change. The mixture of articles in this volume serve well to illustrate the range of empirical, theoretical and methodological approaches subsumed under the broad heading of media studies on climate change. Some contributions focus on the past, how the subfield has developed and what we can learn from that, and some look toward the future. Either way, all the authors share the ambition to suggest important avenues of research, be they centered on media context, applicability of results or theoretical advancement. As such, they make a valuable contribution to identifying important directions for future research on the role of the media in communicating climate change. This book was previously published as a special issue of Environmental Communication.

Poor News Steven Harkins, Jairo Lugo-Ocando, 2017-11-15 Poor News examines the way discourses of poverty are articulated in the news media by incorporating specific narratives and definers that bring about certain ideological worldviews. This happens, the authors claim, because journalists and news editors make use of a set of information strategies while accessing certain sources within specific social and political dynamics. The book looks at the case of the news media in Britain since the industrial revolution and produces a historical account of how these media discourses came into play. The main thesis is that there have been different historical cycles that reflect particular hegemonic ideas of each period. Consequently, the role of mainstream journalism has been a subservient one for existing elites when it comes to the propagation of dominant ideas.

Media Discourse Norman Fairclough, 1995 The study of media language is increasingly important both for media studies and for discourse analysis and sociolinguistics. Norman Fairclough applies to media language his critical discourse analysis framework, which he developed in Language and Power and Discourse and Social Life. Drawing on examples from TV, radio and the press, he focuses on changing practices of media discourse in relation to wider processes of social and cultural change. In particular, he explores the tensions between public and private in the media and the tensions between information and entertainment.
